ALBERT STUMP WILL BE HERE

Decatur on Lumberlost Day, September 11th.

You do well to treasure the spirit breathed in the books written on the banks of the Lumberlost. I remember how clear and refreshing were the draughts poured from the fountain of her inspiration and hope that that ennobling love of nature from which her inspiration came may continue to be made contagious through the ever widening acquaintance of a public with her work.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT STUMP.

Jeannette Porter Meehan, Brentwood Heights, California Box 1521.

Secretary Old Home Week, Decatur, Indiana.

Dear Mr. Quinn:
If we are East in September we will surely come to Decatur on the "eleventh." Thanks for remembering us.

Kindest regards.

JEANNETTE MEEHAN

Girl Kills Self Rather Than Submit To Arrest

Bloomington, Ind., August 18.—(U.P.)—Edna Brown, 23, was dead here today from poisoning. Death, rather than submit to an arrest for petit larceny was believed the motive.

According to police, a warrant was made out against the woman by Frank Lord, a laborer, who charged her with taking $65.

The young woman was sitting on a porch and when she saw an officer approaching she broke into a run and drank the poison before she stopped.

Named for Royalty

Prince Edward Island was long called St. John's Island, but was given its present name in 1793 in compliment to Prince Edward, duke of Kent, who paid it a visit. The prince was the fourth son of King George III and the father of Queen Victoria.

Alligator, 40 Inches Long

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 18.—(U.P.)—Bedford may have its 500 pound water monster, Seymour may boast of its 25-foot snake but it remained for Bert Gooch, Indianapolis, to display the evidence of a monster that he encountered while hunting near here on White river. Gooch reported that while canoeing, a monster rose from the water and for a time threatened to overturn his boat. "I shot the thing," Gooch said, "and watched it swim to the opposite shore where it apparently was dying. Upon investigation, I found an alligator about 40 inches long with test as long as A full grown house cat."
