

BLAMES KLAN FOR MAKING CHARGES

L. U. Professor Brands Charges Made Against Him At Auburn As False

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 1.—(INS)—The hand of the Ku Klux Klan was seen here today by Professor E. M. Linton of the political science department of Indiana University, in charges broadcast against him at Auburn, Indiana, where he had addressed a Teachers Institute, that he had called the framers of the American Constitution "heavy drinkers" and that he had approved the practice of communism.

"I have always fought the Ku Klux Klan and I strongly suspect that I have this organization to thank for these unfounded charges against me," professor Linton said.

Following Linton's departure from Auburn, Judge William P. Endicott of DeKalb circuit court there issued a statement in which he said that "The people of this state had better stay away from Indiana University if such teachings as contained in the professor's address are advanced there."

"Somebody, and I suspect it was some klanman for I hit the klan hard at Auburn, carried a carbine and incomplete account of my address to Judge Endicott," Professor Linton said.

ALL OVER INDIANA

SUNMAN—A new $50,000 consolidated high school building will be put to use here Sept. 10 at the opening of the school term. Dedication services were held with 2,000 persons attending.

MONTICELLO—W. L. S. Chicago broadcasting station, has offered its services in making a success of the state farmer's picnic that will be held in Monticello Saturday Sept. 22. Announcements and news of the picnic will be given radio publicity.

TERRE HAUTE—Water with dash and spray will fly on the historic Wabash Labor Day, when the Paul Dresser Regatta will be staged for drivers of motor boats. The course will be one mile up and one mile down stream, with cash prizes.

SEYMOUR—Edgar Stahl, son of John Stahl, living near Wegan, recently killed a rattlesnake four feet in length with ten rattles and one button. The snake was killed in the hills near Wegan, where young Stahl had gone on a hunting trip.

PERU—Harry C. Cook, West Main street barber, is credited with having shot one of the largest horned owls seen around here for several years. It had a wing spread of fifty-five inches.

RICHMOND—C. Frances Jenkins, Washington, D. C., formerly of Richmond and who is here visiting relatives, predicts that 100,000 homes will be equipped with radio motion picture machines by Christmas. Jenkins is the inventor of the motion picture projecting machine.

PORLTAND—Bodies of nine men, veterans of the war of 1812 and the Civil war, will probably be moved from an abandoned cemetery near a factory here, through efforts of the Daughters of Union Veterans. Two of the war of 1812 soldiers are Michael and Joseph Shanks, brothers of General J. P. C. Shanks of Portland, who served in the Civil war. The old cemetery is said to be in bad condition.

PRINCETON—Arrested three times in two days on theft charges, then rearrested after escaping from an officer, William Vito, 11, is under sentence to the state boy's school to remain until he is 21. The boy's loot included: pipes, melons, bread, bacon, cheese and candy.

INDIANAPOLIS—Members of the famous Indiana persimmon brigade, composed of the 115th, 116th, 117th and 118th Indiana volunteers in the civil war were to meet in their forty-fifth annual reunion here September fifth. Cut off from their base of supplies in the fall of 1863, the four brigades subsisted for a time on what could be found, including persimmons.

Airplane Wheel Found Not Off Rockford Plane

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 1.—(INS)—Doubt was cast here today by officials of the Rockford airport that the wheel of an airplane found on the coast of Iceland and reported in dispatches from London today was part of the plane greater Rockford in which Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer set out from Rockford to fly to Sweden.

Rockford officials said the plane was equipped with Goodyear Silver-tire whereas the tire on the wheel found was of a Pladon cord.

Furniture Factories To Make Indiana Prosperous

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 1.—(INS)—Prosperous days are in store for Indiana, William H. Wilson, vice-president of the American Furniture Mart of Chicago told the Richmond Rotary club at its weekly meeting here this week.

"Prosperity is sure to come in Indiana because Indiana is a great furniture state," Wilson said. "In fact furniture trade winds have start-

Trans-Continental Husband-Hunting Auto Tour Being Planned

Washington, Sept. 1.—(UPI)—Mrs. Helen Davis, 32 today brought four congenial women mates to join her in a trans-continental husband-hunting expedition.

She proposes that the five start out in her sedan, stop wherever Cupid beckons, and drop out, one by one, if the mythic God insists. Those who are left will pursue the quest in Los Angeles.

Miss Davis inserted a want ad in newspapers here, calling for the four companions and specifying that each must have $200 for expenses.

Folks Leave Nighties Behind In Pullmans, Train Records Show

(By International News Service) Wichita, Kansas, Sept. 1.—Nighties, frilly, lacy delicately tinted ones or long sleeved, gathered at the yoke, outsize flannel ones, regardless of their alluring cost are one item of clothing mostly frequently left in Pullman cars when the train comes to a jolty halt, according to the records of lost and found articles kept by C. W. Gardner, union station agent here.

"It's their nighties they don't seem to care about," says Mr. Gardner. "Just gather them up by the dozens, sometimes separately and sometimes just bunch them up with the laundry to be sent out. We find many more in the winter than summer. I guess people need what few clothes they carry when they travel in summer time and it's no problem to tuck a little necessity into a handbag when they are so thin."

To Bar Automobile Parking On Circle At State Capital

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—(INS)—Automobile parking on the famous Monument Circle here will be thing of the past in about ten days.
