INJURED FLIERS ARE SUFFERING FROM EXPOSURE

were found by Ed Wiest, tenant of the farm on which the plane landed.

Flare Dropped Too Soon
Aviators who investigated the crash today, said the flare dropped by Capt. Morris in an effort to locate a landing spot when the oil line on his plane broke, was tossed overboard too soon after it was lighted, and as a result it failed to burn up and illuminate the field.

Thousands of persons visited the scene of the accident Thursday. Souvenir hunters gathered up pieces of the fuselage, framework and other parts of the plane until little was left. Representatives of the owners of the plane were here today, trying to locate the valuable instruments taken from the instrument board, and other parts of the plane. The motor and propeller were taken to Geneva yesterday and locked in the town jail for safe keeping. It is a criminal offense to take parts of the plane and the owners request that the parts be returned to them at once.

WIND STORMS TAKE BIG TOLL

parts of the United States and the West Indies today from hurricanes and cyclones.

A tropical hurricane, which swept up from near the Virgin Islands, spread ruin in the vicinity of San Domingo and Haiti, the latter just recovering from a devastating storm that killed hundreds and made 100,000 homeless a little more than a month ago.

The new tropical threat was compared in intensity with the Florida hurricane of 1926. The winds roared at more than 130 miles an hour. Ships were reported damaged and buildings unroofed.

Thirteen persons were known dead in two distinct tornadoes that struck three mid-western states—Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa—last night. Scores were reported injured and property damage was great, although only the most meager reports are available owing to the paralyzed communication lines.

Seven were known dead in Nebraska and six in South Dakota. There was considerable property damage in Iowa. Parts of Sioux City were damaged by a torrential rain that accompanied the winds.

RECORD CROWD IN CITY LAST NIGHT

the floats and members of the various organizations passed in review.

Eight beautiful floats were entered in the parade. Headed by Judge Jesse C. Sutton and L. C. Heim, field marshals, and Earl Hollingsworth, riding a spirited steed, the American Legion drum corps of 25 pieces followed in line and struck up national airs. The American Legion posts from Fort Wayne, Bluffton, Ossian and Decatur, were next in line. Then came the Boy Scouts, who have been giving such fine service this week. The W. C. T. U. float, followed by members of the local chapter, dressed in white, then the spicy and flashy Shrine band of Fort Wayne, the Mizpah patrol of Fort Wayne, all dressed in their beautiful uniforms. The Red Cross float, with Mrs. Charles Holthouser and Mrs. Oscar Lankenau, representing Red Cross nurses, came next. Mr. and Mrs. Will Bowers, riding horses, were next in line, then came the Pythian Sisters, the Knights of Pythias, the Moose float, the Moose lodge members from Fort Wayne, the Decatur Moose members and the Decatur General Electric band, the men wearing their beautiful caped uniforms.

The members of the Knights of Columbus followed the G. E. band, then came members of the Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus dressed in formal evening clothes, followed by the Rotary Club float, an automobile carrying distinguished members, including Arthur Sapp, Huntington, immediate past president of Rotary International and Will Barr, Bluffton, past district governor of Indiana Rotary Clubs, followed by local Rotarians.

The big float of the Decatur Lions Club came next. This float was one of the most attractive in the parade. A large lion stood guard, with Miss Margaret Kern standing alongside of the statue. The Lions followed in procession. Next came the Inter Sorority float, representing the House of Charity and the three sororities, the Psi Iota Xi, the Tri Kappas, and the Delta Theta Tau.

The float of A. R. Ashbaucher came last.

The parade moved fast and was one of the big features of the Old Home Week celebration.

The Shrine band gave a concert following the parade. The G. E. band also played during the evening and the crowd milled up and down the midway and about town until midnight.

No accidents or cases of disorderly conduct were reported during the evening. Saph Melchi, chief of police, stated today.

Mrs. M. Kidd, wife of Coach Max Kidd, of the Decatur high school, joined her husband in this city, yesterday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd will reside in the Jack Brunton residence on Fourth street.
