Social Status Of Sweater Is Unchallenged

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(U.P.)—The sweater, once considered primarily as a utilitarian garment, has gradually achieved a decorative importance not only in the strictly sports costume, but in that more formal field now covered by the sports mode, street and country clothes. The form of the sweater is limited to two definite lines—the cardigan and the slip-on—so that it must necessarily be in its texture, color and design that its value to the costume lies.

New sweaters this season have attained a texture as soft and delicate as much more luxurious fabrics. The lace stitch is particularly in demand for more formal costumes. This is done in all-over effect, or in lace motifs, and sometimes accents the color of the ensemble or several harmonizing colors with the tone of the fabric as a base. Two or three-color schemes are also carried out by the accompanying sweater.

Geometric or modernistic designs had such popularity in the early part of the season that the style expert may with wisdom be somewhat skeptical about their continued style vogue. They are, however, to be seen in the most exclusive collections in both large and small effects. With ensembles of monotone coloring a sweater that has a dashing modernistic design is good, but with mixed fabrics more discreet expressions are usually seen.

Stripes and polka dots continue their popular way, and are favored either in very small size, in broad splashes or in graduating effect. Stripes are still used to bring out shaded effects in one, two or more colors. They are frequently set round the figure, though the diagonal line of stripe is first in importance at the moment. The irregular stripe gives that touch of modernity which is necessary to the sweater design and one-sided designs have not as yet lost their position.

From all over the country reports come in of the demand for the sweater and separate matching skirt to create the sports costume. In both exclusive and popular circles this type of dress has an impressive effect. Skirts are made of varying fabrics. Lightweight woolens are, however, smarter than silk for this purpose.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church will hold an all-day bake sale Saturday, at the Central Electric store. Baked goods of all kinds may be procured. Mrs. Otis Poling and Mrs. Jennie August form the committee which is in charge of the sale.

ENTERTAINS
N. AND T. CLUB
The N. and T. Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Christon, on North Fifth street. During the business session plans were made for the ladies to entertain their husbands at a Thanksgiving dinner, the date to be decided upon later. After the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. The personnel of the club consists of the Mesdames Maurice Forman, Merrill Schmitz, Glen Barkley, Charles Mallon, Wilford Ray, Gregg McFarland, Ralph Roop, Robert Garard and Fred Christon.

Mrs. Arnold Gerberding will be hostess to the Bridge Club, Wednesday evening at eight-thirty o'clock.

SOCIETY
SHAKESPEARE CLUB
STUDIES BOLIVIA
The Shakespeare Club was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison at her home, 418 West Jefferson street. Miss Rose Christen had charge of the study program for the afternoon and read a most interesting paper on the subject of "Bolivia". The subject was divided in two parts, (a) La Paz; and (b) Bolivia Desert. Miss Christen used a map in pointing out the various locations and points of interest mentioned throughout her program. Sub-topics were given by Mrs. Harry Fernhill, Mrs. F. E. France, Mrs. W. A. Lower, Mrs. Doris Erwin, Mrs. Harry Moltz and Mrs. Earl Adams. The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. F. E. France and Mrs. S. D. Beavers will have charge of the study program.

The meeting of the Everett class of the First Methodist Sunday school will be held Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. John Tyndall, corner of Fourth and Monroe, with Mrs. Dan Tyndall as entertaining hostess. All members are urged to bring their money for the cottage share as this must be settled at once. They are also reminded to bring their plate and cup if they have not already done so.

SENIOR C. E.
The members of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Zion Reformed church enjoyed a very lovely Halloween party at the church parsonage, Wednesday evening. Twenty-five young people arrived at the house, which was beautifully decorated in Halloween appointments. Miss Mill-at her home on North Fifth street. The guests were requested to send their masquerade costume to the Chase home ahead of time. When all the guests arrived last evening, they were sent over to the Peter Anspaugh home nearby, where they found a dark room full of costumes, all of which were mixed up in every conceivable manner. The ladies were all sent in the dark room and told to dress and return to the Chase home. The result of the mixed-up costumes, a hat on this, a scarf of that, gotten on in every conceivable manner, formed a most grotesque finished picture, to say nothing of the scramble involved in getting various parts of a costume to put on. When all had returned in costume to the Chase home, the guessing of identities was enjoyed. In several contests, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Floyd Enos, Mrs. Albert Beery, and Mrs. Alva Lawson. The guests were invited to the dining room at the close of the evening's merriment, where they were seated at a large table, the decorations of which harmonized with the Halloween decorations of the home. The hostess served a two-course luncheon of Halloween appointments. The next meeting of the club will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Harry Magner at her home in Fort Wayne.

READS PAPER ON EARLY RELIGION

"The History of Religion" was the topic of a most instructive and interesting paper read, Wednesday afternoon, by Mrs. J. M. Miller before the members of the Historical Club, to which Mrs. S. E. Hite was hostess at her home on South Third street. The paper dated back to the time of Moses and covered the progress of religion to the present day. It told of the ministry of Paul, of Martin Luther, and various ministers of modern time. Nineteen members were in attendance during the afternoon. At the close of the program, a social hour was enjoyed, and the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bruce Butler and Mrs. S. E. Shamp served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be held next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Dave Campbell, and Mrs. Charles Langston will read a paper on the subject, "Our Friend, the Dog".

CLEVER PARTY

PORTFOLIOS SENT ABROAD

The Junior Red Cross of Adams county continues its "Service Work" in international school correspondence, by sending a number of portfolios to foreign schools. The sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the St. Joseph Catholic school have already sent four portfolios to their little friends overseas. One of the portfolios, which consisted of mounted flowers and leaves, and a geography project, was sent to Italy; a second, "Leaves of Trees", and "Our Common Butterflies" will go to Japan. A portfolio from the Riley building, Decatur, on "Art and busy work" was sent to Japan; Pleasant Mills high school sent one to Italy; Bobo schools to the Netherlands; and Geneva to Roumania. These portfolios are a part of the Junior Red Cross program of each school, every year.

National Red Cross headquarters suggests that each school enrolled should have at least three exchanges with a foreign country during the school year; one of these exchanges may be a Christmas or New Year's letter, which must be addressed to the school and country of their choice and then handed to Mrs. Bryce Thomas, of Decatur, secretary of Adams County Junior Red Cross, not later than November 16.

The Hartford township high school will exchange with an Indian tribe of this country. Any school enrolled in the Junior Red Cross can establish correspondence with an Indian tribe by notifying the secretary.

while Walter Conrad was judged the most comical in appearance. Mrs. Susie Reppert was prize winner in a contest, and many other games furnished entertainment during the evening, after which refreshments of doughnuts, cider, cookies and candy were served. Those enjoying the party were the Misses Selma Peters, Edna Borne, Elsie Kruetzmann, Amanda Fruechte, Edna Worthmann, Emma Bloemker, Magdalene Borne, Esther Reppert, Irene Bloemker, Lisetta Worthmann, Martha Conrad, Irene Peck, and the Messrs. Walter Hildebrand, Glen Girod, Elmer Peters, Walter Peck, Walter Conrad, Milton Kruetzmann, Alton Worthmann, Harold Johnson, Lawrence Beihold, Paul Reppert, Bob Stepler, Jacob Borne, Walter Fruechte, Noah Borne, Walter Hildebrand, and Rev. and Mrs. Grehner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kruetzmann, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reppert, and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Conrad. The committee in charge of the party was the Misses Lisetta Worthmann, Irene Peck and Martha Conrad.

The Beta Sigma Alpha fraternity, the membership of which comprises older Boy Scouts and Scout leaders, will give a dance on Friday evening, November 30. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Clarence Beavers, Carroll Cole, Don Farr, Tom Haubold and Luzerne Ulrich.
