

SPORTS

RIVALS WILL PLAY SATURDAY

Probable Starting Lineups	Northwestern
Indiana	LE Baker
Weaver	LT Sinkler
Unger	LG Anderson
Swihart	C Erickson
Ringwalt	RG Sullivan
Matthew	RT Hazen
Jasper	RE Berdell
Catterton	QB Levison
Brubaker	LB Bruder
Balay	RHB Calderwood
Bennett	FB Holmer
Hughes
Officials:	Referee, Walter Eckersall, Chicago; Umpire, J. J. Schommer, Chicago; Field Judge, G. E. Eldridge, Michigan; Head Linesman, F. H. Young, Illinois Wesleyan.
Game starts at 2 o'clock. Broadcast over WFBM, Indianapolis.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 16.—Two Big Ten football teams, Indiana and Northwestern, topped off a week of heavy drill here this afternoon in preparation for the game tomorrow in Memorial Stadium. Coaches Dick Hanley, Northwestern, and Pat Pages, Indiana, sent their squads through a light signal drill and workout in Memorial Stadium.

Both mentors were unable to give a definite starting line-up. Hanley probably will start Baker, a sophomore, and Verdell at ends. Sinkler and Hazen at tackles appear sure starters, with Anderson and Sullivan outstanding choices at guard. "Mickey" Erickson, Hanley's new center, is unquestioned for the pivot position. In the backfield the matter is a little more complicated. Hanley uses both "Yatz" Levison and Lee Hanley at quarterback, and Griffin, Calderwood, Bruder, and Haas at halfbacks. Capt. Holmer, triple threat fullback and the punch of the Purple attack, is another sure starter.

Weaver and Catterton probably will start at ends for Indiana, with Unger at one of the tackle berths. Jasper appears a favorite for the other side, although Moss may start. Shields, a regular, is handicapped with a knee injury. Swihart will start at one guard position, and Matthew at the other, if the latter is in condition. Briner may replace Matthew, and Hojnacki may start for Swihart. The sensational play of Brubaker, recruit quarterback, against Minnesota, has continued in daily workouts and he appears certain of the signal calling position. Bennett is in condition, and will start as one of the halfbacks. The other halfback berth is uncertain. Balay may be used here, with Hughes as fullback. Page might shift Balay back to fullback, where he played last fall, with Ross of Faunce working at the halfback berth.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

De Pauw Is Ready For Grid Clash With Muncie

Greencastle, Ind., Nov. 16.—With prospects of one of the stiffest games on the home schedule, the DePauw Tigers will clash with Muncie Normal Saturday afternoon on Blackstock field.

The annual Wabash tilt the following week-end adds a further importance to the Muncie game as Coach Hughes will guard against any injuries to his regular squad by keeping his first string players on the bench the greater part of the fracas. It is probable that several new players which Hughes has developed for the Cave men will be tried out in the Normal tilt.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special

KANGAROOS TO MEET COMETS

Adams county net fans have a real treat in store for them Saturday night when the Kirkland high school Kangaroos clash with the Fort Wayne Comets, a quintet of colored basketball players, at the Kirkland gymnasium, at 8:15 o'clock.

The visiting Comets are all high school students, who have formed an independent net team. All the players are colored, and those who have seen the visitors in action say they are real net arists.

Coach Bill Bryan has sent his Kangaroos through some hard practices this week in preparation for the Saturday game, and the Kirkland fans are hoping to start the season with a win.

The preliminary game which will start at 7:15 o'clock will be staged between the Kirkland second and third teams. Coach Bryan and Principal Foley announced today that they would have their new schedule for the first semester ready for publication soon.

The Kangaroos are playing some real basketball this season, and the Saturday night game will be one of the feature games.

Greencastle, Ind., Nov. 16.—With prospects of one of the stiffest games on the home schedule, the DePauw Tigers will clash with Muncie Normal Saturday afternoon on Blackstock field.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.

Lack of reserve line material appears to be the weakest point in sizing up the Tigers. Substitute linemen have received the bulk of Coach Oberst's attention in the evening sessions and it is probable that a reserve line will see action Saturday.

Although the starting line-up will not be announced until immediately before the game, the following players will probably line up for the kick-off Kappeler and Johnson ends; Firebaugh and Neirgarth, tackles; Bray and Beem guards; Howell, center; Van Riper, quarterback; Brandenburg and Crawley, halves; and Blake, fullback.

New York.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, will meet Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the right to meet Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a title bout in February. Gans rules a 7 to 5 favorite in the betting.

Northwestern's 125 piece marching band, accompanied by 500 students and fans from the Evanston school, are expected to arrive in Bloomington early Saturday morning. A special train will bring the crowd here.

Saturday will be Dad's Day at Indiana, and several hundred fathers are expected to attend the contest. The game also has been designated as "Public School Day," and grade and high school students are to be admitted on a special rate of 50 cents. They will occupy a special section on the north side of the stadium.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Scrappin' Hoosiers in Memorial Stadium this season. Bennett, Briner, Matthew, Moss, Butts, Weaver, and Baker will play their last games before a home crowd, while Randolph, slated for all-conference honors, and Harrel, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten, will witness the game from the sidelines. This will be their last chance to play in Memorial Stadium.

Realizing that there is still a chance to finish higher in the conference standing, Page's players have worked diligently during the past week correcting faults which were brought to light in the Minnesota game, and hope to give Northwestern a real battle.

DePauw's two backfields, used interchangeably in scrimmage, proved equally effective in gaining ground against the yearlings in practice this week. Scott in one backfield and Blake and Van Riper in the other looked especially good with their accurate passing.