Wool Ensemble Duplicates Color and Design

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(U.P.)—Combinations of woollens for coat and dress fabrics styled to match in variant weights were tentatively introduced for the fall season by British tweed makers. For spring, the these has met with such satisfying response that this fashion world is giving a good measure of attention to this working out of matching weight variants in which there will also be variety of type. This effort promises to be exploited in early promotion of spring woollens as well as in sportswear for southern wear and for spring.

Sheer wool crepes are as important as tweeds when employed in this manner. French designers particularly favor the combination of matching crepes, and the delicate, monochrome wool georgettes woven in novelty treatments are coupled with exactly matching crepes just enough heavier to effect contrast. These light woollens are undoubtedly scheduled for more success in the spring than they have had since their introduction.

There are rough-surfaced crepe woven with a combination of light and heavier crepe yarns in the same tone. They may be either very sheer and light or quite heavy and very soft, and it is the alliance of these two extremes which achieves the combination set. There will be many who prefer to match the heavy crepe with a light one in different tone or even color, so that the question of color combinations must be seriously considered as they affect new versions of the ensemble. A beige coating crepe is suitable to accompany a frock of turquoise blue or maize light crepe, gray over lavender, etc. Such color studies are in key with the approved feminine trend which is turning to delicate colors for next season. In any event, the selection is large, for each of these variant weights has its imposing array of pastel and deeper colorings.

Some of the most effective of these sets are found in tweeds, and here the possibilities of contrast are very interesting. For instance, when a fine wool yarn is woven in a weave-patterned dress tweed of many colors, the tweed which forms the coat may be woven in exactly the same patterns, and exactly the same shades, yet the heavier yarns which are chosen to construct it will suggest a larger design and bolder colorings.

One of the newest ways of introducing contrast, while yet matching the two cloths, is found in a group of exclusive Scotch tweeds. The coating is a wide diagonal alternating beige and maize. The dress cloth is a twill weave which follows the beige-maize division, but also introduces a slender horizontal thread of brown, broken to suggest a check. The two cloths are so closely allied that they would at once impress as having been styled to be cut in a single costume, but at the same time sufficient diversity is effected to attract from the novelty point of view.

N. AND T. CLUB ENTERTAINS HUSBANDS

The members of the N. and T. Club delightfully entertained their husbands with a delicious fried chicken supper, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roop on Monroe street, last evening. Twenty Club members and eight children enjoyed the meal, during which much merriment was manifested. After the supper several contests were enjoyed, one of which was a feeling contest, in which various articles were covered on a table and the identity of each guessed by feeling. Samples of several cooking articles were placed on small dishes and the contestants were required to taste each one to determine it. This feature was enjoyed with much hilarity until the baking powder was reached. The most fun of the evening was had when the ladies initiated their husbands into a fake club. Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Schmitz and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roop, Mr. and Mrs. Brice Roop and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Foreman and son, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Ray and son, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Barkley, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg McFarland and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fuhrman and child, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chronister and son.

The members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Evangelical church will be entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner, Tuesday evening, in the church basement. The dinner party is being sponsored by the Recreation committee, and promises to be a very enjoyable event. All members are urged to be present.

CLASS ENJOYS THANKSGIVING PROGRAM
The Philathea class of the Baptist Sunday school, met in the church parlors for its meeting Friday evening, with twenty-six members of the organization in attendance. The meeting was opened with Thanksgiving sentence prayers by every one present, followed by the regular business session. A collection amounting to twenty-nine dollars and twenty cents was taken. Plans were made for the next meeting which will be in the form of a Christmas party, next month. The program which was in the charge of Mrs. Ira Bodie was splendidly rendered and much enjoyed. The first feature of it being a Mystery Menu, in which various articles of food were given comical names and the ladies were asked to pick out three articles of food she desired to eat. Much amazement and surprise was manifested when each found what she had chosen. Raymond Bodie played a violin selection, with Mrs. Akey accompanying him on the piano. Mrs. Harve Shroll gave a very interesting talk on What Thanksgiving Means. This was followed by delicious refreshments served by the hostesses, Mrs. Harve Shroll and Mrs. Sam Shamp.

D. Y. B. CLASS ENJOYS MEETING

Mrs. Lucinda Johnson was hostess to the D. Y. B. class of the United Brethren Sunday school, at her home on South Winchester street, Friday evening. After a short business meeting, several contests were enjoyed the first being an advertising contest, in which descriptions were made of the article and the identity of each had to be guessed from it. The prize in this contest was won by Mrs. George Hill. A very amusing time was had in trying to draw a turkey with the left hand, the prize being awarded to Mrs. Hoagland. After the social hour delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Dave Campbell will be hostess to the Young Matron's Club, Tuesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

The Ben Hur Tirzah Club met in the lodge rooms, immediately after the lodge session last evening. The regular routine of business was carried out after which a social hour was enjoyed. No definite program has been planned. Mrs. Nellie Weis and Mrs. Mary Artman, hostesses for the evening served refreshments.

MEMBERS HOLD CLASS MEETING

The Loyal Daughters class of the Christian Sunday school held their regular meeting at the home of Miss Mary Kohls last evening. During the business session the officers for the coming year were elected. During the social hour games were enjoyed and a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Hazel Schultz's home. The following members of the class were present at the meeting: Pauline Marshall, Gertrude Brandyberry, Roselyn Foreman, Mrs. Hazel Schultz, Ruth Elzey, Evelyn Kohls and the hostess, Mary Kohls.

The Five Hundred Club will meet with Mrs. Lawrence Kleinhenz Wednesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

W. F. M. S. PLANS RUMMAGE SALE

Mrs. Delton Passwater was hostess to the members of W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church, Friday afternoon, at which a fine attendance of the organization was in attendance. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Passwater, who outlined the work for the year, and also presented some very good and new ideas to the ladies, which she had learned while attending the district convention. The Mystic Box program was in the charge of Mrs. Lawrence Baker, after which musical numbers were enjoyed by Fern Zimmerman who played a piano selection and a vocal solo by Mrs. R. W. Stokes. During the business session plans were made for the Rummage sale, which will be an event of December 15 and 22, and will be held in the Methodist church basement. Each person who has anything to contribute to the sale will please notify the committee, which consists of Mrs. Leigh Bowen as chairman, and Mrs. J. M. Doane, and Mrs. James Gottschall who will call for the articles. It was also voted that each person or member of the society who opens her home to the meeting should have several assistant hostesses, and plans were made so that each member of the organization would be a hostess sometime during the year. Plans were also made for the Dollar Social which will be an event of the near future. At this meeting each member is asked to bring one dollar which she has earned, with a poem or prose selection telling how she earned the money. One new member Mrs. Freck Hower, was voted into the society. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which a lunch of Thanksgiving appointments was enjoyed.

SURPRISE SHOWER HONORS HELEN MYERS

Complimentary to Miss Helen Myers whose marriage to Mr. Virgil Cox will be an event of next month, her sister, Miss Rowena Myers and Lena McGill entertained at a lovely surprise shower at her home last evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated in a color note of pink and white. Contests were won by Helen Myers and Mrs. Lee Fleming, who in turn presented his gift to the honor guest. A delicious luncheon, carried out in the appointments of pink and white was served by the hostesses. Those enjoying the party were the honor guest, Miss Helen Myers, Myrtle Fuhrman, Florence Fleming June Miller Lena McGill, Ruth Thornton, Rowena Myers, and Virgil Cox, Lauren Miller, Ray Myers, Lee Fleming, Willard Myers and Eugene Myers. and all 198 passengers were sick and the captain signalled for doctors to be sent. The steamer tried eight times to enter the narrow harbor at Boulogne but could not make it. The passengers were taken ashore in boats and sent to hospitals. The storm tore away the steamer's wireless.

Stations received four wireless calls from steamers in distress in the channel today. The deck cargos of several steamers were washed overboard.

The damage to small boats was incalculable. Eleven fishing boats were sunk in Benbridge Harbor, Isle of Wight, and many at other ports. Many yachts and small boats were sunk at Southend and others dashed to pieces against the seawall.

NO TRACE OF BANK BANDITS

The bank also was forced to come in and line up against the wall.

Following the robbery, the two bandits left the bank and got into a green and yellow roadster, where the third bandit was waiting and the three sped south toward Hartford City.

One of the bandits had a bandage on his left cheek and another was masked with a handkerchief over his eyes.

The loss of the bank is covered by insurance. Wells county authorities are working on the case and neighboring county officials are assisting but as yet no authentic clues have been reported.

Among those who motored to South Bend today and witnessed the game between Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame, were John Clark, Harold Kirsch, William Heim, Hugh Holthouse, and Charles Hite.

Personals
