Sent To Mexican Border

Washington, March 18 (UP)—A platoon of United States cavalry has been ordered to Columbus, N. M., from Fort Bliss, Tex., and Brigadier General George Moseley, commanding the first cavalry division at El Paso, has gone there to examine conditions, he informed the war department today.

Moseley said the troop movement was a precautionary measure, the fact that he would be present to take personal charge of the situation on the New Mexican border was interpreted here today to mean that officials expected developments in that vicinity as result of the northward movement of rebel troops reported in Mexico.

Automobile Is Identified

When arrested, Sinniff was driving a car, owned by a Warsaw garage man. Lybarger also identified the car as the one which he had seen in Linn Grove a few days before the robbery supposedly when the men were looking over the town and roads, anticipating the robbery.

Sinniff said that he was driving the garage owner's car because his "was broken down". Sheriff Hollingsworth ordered the Sinniff car brought over here from Warsaw and a search revealed a pair of overalls identified by Lybarger as those worn by Sinniff when he robbed the bank. A total of $15 wrapped in coin papers, also was found in Sinniff's car.

Money Is Identified

The bills taken in by the Coesse filling station operator were identified as being of a federal reserve shipment which went either to Berne or Linn Grove. It is thought that the shipment had been made about the middle of last week and the only way the bills could have been secured was directly from either a Berne bank or the Linn Grove institution. Sinniff denies being either in Berne or Linn Grove, but he does admit being in Whitley county Thursday.

All day yesterday, bank officials from nearby towns and cities visited the Adams county jail to see the alleged bandit. Absolute identification by bank officials has connected Sinniff with at least five robberies.

To File Robbery Charge

Prosecuting Attorney Nathan Nelson questioned Sinniff and announced last night that charges of bank robbery would be preferred at once against Sinniff. Nelson stated that he had a strong case against Sinniff.

Sheriff Hollingsworth and Mr. Huntington started immediately after the capture of Sinniff to locate the man who was with Sinniff on the Linn Grove robbery. The identification given by Lybarger tallies with a close personal friend of Sinniff's and an effort is being made to locate the friend.

Other Arrests Expected

It is thought that Sinniff is the leader of a gang of alleged bandits who

Marked Money Furnishes Clue

The capture of Sinniff, and partial solving of at least five bank robberies reads like a novel. The first tangible clue was secured when two men drove up to a filling station at 12 o'clock Thursday noon at Coesse, in Whitley county. The owner of the filling station, Charles Johnson, noticed that the two men appeared very nervous.

The driver ordered 10 gallons of gasoline and some bologna and crackers.

One of the men paid Johnson with two new one dollar bills, which bore pencil markings indicating the bills were from a federal reserve shipment.

Johnson stated that while he watched the men they acted strange, and as they left he took the license number of the Buick coupe which they were driving. Johnson notified Sheriff Daniel Haynes, of Whitley county, who in turn notified Sheriff Hollingsworth.

License Plates Traced

Hollingsworth immediately got in touch with Mr. Huntington who came to this city early Saturday morning. The license plates were traced down and it was learned that the plates had been issued to Robert Sinniff, Hayes hotel, Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne county officials aided in securing the description of Sinniff and when it tallied exactly with the description given by Lybarger of one of the robbers of the bank, it was decided to locate Sinniff and make an effort to identify him.

It was learned that Sinniff had a room at the Fort Wayne hotel and Huntington and Sheriff Hollingsworth waited for several hours Saturday for Sinniff to come to his room. He did not return and, at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night, Huntington and Hollingsworth were relieved by Junk and Brennan, of Fort Wayne.

Arrested Saturday Night

About 10 o'clock Saturday night, Sinniff came into the hotel lobby and he was immediately arrested by the two Fort Wayne officers. Sheriff Hollingsworth and Huntington were notified and they returned immediately to Fort Wayne.

Lybarger was notified at Linn Grove and he identified Sinniff as one of the bandits before he was removed to this city. Lybarger went into the cell at the Allen county jail and immediately recognized Sinniff as the man who entered the bank first last Thursday morning and told him he wanted some money and then shoved a gun at him.
