Seek To Oust Manager Of Inn At State Park

Spencer, Ind., June 18—(UP)—The state of Indiana is seeking to oust Mrs. Walter Richards, 54, as manager of the Canyon Inn at McCormack's Creek Canyon State park.

It was alleged Mrs. Richards was delinquent in payments of profits from the inn to the state. However, she asserts, the payments have been delayed due to lateness of the season. Agents of the state removed furniture from the inn and had water and electric service stopped as, eighteen guests were being seated for luncheon.

Mrs. Richards found two tables, lit coal oil lamps and carried water from a considerable distance and the luncheon was served. She announces she will refund the hotel at her own expense and continue service despite the state's action.

Mrs. Ed. Whitright and daughter, Gladys, spent the day visiting in Fort Wayne.

Thought His Head Was

Too Small; Blows Out

Brains With Shot-Gun

Chicago, June 18—(UP)—Because he wore a No. 7 hat and believed his head was too small, Benjamin Gisin, 26, blew out his brains and fell across a blazing brush pile he had built as his funeral pyre in a Wisconsin forest, according to a theory advanced here by his father, Henry Gisin.

The elder Gisin, a prosperous former of Mound City, Kas., passed through Chicago enroute to Rhinelander, Wis., to claim what little remained of his son's body. He discounted the suggestion that Benjamin had been killed by gangsters and attributed the tragedy to the youth's weird complex.

"Although he was perfectly normal —almost an athlete in fact, Ben had an idea he was physically deficient," Gisin told interviewers. "He could not drive from his mind the obsession that he was a weakling and that his head was too small. Poor boy:

he wanted to be a journalist, an author and a cartoonist. I'm afraid he studied much too hard."
