DRY ISSUE ROCKS

MAINE POLITICS

he expected to be a candidate to succeed himself in the primaries next June.

Storm clouds gathered on his political horizon a few hours after he had expressed his views. Although he voted against the Jones law, his stand in favor of light wines and beer created consternation.

"The W. C. T. U. will be outspoken against his re-election," declared Althea G. Quimby, president of the Maine W. C. T. U.

"The Maine Christian Civic League, if Senator Gould has been reported correctly, will do its utmost to defeat him if he seeks re-election," Rev. Frederick W. Smith of Waterville, the league's executive secretary, said.

As the Republican state committee never has favored Sentaor Gould, it is not expected to support him if he seeks re-election.
