DECATUR CITIZEN ADOPTS PAJAMAS FOR STREET WEAR

ladies and received many favorable comments.
Mr. Rice, in conversation with curious bystanders, pointed out the obvious advantage of coolness in pajama wear. Besides, there is the possibility of originality in choosing pajamas and the accompanying haberdashery. Mr. Rice is quoted as saying that he wished to put the town on the map as a progressive city. He has opened the campaign of laying away conventionalities in favor of comfort. It is for the progressively minded to follow.
Young man, there is your opportunity.

Fort Wayne Doctor Does It
Fort Wayne, Aug. 2.—(U.P.)—Dr. W. F. Schrader was the first Fort Wayne man to practice a declaration of independence regarding hot weather clothing. He wears pajamas in his office, but admits he does not appear thus clad on the streets.

"I'm not wearing them because it's a fad," the doctor explained. "I have always contended that men's clothes were too uncomfortable for summer wear. Several years ago I was instrumental in doing away with the ruling requiring street car conductors to wear coats while on duty. Why, these men were so heavily clothed that I had to treat three heat prostrations in one night that summer."
"No man can do his best work in intense heat," Dr. Schrader asserted.

Evil Passing for Good

Evil is easy, and its forms are infinite; good is almost unique. But a certain kind of evil is as difficult to find as what is called good; and often on this account this particular kind of evil gets passed off as good. There is needed an extraordinary greatness of soul to attain to it as well as to good.—Pascal.

String on Midshipman

The four-year education of a midshipman at the United States Naval academy represents an investment of approximately $20,000. In order that the government will receive some return for its money, a midshipman is required to serve at least two years on graduation before being eligible for resignation.

The essential of home life is not luxury, wealth, self-indulgence, or the lack of discipline. It is the presence or the absence of love upon which the true home depends.—Dean of Westminster.

Age Does Not Give Value

The fact that a violin is old does not necessarily mean that from an intrinsic standpoint, it is more valuable than a newer one. Some of the recently made violins have such exquisite tone that they can scarcely be identified when compared with the work of the old violin makers.

Air Conquerors Call It a Day

This telephoto from St. Louis, Mo., shows the new endurance champions of the air, Dale "Red" Jackson, left, and Forrest O'Brine, who descended at St. Louis airport after their 18th day of continuous flying, with a total of over 420 flying hours, or 150 hours more than the existing world's endurance record. If special orders hadn't come from the sponsors of the flight, who became a little panicky since a recent endurance crash, the boys would undoubtedly have remained aloft until they had accomplished their goal of 500 hours.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

Duane Hennessy
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Hollywood, Aug. 2.—(U.P.)—After completion of "Taming of the Shrew," in which Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks will be seen as co-stars for the first time, the two players plan to return to individual starring vehicles.
Miss Pickford's next picture will be an all-talking version of a famous stage play, the script for which is being prepared, and Fairbanks next probably will be based on a well known novel, the rights to which he already owns.
The two stars plan to go to New York after "Taming of the Shrew" has been edited and sail from there for a brief visit in Europe.
Meanwhile, the picture is nearing completion rapidly and filming should be finished early this month.
The movie public long has wanted to see the famous pair in a picture together and after many delays the desire is about to be fulfilled. However, with the announcement of their future plans, Miss Pickford and Fairbanks have shown that they plan to continue their careers independently after "Taming of the Shrew."

Brilliant colors—purples, crimsons and bright blues—will feature the wardrobe of the well dressed man of 1934, believes Max Ree, art supervisor at Radio Pictures studio.

The judges who are working with Edison, Lindbergh and Ford are George Eastman, Dr. Lewis Perry and Dr. S. W. Stratton.

Practically all the boys had difficulty answering the following question:

"If there is a boy at your school whom you consider to be superior to you in intelligence and character, please write his name and address down here."

"That was a catch question," said Frank Richmond Jr., Virginia. "If you put yourself first, you were honest but conceited. If you named another boy, you were generous, but probably a liar."

One boy said he had gotten around the difficulty by saying he would not presume to question the judgment of those who had selected him as the "More and more men are favoring vivid colors in their clothes," said the Danish artist, who recently selected the costumes for Bebe Daniels' "Rio Rita."

"From the drab neutrals of the twenties, men's fashions have steadily added color until now we are on the way back to that period of fashion when men adorned themselves with just as much color as women."

"By 1934, or in five years, I expect to see every color in the rainbow in man's wardrobe. It will be a pleasant situation, too. For use of color in a woman's wardrobe. The colors influence the individual wearing them induce gaiety, good cheer and restfulness."

Movie producers are discovering that nearly every type of noise around studios can be controlled except that made by street cars signalling for a crossing.

The bells and whistles of street cars and interurbans are another problem. The public must be protected at crossings. In shooting exteriors for a recent picture assistant directors were given a typed schedule of the time cars would pass behind the studio. During the normal shooting day 388 cars passed and repassed, requiring a halt of three minutes for each car. Little worries make big pictures.

LACK OF WORK, AND HEAT ALSO HELD AS CAUSE

The most serious outbreak was at 3:15 in the afternoon. It was in the fighting at this time that Mike Martinez was killed. Three other men were wounded, several by gunfire and were taken to the prison hospital. It was necessary to amputate the leg of one, it was said. One other prisoner received a slight wound, and several were beaten.

Fair Weather Ahead

Washington, Aug. 2.—(U.P.)—Moderately fair weather for the Graf Zeppelin as it nears American shores provided Commander Eckener does not swerve from his course, was forecast by the U. S. weather bureau today. "There is little cloudiness over the ocean except immediately off the Atlantic coast of the United States," the forecast said. "During the next 24 hours light to moderate southwest winds will apparently not be favorable nor very unfavorable unless the zeppelin goes far to the south where winds with large easterly components will prevail."

Foolish Cause of Worry

It is astonishing how many men worry because they do not have to shave every day. They get the notion that this is a sign of nonmasculinity. Of and by itself absence of hair on the face has no significance.
