Buttons Return As A Smart Decoration, If Not A Necessity

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—During the past few weeks there have been many smart outdoor events adjacent to New York to which the smart set have flocked in clothes that bore all the earmarks of the new era.

One sees everywhere a readiness to mete the new mode half way at least and to welcome the raised waistline and lengthened skirt.

There is a tacit agreement to try out the new line, not to discard it as unwelcome or unwearable. The result of this urge on the part of exclusives to establish a new standard of dress, makes for more than the usual fashion interest.

Because of all this the lengthened skirt—lengthened to from four to six inches below the knee—and the molded line to say nothing of the normal waist, have ceased to be curiosities and have been accepted, which is to say approved.

One finds bright tweeds, sheer woolsens, short coats and a host of things about which the cables have hummed, in our very midst. Interesting button treatments, glass in some cases, and in others novelties, including rhinestones in a double-breasted effect on black velvet, have aroused admiration.

We are threatened with buttons again which may be bad news for husbands, but is something in the nature of a joy to the woman who appreciates how much smart buttons added in the past to smart costumes.

The Phoebe Bible Class of the Reformed Church will have a social party Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ben Schroyer. The assisting hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Tillman Gerber, Mrs. Albert Mutschler, Mrs. Leland Franks, and Mrs. Albert Aeschliman. Thursday night will be guest night and each member is to bring one guest with her. Election of officers will be a feature of the business session. A good attendance is desired.

CELEBRATE WITH BIRTHDAY DINNER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Teeple, residing on route 2, near Monroe, was the scene of a happy affair, when Mr. and Mrs. Teeple celebrated their birthday anniversaries Sunday. In the evening a delicious dinner was served at the large table, the centerpiece of which was a pretty cake, bearing lighted candles. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hook, Francis Kowker, Allen Stoops, Miss Blanche Cottrell, and Albert King of Port Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cottrell of Decatur, Mrs. Lillie Teeple and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Teeple and daughter Caroline. After the dinner, games and all forms of entertainment were presented with many beautiful and useful birthday gifts.

The Womens Missionary Society of the Zion Reformed church will serve a cafeteria supper, next Saturday evening, from 5 to 7 o'clock, in the church basement. The patronage of the public is solicited.

The Zion Lutheran Missionary Society will meet Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, with Mrs. Albert Scheuman.

Mrs. Charles Lose will be hostess to the Five Hundred Club, Wednesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED SATURDAY

At a quiet wedding performed Saturday at the Evangelical Parsonage of Louisville, Kentucky, Miss Corinne Reynolds became the bride of Waldo Eckrote, both of this city. The impressive ceremony was read by the Rev. R. W. Looze of Louisville. The couple were attended by the brother-in-law and sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Braun of this city, who accompanied the couple to Kentucky Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Eckrote will return to this city following a short wedding trip and will be at home to their many friends in this city at their newly built and furnished home on Mercer Avenue. Mrs. Eckrote before her marriage had been employed as a dietitian at the Adams County Memorial Hospital. Mr. Eckrote is employed at the General Electric plant of this city.

MILDRED FISHER HONORED WITH SHOWER

Miss Mildred Fisher of Port Wayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Fisher of this city, was honored recently with a shower party of every pretty detail, given by Miss Betty Watson of 1925 Bayer Avenue, in the Catholic Community Center building. Miss Fisher is a bride-elect of this season. In the early part of the evening the guests formed five tables at hearts, after which prizes were awarded to Misses Marie Reffy, Marie Miller and Jane Rensden. The guests were then seated at one large table which was decorated in a color note of pink and yellow. Pink roses and yellow chrysanthemums formed a beautiful centerpiece,

ENTERTAIN WITH DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Spangler and daughters, Mary Catherine and Rose Marie, entertained at dinner Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Nick Schroer and daughter Rita, of Port Recovery; Mr.

and Mrs. Frank Spangler, and Miss Lucile Tricker of New Corydon; Mrs. Amelia Spangler, Miss Agnes Spangler, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Miller and sons, John and Dick, Victor Kable and Leo Spangler of this city.

LOCAL COUPLE MARRIED SATURDAY

At a simple home wedding performed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stookey, North Ninth street, Miss Velma Stookey became the bride of William D. Drummond. Rev. R. E. Vance read the impressive single ring ceremony. The bride was attended by Mrs. Everett Venis and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stookey. She was becomingly dressed in a lovely blue georgette dress fashioned with a flaring skirt and long tight sleeves. She wore a blue hat to match and black patent leather pumps trimmed with blue kid. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Venis, wore a lovely green ensemble and blonde footwear. Complimentary to the bride and groom Mr. and Mrs. Stookey entertained Sunday with a chicken dinner at 2 o'clock. The guests of the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. William D. Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Venis and son Earl Dudley and daughter Mona Elaine, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Elliot and children Mary and Homer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stookey and children Janita and Fred. About thirty guests attended a party following the dinner. Mrs. Drummond is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stookey and has been employed as a housemaid. Mr. Drummond is the son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Drummond, and is employed by the Mutschler Packing Company of this city. They will reside at the home of the groom's parents at 621 West Adams street.

"MRS. O'LEARY'S COW" CAUSES BIG ARGUMENT

cow, and even if they had, why should the Missus, with her rheumatics, get up at midnight to milk?"

"That cow—" Expostulated Catty. "Spontaneous combustion is my theory," interposed Charles Schoeder, 84. He was seconded by Nicholas Wip and of the same age.

"Well, there's only one way to settle it," Resumed Catty grimly, when the others were finished. "I'm the youngest man here and I'm pretty spry for my age. If we keep on meeting every year pretty soon I'll be the only one left. Then that cow will get the respect that's due her!"

LOCAL SOCIETY ACTS AS HOST TO CONVENTION

Graf Zeppelin Lands In Face Of Bad Storm

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, returning from a day's cruise over Switzerland, made a most difficult landing in a storm here late yesterday. Triple ground crews were unable to hold the craft and disaster was averted only when spectators at the hangar volunteered to help land the Graf.

Murder Trial Dismissed

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—Another chapter in the eventful life of Mrs. Catherine Cassler was closed today with dismissal of murder charges brought against her in connection with the death of Miss Camela Soutar, Chicago roller skater.

Action to nolle prosequere the charges was filed last week and granted in court here. The state admitted it could not prove where Miss Soutar was murdered and that its case against Mrs. Cassler was weak.

Pistol Duel Ends Fatally In Texas

Nacatoches, Tex., Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—The sheriff's office here, which Sunday was the setting for a pistol duel between two officers in which both were killed, today became the scene of a court of inquiry into the deaths. Deputy prohibition agents Louis Chance was visiting with deputy sheriff Claude King, witnesses said, and the men progressed from a discussion over dry law enforcement to a violent quarrel. Both men fired almost simultaneously, it was said.

MORE GUNS ARE FOUND IN PRISON

Canon City, Colo., Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—Two convicts were in solitary confinement at the state penitentiary today following discovery that two more revolvers had been smuggled into the prison, where rioting cost 12 lives and $500,000 damage Thursday and Friday.

Convict Leo W. McGentry, Denver gunman, was locked in solitary yesterday. Charles Davis, La Animas county bandit, previously had been confined after testimony of about 30 convicts had been heard by authorities investigating the riot.

It was believed the two prisoners could shed light on how arms and ammunition were smuggled into the penitentiary, making possible the sanguinary battle between mutineers and an army of national guardsmen, prison guards and citizen volunteers.

The two revolvers were found in a coal pile. Daniels and Jimmy Pardue, his chief accomplice in inciting the mutiny, were coal shovelers, handling the fuel as it came from the convict-worked mines.

Warden F. Eugene Crawford, who thought his only wound was from a shotgun slug which struck his head, discovered he had a bullet imbedded in his chest. It had passed a quarter of an inch below his heart, physicians said.

Doctors probed the bullet yesterday but were unable to recover it. If physically able, Warden Crawford will go to Denver today to attend a meeting of the state board of correction to open bids for a new cell house for which the last state legislature appropriated $158,000.

A statement printed in the Rocky Mountain News, credited to a Denver businessman and ex-convict, said officials of the penitentiary knew of the smuggling of guns into the prison.

The ex-convict is quoted as saying that he would be willing to expose a dope and liquor smuggling ring in the penitentiary if insured protection by the state.

The statement goes so far as to charge that Boon Best, former warden of the penitentiary, was killed because he was attempting to break up the smuggling.

Best died when his automobile, driven by a convict, was struck by a train. The chauffeur deserted the machine on a railroad track.

WHEN BABY TODDLES, PAINT SUFFERS

Modern mothers will be interested in news about special cleaning product that keeps hospitals gleaming

Probably there never will be a way to keep baby hands from getting dirty or to keep that dirt from being transferred to white doors, window-sills and baseboards.

But there's a way now to quickly erase all smudges from painted surfaces. No hard scrubbing. No lye, caustic soda or gritty "pot-and-pan" cleansers. Just the same method used for years by leading hospitals, hotels and public buildings. Just a dash of Wyandot on a damp sponge. A free, effortless rub across the soiled surface. And dirt and grime have disappeared. Certainly nothing ever worked so swiftly or so easily. Nothing was ever so safe for use on sensitive, costly surfaces—or so easy on the hands. The great institutions use Wyandot exclusively because they know it saves them thousands of dollars in repainting and the replacement of porcelain fixtures—and at the same time obtains absolute cleanliness.

Wyandot is ready for you at all grocers. Large can, only 15c. Guaranteed to satisfy, 100%.
