Charges Drunk Police

Took Part In Fight

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 10—(U.P.)—Charge that drunken policemen participated in the Lory mill strike clash at Gastonia, June 7, was made today for the defense of seven union workers on trial for the murder of police chief O. F. Agerholm.

Mrs. Irene Corley, first defense witness, called on the second day of the strikers' testimony, declared that police officers were drunk when they came to union headquarters on the night of the fatal shooting.

The witness denied that Fred Erwin Beal, labor organizer and co-defendant, made any "inflammatory speech" on the night of the shooting. Bud added.

"Policeman Tom Gilbert said he wanted to kill every one of those damned— and he shouted his intentions of doing so."

BRITISH LEADER
DEPARTS FROM

leave of the President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House late yesterday. Later while Miss Ishbel was at the theater witnessing a comedy built around life on a British cruiser, her father was having his last heart to heart talk with a group of high American officials at the home of Secretary of State Stimson. President Hoover, departing from White House custom which makes the president virtually a "social prisoner," dropped in informally at the stag dinner as a mark of personal esteem.

As MacDonald started home opinion was almost universal here that the mission, in creating stronger friendship between England and the United States, had been a personal triumph of first magnitude. Washington, remembering the disaster that befell Woodrow Wilson when he went to Paris on a peace mission, regarded MacDonald's trip as a daring venture of statesmanship.

The departure of the prime minister and his daughter, Miss Ishbel—who was second only to her father in building good-will here—closed one of the most unique international missions in history.

It was the first time a British prime minister ever came to America, the first time Britain has greeted any naval rival except with guns, the first time heads of these two governments ever talked face to face with such frankness, meeting facts pleasant and ugly with equal directness. It was an unconventional diplomatic mission.

The starting point of the discussions was the Kellogg peace pact by which 58 nations pledge themselves to abandon war as an instrument of national policy. Mr. Hoover and the prime minister set out to make that pledge mean what it said so far as Britain and the United States were concerned.

"In view of the security afforded by the peace pact," said the Hoover-MacDonald joint statement, "we have been able to end, we trust forever, all competitive building between ourselves with the risk of war and the waste of public money involved, by agreeing to a parity of fleets, category by category."

"Success at the coming conference will result in a large decrease in the naval equipment of the world, and what is equally important, the reduction of prospective programs of construction which would otherwise produce competitive building to an indefinite amount."

"We hope and believe that the steps we have taken will be warmly welcomed by the people whom we represent as a substantial contribution to the efforts universally made by all nations to gain security for peace—not by military organization—but by peaceful means rooted in public opinion and enforced by assent of justice in the civilized world."

Third Colorado Convict

Placed In Confinement

Canon City, Colo., Oct. 10—(U.P.)—Another convict was in solitary confinement today as the investigation into the mutiny at the Colorado penitentiary continued.

Danny Reardon, Denver, who three years ago attempted to kill a guard, was ordered to solitary when prison authorities connected him with the riot which resulted in 12 deaths and heavy property damage a week ago.

Reardon was the third convict to be isolated. Gov. W. H. Adams announced he would name a citizens' committee of three to conduct another investigation.

The 1,200 convicts labored at cleaning away debris and erection of temporary quarters while state officials hurried through special allotments to care for the expense of rebuilding cell houses destroyed by fire.
