Lads Confess Murder

Milford, Conn., Oct. 12—(UP)—Having confessed to the killing of three-year-old Albert Hiken of Ansonia—one of the most shocking crimes on record here—John and James Mulligan aged 9 and 7, respectively, today faced arraignment as "delinquents."

Under a statute the two county wards cannot be arraigned on a more serious charge. As delinquents they may be sentenced to an indeterminate term in Cheshire reformatory not to exceed 21 years, or may be confined to the state home for feeble-minded.

The brothers, described by deputy Coroner James J. Corrigan as "Moral degenerates," were in the juvenile detention home at New Haven today awaiting a new finding in the case of Corrigan. After investigation of the crime last August, Corrigan had ascribed the attack to a "person or persons unknown."

Favors Creation Of New Power Commission

Washington, Oct. 12—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Wilbur, a member of the Federal power commission, favors creation of a new Federal body to coordinate jurisdiction over all five phases of water's use and control; he told the United Press today.

Wilbur had just returned from Cumberland Falls, in Kentucky, where the Cumberland river power company, an insular subsidiary, seeks to erect a large dam and Hydro-electric plant. Wilbur, with Secretary of War Good and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, other members of the power commission, viewed the site and sounded out public opinion on the project. They found it evenly divided, Wilbur said.

No decision on the Cumberland project will be made until the commission receives opinions from the justice department and General counsel.

Brown of the commission as to that body's power to deny the application because it is contended the dam would destroy the natural beauty of the falls.

Wilbur's conception of an efficient plan of supervising the nation's water resources calls for a Federal body charged with supervision of reclamation, flood control, hydro-electric power generation, navigation, and domestic water supply.

Labor Appears Winner In Australian Election

Sydney, Australia, Oct. 12—(UP)—The government's defeat in today's general election was indicated as probable on the fact of returns tabulated just before midnight.

Mrs. Rebecca Eady left today for Fort Wayne where she will visit over Sunday with Mrs. Harry Kruger.
