Alcohol Long in Use

Alcohol has been known from time immemorial, but it was not until 1808 that its composition was determined. The word "alcohol" is of Arabic origin and literally translated means "powder for painting the eyebrows." It was prepared by the distillation of fermented materials during the Middle Ages. Anhydrous alcohol was first prepared by Lavoisier, a French chemist, in 1794, and its composition was first determined by Solmsme in 1808.

Popular Adage

The adage about the pot calling the kettle black is found in many tongues. A Spanish adaptation is: "Said the jackdaw to the crow: Get away, nigger," while in Italy one hears: "The pan says to the kettle: Get away lest you stain me." "The shovel scoffs at the poker," is the way the French put it. Hindus quote: "The colander said to the needle: Get away, you have a hole in you."

Forestry in Europe

France took up forestry only when the destruction of most of her forests was followed by heavy floods and the washing away of her hill-sides. Need for wood, says the American Tree association, first caused the Germans to think of forestry, for there, where winters are long and severe, fuel wood is almost as necessary as food itself.

World's Forests

Russia has the most extensive forests. Next comes the British empire, third, Brazil, and fourth, the United States, says the American tree association. These countries together have within their borders nearly two-thirds of the forest land of the world. The remaining third is divided among more than fifty nations.

Hard-Boiled

Small Jane was having dinner with her grandparents, and her grandfather was serving her hard-boiled eggs in halves. He had warned her not to drop the yolk. When he fixed the second egg she piped out: "Be careful, grandpa, and don't drop the set out."

British Census

The first complete census of Great Britain was not taken until 1801. Before that time authorities had estimated the English population in 1570 at 4,100,221, in 1570 at 3,773,046. The census of 1801 showed the census of the United Kingdom to be 10,500,954. Since then the census has been taken every ten years.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT OF ESTATE NO. 2638

May Open Ports

Mexico City (UP)—The Secretary of Communications has under consideration a project for opening to international trade the Pacific ports of Arista and San Benito, in the state of Chiapas. Officials of the department are studying the project.

Fresh Air and Warmth

The public health service says that fresh warm air of a proper degree of moisture and free from appreciable draft is now recognized as essential to indoor workers. The old idea that a cold room necessarily contains fresh air and that comfortably warm rooms necessarily contain bad air has been discarded.

Indian Allotments

The oldest Indian reservation is the one at Indian Mills, N. J., established in 1758. Other old ones of considerable size are the Navajo reservation (largest in the United States) and the Seminole reservation. 75 miles southeast of Fort Myers; also the Crow reservation in Montana.

French Used by Royalty

English was not habitually used in speech or writing by any English king until Henry V's reign, 350 years after the Norman conquest. Henry IV at the beginning of the fifteenth century still wrote in French to his English tailor in London, as shown by a letter in the British museum.

Old English Railroad

Electrification of the Swansea & Mumbles railway, the oldest line in the world, has been completed. The Swansea & Mumbles was opened in 1807, and for the first 70 years was operated by horses. Steam locomotives began to run in 1877.—London Times.

Wants Name Changed

Gary, Ind., March 31—(UP)—Gary will have its own Theodore Roosevelt if the petition for a change of name filed in Gary superior court by Theodore Smolinsky is given favorable consideration.

Smolinsky, a Gary millworker, has asked for the surname of the former president, of whom he is an ardent admirer.

That's Complicating

Conway, Ark., (UP)—Two men by the same name—John W. Peters—have announced they will run for constable in next primary election in a township near here.

SENATE HOPES TO ADJOURN BY FIRST OF JUNE

of this week when the prohibition bill probably will be the next major measure before congress. It will provide the opportunity for a long pent-up senate debate on the prohibition situation.

The nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to the supreme court bench likewise awaits senate action.

A vigorous fight over his confirmation is expected in view of organized labor's opposition to him.

Meanwhile the lobby committee's investigation was expected
