Something New In Ensembles Arrives

NEW YORK, May 3—(U.P.)—Most of us are thoroughly converted to the ensemble. We know that it is good although admitting that difficulties often to overcome before one has attained personal appeal to women, as each part of the costume is left to her own taste. She selects the silhouette she prefers in a coat, preferably an over or thin, fine ribbed or wool crepe in one of the bright blues, matching fabric orders a combination after her own idea.

In this connection, it is interesting that almost always the wraparound version is the distinctive type, in no way resembling prevailing ideas in addition of a separate skirt or separate coat creates a new ensemble, and gives further endorsement to the popular idea of harmony in costuming.

The idea is being widely adopted, especially approved in co-and thin ribbed crepey wool.

The blouse, being an entirely new item, is selected at the insistence of and may be related to a separate coat and skirt to her whim.

though together there is harmony in the ensemble achieved, it may be worn on other occasions, a further argument in its practical scheme. Because fact that black combines all colors, it usually is the handing choice in the skirt and topping.
