Successful Community Sale

The large crowd of buyers that attended the Decatur Community Auction sale Saturday is proof that Decatur is fast becoming one of the leading community sale centers. Stock buyers, farmers and cattle men from all over the country were present. Two cattle buyers from Ohio and Michigan were present. One feature of the sale was 17 pure bred registered Guernsey cattle consigned by the Carlton Youngman farms, Shelby, Ky. They were an exceptional good offering and sold for good prices. The top price was $120 for a 2 year old heifer. Seven of these heifers mated in Adams county. Curtis Moser purchased a beautiful pair; Ed Newhouse, one; P. B. Lehman, two, and Carl Palmer, three. The balance went to S. O. Johnson, Warren and E. Brande, Silver Lake, Ind. Hogs sold for good prices. If you are interested in Decatur and Adams county, too, the community sales. Help to make it a great market, where you can buy what you need and sell what you do not need. The next community sale will be held Saturday, Dec. 6.

G. O. P. EXPENSES ARE ANNOUNCED

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) her 15, 1928, to and including the state convention, June 12, 1930, were $34,940.58, making actual expenses of the recent campaign about $90,000.

The Democratic state report, filed by Amos R. Woods, treasurer of the Democratic state committee, reported a balance of $2,000. The amount, however, appeared to be offset by bills awaiting payment.

The expenditure was the smallest recorded in any recent campaign by a major state political organization in Indiana. The amount reported by the Democratic state committee in 1928 was $110,000 and in 1926, $40,000.

The G. O. P. national committee contributed $5,000 to the state committee, which was given to the Marion county committee along with $1,200 of state funds. It was the only contribution by the state committee to a county committee.

Contributions from state candidates totalled $17,100, not including those from state convention candidates. There was only one donation of $1,000. It was from Will H. Hays, of Sullivan, head of the motion picture industry and former national Republican chairman. Other contributions from business men were $500 and less each.

FLOOD MENACES RIVER VALLEY

that groups of hunters in isolated sections were unwarned and may have been caught in the avalanche of water.

The flood was caused by a break in the Mathis dam, 40 miles northwest of Corpus Christi. Constructed less than a year ago at a cost of $2,500,000, the dam extended across one end of Lake Loven-skold, the water of which covered 7,900 acres.

Shortly after noon Sunday a tiny leak developed in an earthen embankment of the dam. The leak spread slowly, in a few hours a 1,200 foot section toppled over and water swept down the valley at an estimated rate of half a million gallons hourly.

Buildings in two villages, La-Fruita and Bluntzer, were destroyed and the 10 feet of water left in the streets. Bridges were washed out and railroad tracks destroyed or covered with mud and wreckage.

Rescue workers estimated that 2,000 cattle were killed.

The Nueces river, normally about 70 feet wide, spread to more than 1,200 feet across. A strip of land 25 miles long was inundated under from five to 12 feet of water.

Railroad section crews worked today to save what lengths of trackage still remained.

Thousands of refugees here today awaited the waters to subside so they could go back and salvage what remained of their homes. They streamed into Corpus Christi all last night. Some had saved almost all of their personal belongings; others none.

Deputy sheriffs and volunteers from throughout the valley had rushed to the dam where they labored in vain against the crushing waters. They were too late to prevent a general crumbling of the structure. Throughout the night waters rushed over the spillway.

Fifty thousand Corpus Christi residents were alarmed over a report that the city's drinking water supply was endangered. Dater department officials said, however, that enough of the water remained in the lake to care for immediate needs.

Scherry of Orrville, Ohio; Mrs. Wilfred McPeak of Bucyrus, Ohio, and Wilma Jaberg who lives with the deceased's step-mother, Mrs. Caroline Jaberg at Magley.
