There is a tiny golf bag of crystal and silver with a figure idea is also done in china, and there is an arrangement with all the players in a such realistic pose that you involuntarily you hear the time you look at them. The work of the Archaeologist like many great projects is not fully appreciated. There is a great mass of detail connected with every expedition. Among the world's most famous archaeologists is C. Leonard Woolley who has been leader of the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the British Museum of Ure of the Chaldees.

A great deal of knowledge as to how to dig and the care with which the work must be carried on, how to preserve and restore the objects the excavating yields, the endless amount of patience required, the marvelous results of bringing rare and valuable specimens to earth are a few of the many interesting things of which the leader spoke.

Two sub-topics were given, "Final act in the drama of the ages," by Mrs. W. A. Lower, and "Artist who painted interior, tells of theft of body of Queen," by Mrs. J. W. Tyndall.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

—What with all these pictures about office romances, a business man soon will be under suspicion if he doesn't make love to his secretary.

Irene Dunne, who went in for pioneering in "Cimarron," takes her notebook in hand and treads the well-beaten path to the boss's heart in "The Law of the Night," an original story by Samuel Ornitz and Lester Cohen.

Paul Sloane is to direct the picture for R-K-O. He expects to start in about a week when the stars return from a vacation to New York. As soon as she finishes "The Law of the Night," Miss Dunne will go to Spain to co-star with Richard Dix in "Marcheta."

It will be right in the Summer and that hot.

LOST IN THE SHUFFLE. Dave Hillman reports that workmen, re-arranging the lobby of the Roosevelt Hotel, discovered four unidentified song-writers.

Let the dead past bury its dead.

ABANDONS HOBBY. The picturesque toy-room which Joan Crawford had built into her house is being denuded of its occupants.

Deciding she could turn her hobby to a better use, Joan is giving her collection of 2,000 dolls to Los Angeles orphans. The collection was one of the finest in the world. Fans, learning of Joan's fancy, have sent her hundreds of dolls. Through all his worries in Africa, W. S. Van Dyke remembered to get some native playthings to bring home to Joan.

"It just happened to think how much happiness I could give a lot of kids," explains the star. She means it, too. Joan Crawford is one of the most real people in Hollywood.

LATEST GOSSIP. Several bets have been made in Hollywood as to whether Jack Gilbrill will play the lead opposite Tyndall were successful in winning the prizes awarded.

A delicious one course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Adrian Lenhart, at the close of the evening.

Miss Faye Eichar will be hostess to the next meeting and Mary Meyer will be the devotional leader.

THE MEMBERS OF THE BELLE CHERE CLUB met in the private dining room of Miller's Bend Inn, Wednesday evening, where a three course chicken dinner was served. Centering the long table was a bowl of snapdragons and roses, and clever favors of pottery violet bowls were presented by the ladies, while the men received significant trinkets. A social hour was enjoyed after the dinner.

Expect Directed Motion. Princeton, Ind., April 9—(UP)—A motion for a directed verdict of acquittal was expected today to be filed at the close of the state's testimony in the trial of Dr. J. E. Cunningham on a first degree murder charge in connection with the mysterious shooting, February 24, of Francis Marion White, tenant of Dr. Cunningham's farm near here.

Seven witnesses were introduced by the state yesterday, none of whom directly connected the defendant with the shooting. Testimony to the advantage of the defense was brought out in cross examination.

Completion of the state's case was expected today and filing of the motion for acquittal probably will follow.

Beery Speeds Westward. Indianapolis, April 9. — (UP) — Wallace Beery, motion picture actor, paused in Indianapolis a short time today on his airplane race from New York to Los Angeles, where his mother was reported dying.

Beery telephoned to Los Angeles while his plane was being refueled. "My mother's dying in California," was Beery's only comment to reporters.

HOSPITAL NOTES. Frank Ray, Monroe, submitted to a minor operation at the Adams County Memorial Hospital this morning.

Clay Engle, 816 Winchester street, was admitted to the Adams County Memorial hospital Wednesday for medical treatment.

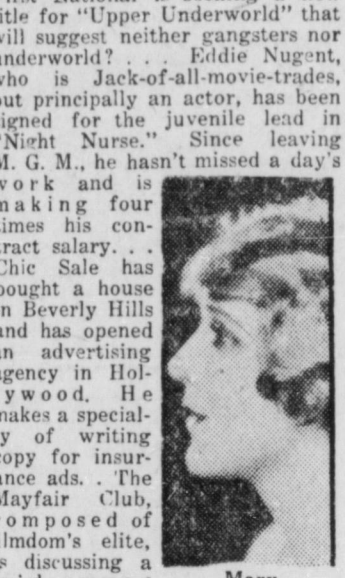

Mrs. Bruce Butler, 324 South Third street was admitted to the local hospital for medical treatment, Wednesday.

Summing It Up. Confidence placed in another often compels confidence in return.

Greta Garbo in "The Fall and Rise of Susan Lennox." Some say Garbo refused, others declare it was Jack and still others have it they both balked. Rumor has put Neil Hamilton in the part. The truth of the matter is, the mysterious Swede has consented, and Gilbert is eager to do the role. During the period of uncertainty, the script has been written, however, and now it remains to discover whether the role is strong enough for Jack. They were examining it over the week-end. The breach is said to be widening between Gloria Swanson and Samuel Goldwyn over the subject of "Rockabye." It is very likely now she will make the picture at some other studio. . . . Is it significant, I wonder, that First National is seeking a new title for "Upper Underworld" that will suggest neither gangsters nor underworld? . . . Frank is Jack-of-all-movie-trades, but principally an actor, has been signed for the juvenile lead in "Night Nurse." Since leaving M. G. M., he hasn't missed a day's work and is making four times his contract salary. . . . Chic Sale has bought a house in Beverly Hills and has opened an advertising agency in Hollywood. He makes a specialty of writing copy for insurance ads. . . . The Mayfair Club, composed of filmdom's elite, is discussing a mid summer dance to be held at Malibu Beach. If the project goes through a dance-floor will be erected and covered with a tent. The affair will be informal preceded by a barbecue. . . . From Siam Douglas Fairbanks called last week ordering flowers to be sent to Mary Pickford on their wedding anniversary. It took four men to carry the bouquet to "Pickfair."

Hold Demonstrations. Claude Harper, extension sheep specialist of Purdue, University was in Adams county Wednesday in company with County Agent L. E. Archibald and held two docking and castrating demonstrations. One of the demonstrations was held on the

S. C. Tinkham farm in Blue Creek township. Mr. Harper stated that his interest in having the lambs taken care of whether the farmer did the work himself or had a veterinarian do it was the improvement in the quality of the lambs. Bucky lambs are docked from from $1.00 to $1.50 a hundred and this means a tremendous loss to the sheep raisers in Adams County. The afternoon meeting was held on the old Dailey farm in St. Marys township. Kenneth Butler is operating the farm.

Railroaders Laid Off. Lafayette, Ind. April 9—(UP)—Bulletins posted at the Monon railroad shops here give notice of the most drastic step yet taken by the railroad company in its policy of retrenchment, due to the business depression. Act Believed Illegal Indianapolis, April 9—(UP)—A bill passed by the last legislature, amending a 1921 law, is held invalid by Charles Kettleborough, director of the legislative reference bureau. The bill amends the wrong act, Kettleborough said.

The 1931 measure was added to a law to permit municipally-owned waterworks to issue bonds for improvements, passed in 1921. This act was amended in 1927, Kettleborough said, and the latest bill should have been called an amendment to the 1927 act.

The 1931 amendment was introduced by Senator John Sherwood, Republican, Mitchell.
