Tourist Trade Thrives

Phoenix Ariz., — (UP) — There is no depression in the tourist business, operators of Arizona resorts point out. Last year 1,250,000 more persons visited scenic spots in the state than did in 1929, and early summer travel this year indicates that the business of going places and seeing things is better than ever.

Faint Failed to Help

Seattle, — (UP) — Mrs. Ladola Casey did not get any sympathy from the judge when she fainted after she was denied custody of her two children. As soon as she had revived, Superior Judge Calvin S. Hall said, "Stop this fainting business, and don't be foolish. There's too much fainting going on in the courts."

Paris Styles

By Mary Knight

United Press Staff Correspondent

Paris, June 20—(UP)—I heard two women discussing the virtues of white the other day, at Molyneux.

One of them said that the new-off-white was smarter than a "dead white," but the "dead" white woman stood her ground and I was glad to know she had the courage of her convictions because she was right. With all due respect to the first woman's opinion she can be very smart in an off-white blouse with a coat suit, or with a scarf of that shade that matches collar and cuffs but, generally speaking, and certainly for evening the "dead" white is the smartest choice.

Molyneux belongs to the fashion school that is not making tuck-in blouses this season, but this does not mean that if you look better in such a blouse that you must not wear it. Worth and Paton both favor them.

Another slightly peculiar idea of the English Captain couturier is pink stockings. Not "flesh" or "nude," but a real delicate pink.

BEN HUR CHILDREN ENJOY SOCIAL EVENING

The members of the Ben Hur Lodge entertained with a program and party at the Ben Hur Hall Friday evening honoring children of the members.

Tables were arranged for bingo and several games were played with Mrs. Emma Pennington receiving the high score prize and Mrs. Millicent Weiss the consolation prize. Games for the children were played and a social evening was enjoyed.

At the close of the evening a pot luck luncheon was served.
