Hunger Marchers at Capitol

WAGE CUT PLAN IS DISCUSSED

look more like business executives.

Brisk, crisp-spoken D. B. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association and president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, presided. A smallish, gray-haired man, he spoke with the gravity which seemed to characterize the group.

"It is stating nothing more than a humanitarian principle to ask that the interests of human beings be placed before those of idle capital," he said. "That is the way I look at the railroad's request that we accept a wage cut. I cannot talk for the men all over the country who do the work and who will have a say in the final decision."

Robertson said today's conference would serve to clear the way to a decision expected tomorrow or Friday.

"This is not a matter we can rush into," he said. "It is too important and affects too many men, women and children in every state in the Union."

With another admonition that his views were personal ones, Robertson in commenting on the action Monday of the Interstate Commerce Commission in allowing the railroads rate increases which will increase their annual revenues about $100,000,000, said:

"The Interstate Commerce Commission has granted additional revenues to the roads and, in accepting such increases, the railroads should apply them to their employees rather than to railway investors."

"During the boom years the railroads spent millions of dollars for improvements and new equipment. Today much of that equipment is idle. The great new locomotives are standing in the yards. Thousands of cars are not moving. This idle equipment is not earning a return."

"But the workers are not idle. They are entitled to a return for the investment of their energies and their lives."

Railroad spokesmen countered with the declaration that the question is not one of paying a return on investment but of maintaining the financial equilibrium of the country. They said all expenses, including wages, had been reduced drastically but that the financial condition of the railroads demanded a further cut. A desperate economic situation would result, they said, if insurance companies, bound by law to hold only securities on which a fixed return is guaranteed, should dump their railroad stocks on the open market.

FARM BUREAU IN CONVENTION

which has advocated different methods for crop surplus control.

Secretary Hyde last night deplored the proposed amendment demand, declaring the stabilization features of the present marketing act was adequate during "ordinary periods of crop surpluses." Hyde appealed for the united support of farmers for the Federal farm board if American agriculture would get behind the farm board solidly, no other remedy for its ills would be needed," the secretary declared.

Other resolutions to be passed upon today included:

A demand for "substantial improvement in the existing system of rural credits" and additional capital of 100 million dollars for the federal land banks.

Restraint of higher price levels by the federal reserve system. The resolution suggested this be done through purchases of securities, lowering of rediscount rates or by raising or lowering the purchasing power of gold.

San H. Thompson, member of the farm board, denied that that body is "battering the government in business."

"For the government to guarantee the farmer his right to organize is no more placing the government in business than has been done over and over again," he said.

"The experience of the farm board with stabilization would indicate that this method of handling surpluses cannot keep prices high over a long period of years in the face of accumulated stocks, for it involves selling as well as buying. Many groups want the board to buy, never to sell. This is asking the impossible."

Wake Up Your Liver Bill —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels

If this bile is not flowing freely, you don't digest. It just decays in the stomach. Gas builds up your stomach. You feel thick, bad taste and your breath is often breaks out in blisters. You ache and you feel down and out. Your system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of liquid bile flowing freely and make you feel "rarin' to go." They contain wonderful, harmless, vegetable extracts, amazing when making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Little Liver Pills. Look for the name of Little Liver Pills on
