charge. Emswiler said he would be taken from the reformatory to Hartford City.

Authorities allege that the three bandits, captured after the Dunkirk holdup, were sheltered in the Gentry home. McIntyre is alleged to have participated in conferences in which Mrs. Gentry, Mrs. Green and the bandits plotted holdups. Mrs. Gentry, with her husband, has been involved in liquor charges here several times.

POLICE CATCH TWO BROTHERS IN TEXAS HOUSE

could not escape.

Identification of the brothers was made positive by Bobby Ellis, police identification expert.

The Youngs previously were reported to have separated from two others late Saturday, and to have driven a stolen automobile to Texas, wrecking it in their haste to reach Houston, where Harry's bride of a few weeks lives.

A posse surrounded the house on Walker avenue in the east end where the Youngs were in hiding. Tear gas bombs were hurled through the window in an effort to drive them out. Then three shots were heard behind the closed door of the bathroom. These were followed by a shout of "come and get us—we're dead."

The officers, suspecting a ruse, waited until the tear gas cleared. Then the bodies were removed.

Jennings Young had been shot through the head and was dead. Harry Young had been shot through the chest and head and was dying. Harry Young was taken in an ambulance to a hospital, where stimulants were given him and detectives began at once to question him regarding the identity of his companions in the Springfield massacre, in which Sheriff Marcel Hendrix and five other officers were mowed down by concentrated fire.

Detectives were particularly anxious to determine whether Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, Oklahoma outlaw sought for four murders, had been with the Young boys, as was suspected.

In the hospital, a few minutes later, Harry, the leader of the Young gang, died, refusing to the end to answer the detective's questions.

"I won't talk," he said.

Thus was fulfilled the prophecy of their mother and sisters that the brothers, despite machine-gun-bracketed bravado in fighting off the Springfield, Mo., officers, would not be taken alive because they feared to face the law.

The news was flashed back to Springfield, to the widow of Sheriff Hendrix, now wearing her husband's star as his successor.

Two other members of the gang that killed Sheriff Hendrix and five other officers and wounded three more, apparently are still at large. Mrs. Hendrix is in charge of the search. One of them may be Charles (Pretty Boy) Young, the Oklahoma outlaw, charged with four murders and a score of other crimes.

The Young brothers were believed to have left their two accomplices behind in fleeing to Texas. The search for the missing two still is concentrated around Springfield.

One of the greatest manhunts in the southwest's history was climaxed when the Young brothers were found. The tracking down of the slayers began when the men fled from their farmhouse fort through a tunnel, eluding a posse. They had resisted with an ambushade the arrest of Harry Young on charges of killing a Republic, Mo., town marshal, which he had eluded for two years.

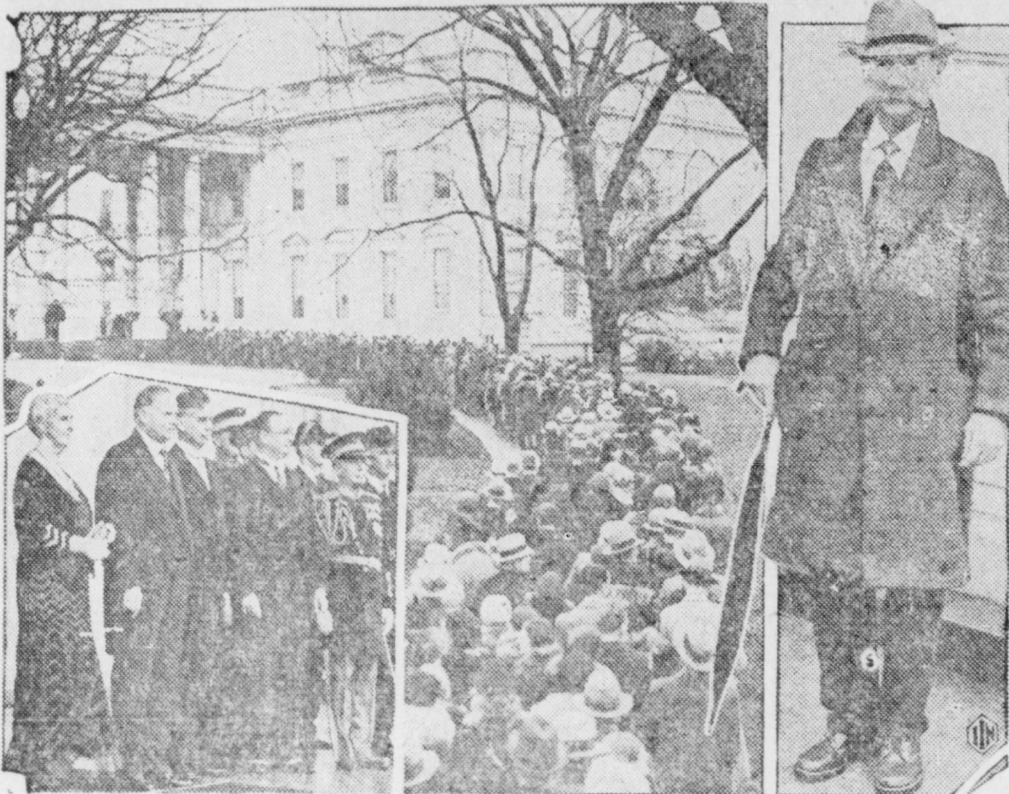

Virtual hostages, the mother of the Young brothers, two daughters and three other members of the family have been in custody at

New Year Reception at White House

This general view of the White House grounds on the morning of New Year's Day shows part of the huge crowd which gathered to pay their respects to President and Mrs. Hoover at the traditional reception. Inset at left shows the President and First Lady with some of the diplomatic dignitaries who stood at the White House doorway to greet the throng of well-wishers. Right is John William Hunsfeld, who for five years has been the first man in the public line to greet the Chief Executive. Hunsfeld refused the President's invitation to breakfast because he wished to keep his place in front.

Herr Hitler Bridal Guest

It is hard to imagine the doughty Adolf Hitler, leader of Germany's National Socialist (Nazis) Party, in the role of a follower of Cupid. But here he is shown aiding and abetting the little god with the bow and arrow. Photo was made on the occasion of the wedding of Dr. Goebbels, prominent in Hitler's Fascists, in a little village of Sverrin, Germany. The bride is the former Magda Quanti, and her little son is shown walking beside his new stepfather. Hitler is in rear with soft hat. Note the Fascists who lined the bridal route giving the familiar salute.

pected to proceed to the city immediately.

Chang's departure for Tsitsihar was delayed by action of soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern railroad who declined to transport his armed force from Harbin. It was understood that the action was taken on Moscow's instructions to maintain neutrality and not to transport either Chinese or Japanese forces over the railway.

Birthmonth of Famous Men

Among the prominent people who were born during the month of September are Eugene Field, James Gordon Bennett, Prince Ito, Cardinal Richelieu, Marquis de Lafayette, Jane Addams, Queen Elizabeth, William the Conqueror, Dr. Walter Reed, General Pershing, James Fenimore Cooper, William Howard Taft, Louis XIV, James J. Hill, Samuel Johnson, Savonarola, Chief Justice Marshall, Zachary Taylor, Frances Willard, Clemenceau, Admiral Nelson, Sheridan (dramatist), Sudermann and Lord Robert (Bobs).

Pussy Cat's Back

A cat belonging to L. Quick, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was believed to have broken a leg, so it was decided to disarticulate it. The cat was placed in a bag with a large stone, and the bag was dropped over the brink of a 123-foot water fall. When the executioners returned to Mr. Quick's house, there was the cat, seated on the porch, broken leg and all. No one knows what happened to the bag and the stone.

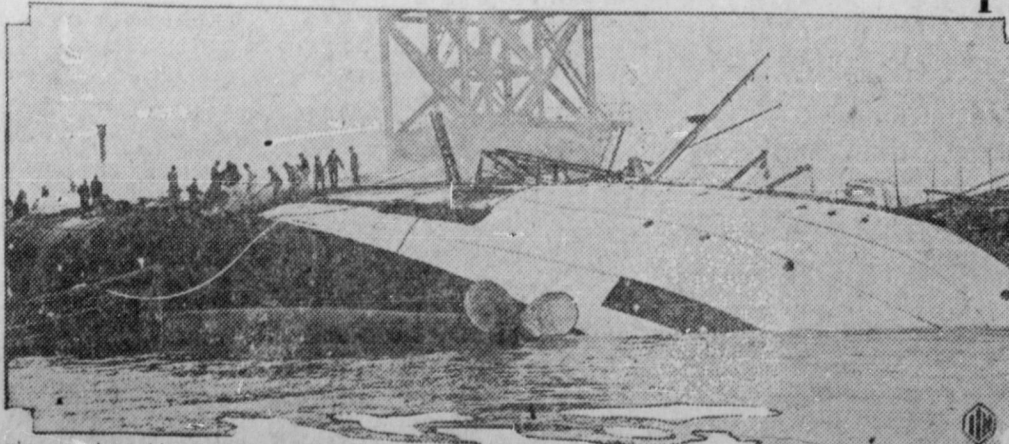

Sanskrit's High Place

Sanskrit is regarded as the most important and highly organized of historic languages. It is full and flexible, and has a broad range of grammatical construction. Its discovery in the Eighteenth century was the most important happening in the whole history of eastern culture. The study of this language opened up the primitive Indo-European period, and originated the science of philology.

"Ignorance" and "Doubt"

Ignorance, in logic, is defined as that state of mind, which for want of evidence is equally unable to affirm or deny one thing or another. It is distinguished from doubt, which can neither affirm nor deny because the evidence seems equally strong for both.

Destroyed by Fire Before First Trip

Lying on her side at her pier at Newport News, Va., following the disastrous fire that destroyed her, the $3,500,000 liner Segovia is shown as it was inspected by underwriters, who attempted to make an estimate of the damage. The craft, only recently christened by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, was due to have been delivered on January 30. It is said the liner is covered by insurance, and underwriters place damage at $2,000,000. The origin of the fire remains a mystery.

AUCTION SCHOOL NEWS

Monday morning all the students were back at their studies after an unusual week-end. Col. Fred Reppert left for auction sales scheduled in Iowa and Nebraska this week. The arrival of several new instructors to the school has enhanced the study interests. Among those arrived this week are Col. C. B. Drake, Col. Roy Hiatt and Col. Roy Johnson. Several others are expected to arrive later on in the week.

The first public sale held by the students of the school was held Saturday, Jan. 3, in the afternoon. Another sale was held again that evening. The public of the town and vicinity were very responsive and all the students were well pleased at the enthusiasm shown by the audience.

Public auction sales will be held every evening this week at the old Peoples Bank Building, corner 2nd and Madison streets, with the exception of Friday at which time the student body will go to Fort Wayne and assist in the sale at the Seisler Auction House there. The public is cordially invited to attend all the sales held here. A variety of entertainment will be offered to the audience each evening.

SOCIETY

HONORS GUESTS WITH EVENING DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crist of Monroe entertained with a six o'clock dinner at their home, Monday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Stanley and children Jean and Junior of Evanston, Ill. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Leachy and son Donald, Mrs. W. L. Stanley and daughter Miss Laura all of Decatur and Quentin and Kermit Crist of Monroe.

Look at Me!
Judged by his attitude a disappointed professional reformer's mental reservation might possibly be interpreted after this fashion: "Why can't people be like me—think as I do and do as I do?"—Toledo Blade.

Interior Decoration
The Centennial in Philadelphia in 1876 brought an awakening to the possibilities of beauty in the home through harmonious combination of artistic draperies and furniture. Homes of the Colonial period and early American houses were artistically furnished because the furniture in those days was well designed and well made.

Civil War Bounty Jumpers
A bounty jumper in the Civil war was one who upon payment of bounty enlisted for the army and afterward deserted from the service. Usually a man who did this successfully once repeated the performance until he had accumulated quite a sum of money or was caught at the game.

Wife Did "Pretty Well"
In his journal, James Boswell cites a conversation between a Mr. Markham and Doctor Johnson: Markham—"Had you a wife?" Johnson—"Yes, sir, I had that honor." Markham—"Was she a good wife?" Johnson—"Why, pretty well as well as General Oglethorpe's." The general, who had been thirty years married, professed subjection and was glorying in it.

Rabbit Fur Widely Used
Use of rabbit skins in the fur trade is increasing rapidly, due to the disappearance of many of the finer pelts for animals. More rabbit fur is now used than any other kind in the making of fur garments, trimmings, glove linings and felt for hats.

Memorial Block Laid

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 5.—(UP)—The first block of granite for the George Rogers Clark Memorial here was set in place by D. Frank Culbertson, member of the Memorial commission.

Brief ceremonies attended the affair and only a few spectators were present. More elaborate ceremonies will be held, however, when the cornerstone is laid, probably next fall.

Work of setting other granite blocks was started immediately and will continue until the memorial is completed.

Old Roman Fire Fighters
The Vigiles, the police of ancient Rome, were required to prevent and extinguish fires. There were seven cohorts, or battalions, and fourteen station houses. Police were stationed at public places and, as firemen, were provided with axes, ropes, buckets and also a kind of fire engine known as the siphon. The whole force numbered about 7,500.

Defacement
"It angers me, when enjoying a book from the public library, to find it defaced by scribbling," writes a correspondent. An old grievance. About 2,500 years ago a king wrote on his clay tablet: "Whoever shall steal this tablet or write his name on it, may the gods overthrow him in anger!"

"Garden City"
In 1829 Chicago began an extensive park development and soon afterwards its total area of parks comprised 1,887 acres. The city then acquired the nickname of "Garden City" and that name is still emblazoned on the municipal coat of arms.

Auditor Gets Freedom

Woodstock, Ill., Jan. 5.—(UP)—State Auditor Oscar Nelson today was free of a misfeasance charge growing out of the collapse of the Wankegan State Bank last year through a directed verdict of a jury.

Circuit Judge Edward Shumaker ordered the charge dismissed on the ground a state officer had no power to try a state officer for misfeasance since this power has been invested in the state senate.

A charge of conspiracy to defraud the bank's depositors depends against Nelson and officers of the bank.

Second Venire Called

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 5.—(UP)—second special venire of 20 returned to Special Judge Preston A. Taylor, in Tippecanoe circuit court, today in the trial of Samuel T. Baxter, 23, on a charge of first degree murder.

Baxter is alleged to have slain deputy sheriffs John P. Grove and Wallace McClure February 7, 1931. It appeared likely that a jury would be completed today.
