AUCTION SCHOOL NEWS

Col. Guy Johnson, an instructor in the school this past week, left Friday morning for his home in Columbus, Ohio. Col. Johnson, who is widely known in Ohio and many other states as a horse and real estate auctioneer, while here opened his storehouse of knowledge, gained in long and wide experience of his professional life and offered all to the students of the class. The members of the class eagerly accepted this information and no doubt feel that they are better fitted in the auction work by having had Col. Johnson as an instructor.

Col. Earl Gartin, who left Wednesday evening for his home town, Greensburg, Ind., to conduct his regular weekly community auction sale, returned Friday and resumed his active duties as an instructor.

The trip to Fort Wayne Friday evening of the student body offering new experiences to all the boys. At the Segrist Auction House there, the students were carried through the entire establishment and given valuable information in the auction house and furniture business. In the evening Col. Segrist turned his auction sale over to the class and each member was on the block and conducted sales. From a few comments by instructors it is believed the boys did a real job of it.

All the boys are full of pep and ready for the sales this afternoon and evening to be conducted at the school building.

Now, let you forget the Imperial quartet will have an offering of good singing on the program this evening.

Years Not Important

Eskimos do not take any interest in their own ages or the ages of their children as measured in years, and it is seldom possible to know how old a person is unless his birth can be checked up in comparison with some known event of an explorer, whaling vessel or some event.

Companions for Hire!

Male Escort or Hostess

Guide and Hostess Bureau, New York's Newest

Innovation, Caters to the Lonely Soul

Seeking Companionship—For a Fee.

The lonely young man or woman need no longer sit "all alone by a telephone" in his hearted New York, bemoaning the fact that there is no one to go out with. For a small fee, a companion for the evening may now be secured through the good offices of the new Guide and Hostess Bureau. The young man may choose the partner that comes nearest to his idea of the ideal girl, or the young woman can pick the type of lovely male she most desires from the stack of photographs on file at the bureau and all that's necessary for a pleasant evening is money. The agency prides itself on its respectability. All the men on its books are educated, well-bred and proper. The hostesses are lady-like, interesting girls, delightful dinner companions or bridge partners, who have no other engagements on certain evenings and go out "just for a lark"—for a fee. The proprietors say that their army of professional companions are of a "high type," being recruited from musicians, artists, psychologists, dieticians and writers. The organizers themselves are two former bankers.

New York, Jan. 9.—Want a date? No, not the fruit. An appointment with a beautiful girl, if you are a lonely man, or with an accomplished cavalier, if you are a melancholy baby trying to shake the blues.

No longer need the visitor to Gotham sit dolefully in a hotel room and regret the impulse that prompted that trip from somewhere in the tall timber to take in the sights of the big city, only to discover that one must have a companion who "knows the ropes" if the expedition is to be a success.

Many out-of-towners who have come to New York burning with enthusiasm, returned home before vacation was up, having been no further than the lobby of the hotel where they sojourned in the big town, just because they did not know where to go and didn't have a friend or an acquaintance on whom they could call for assistance.

But the advent of the Guide and Hostess Bureau has changed all that. Operated by two former bankers, the bureau is the latest innovation in the entertainment field.

For a small fee the bureau will supply a companion for the evening, male or female, and satisfaction is guaranteed. The professional escorts and hostesses are selected carefully, and must conform to a list of stringent requirements.

The cavaliers must be good dancers, tall and brunette, between the ages of 20 and 35. The proprietors revealed that no one wants a short man. Many college men are listed at the bureau, and one varsity football team is well represented.

The hostesses listed at the novel bureau are lady-like, interesting girls, delightful dinner companions and bridge partners, who have no other engagements on certain evenings and go out "just for a lark"—for a fee.

The proprietors say the new agency is doing a rushing business in escorts, in spite of girlish timidity and skepticism. The modern girl, unlike grandma, is not content to sit at home and twiddle her thumbs after her boy friend has called up to say he's detained at the office. If an invitation is not forthcoming from other sources, Miss Modern is willing to hire an escort for the evening.

The bureau prides itself upon its respectability. All of the fifty men it has on call are well-bred, well educated and proper. They are instructed to behave like gentlemen—rather an unnecessary precaution, if they are as advertised—to take no liberties and to remain sober. So far, it is claimed, there has never been a complaint of unpleasantness.

The employment situation has sent a lot of men and women of a very "high type" to seek work in this novel business. There are musicians, artists, psychologists, dieticians, models, writers and publicity workers on the list. All their specifications are on file at a moment's notice so that the man or woman seeking a companion can be supplied with a description and a list of accomplishments of any particular cavalier or hostess.

One requirement is absolutely necessary for the professional escort—he must be able to converse entertainingly about any subject that a client is likely to bring up. Just imagine how embarrassing it would be for him were the client to decide that she'd like to talk about gigolos?
