The Right Way to Reduce

If you are over-fat, do what doctors the world over now are doing. They supply a lacking gland secretion which helps turn food to energy, rather than to fat. The results are seen everywhere. Without starvation, multitudes of people have gained new beauty, youth and vim. That right method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle you see slender, happy people who can tell you the results.
Go do what they did. Ask your druggist for Marmola. A book in the box will tell you all about it. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, and vim comes back. Start Marmola now.

RELIGIOUS STUDY CLUB HAS MEETING

The Religious Study Club met last night at the home of Miss Grace Coffee. The members discussed current events of interest in the Catholic world in response to roll call.

Miss Coffee read the paper of the evening. She spoke first of the coronation of Charlesmagne to making, particularly during the Middle Ages, at which time the church was the only agent to preserve culture and learning. Then she took up the foundation and development of the Holy Roman Empire under Charlesmagne, who was crowned emperor by Pope Leo III on Christmas day, 800.

Incidentally this Holy Roman Empire is said to have inspired the Divine Comedy of Dante. From the coronation of Charlesmagne to the middle of the eleventh century, the historian must see the world as in a fog and mist. Although the world seemed debased and full of despair, it is no exaggeration to assert that but for the Church civilization could not have survived.

Bede and Alcuin, renowned scholars of England, Pope Nicholas the Great, Alfred the Great still regarded as the greatest man who ever sat on the English throne and Otto, emperor of Germany, were some of the men who accomplished much in those troublesome days.

The meeting closed with a one course luncheon in honor of the president, Miss Agnes Dix, who is leaving soon to assume a position in New York.

FAMED SLUMS OF PARIS WILL GO IN CLEAN-UP

Police Prefect Announces Plan For Their Elimination

PARIS —(UP)—The "artistic slums" and homely hovels of Paris soon will be only a memory, according to Police Prefect Jean Chappe, in his annual report before the Municipal Council recently.

"Paris will soon lose its hovels and slums," he said, "for they impair the healthfulness as well as the brilliance of the city. The poorly paved and badly lighted streets will soon be nothing but a memory."

As for misbehavior during the past year, he reported that "the Colonial Exposition attracted 40,000,000 visitors without resulting in a single serious incident, despite the number of sovereigns and statesmen entertained and the attendant ceremonies and fetes.

Crimes Show Decrease
"The general proportion of crimes and burglaries," he continued, "shows a decrease under the preceding year, there being 107 in 1930 as against 95 in 1931. Ten robberies of importance took place in 1930 as against only five for the year 1931. Not one of the criminals whose sole motive was theft escaped our pursuit. They all were arrested."

"I always have made a vigorous fight against the high cost of living. Many things that seemed too rash yesterday and an innovation and abuse of power, are recognized today as an indispensable reform and perfectly legal. I venture to say that we owe to the studded street crossings the entente which is steadily growing closer between the pedestrian and the motorist. It is by virtue of this consideration in our community that I dare again and again to drive ahead into the future, guided by the great sentiments that animate us all: love for Paris and devotion to its prosperity."

Prefecture Saved

On the occasion of the presentation of Prefect Chappe's annual budget, 21 councillors voted for suppression of the Prefecture of Police, favoring assignment of its duties to the Surete Generale, the courts and the municipality, but 50 Councillors thought it would be better to keep the Prefecture, and consequently the budget was approved. The police executive's report was optimistic, crediting the sagacity and sense of proportion and courtesy of Parisians as much as the efforts of the police for the preservation of order and morale in the face of economic depression.
