Winamac Bows to Newcastle In Final Game of State Tourney

Indianapolis, Mar. 21.—(U.P.)—A spontaneous, flashy brand of basketball, not seen in state basketball tournaments for nearly a dozen years, brought out an unusually large number of unheralded stars in the Hoosier championship at Butler fieldhouse Friday and Saturday.

Because 13 of the 16 teams were new in tournament play this year, there was little advance publicity on any players a few had received, casual mention but none was known and feared over the entire state.

Beginning with Vincennes' defeat by a flashy little Cicero team Friday morning until Newcastle's triumph over Winamac for the title Saturday night, new stars broke forth and won themselves positions on mythical all-state teams. At the end of the tournament, more than a score of players stood out leaving all-state choices up to purely personal preferences.

This was especially true of the center position. Butterworth, Bosse's giant pivot man, Reder of Winamac, McAnally of Greencastle and Janz of Michigan City each merits top position. Our selection was Butterworth because he was equally effective on the offensive and defensive. McAnally's inability to hit the net in the Newcastle game virtually cost his team victory, but it must be noted that McAnally was playing with strained side muscles. Reder, a mainstay of Winamac, shaded McAnally in scoring power.

Lester Stout of Winamac was the outstanding basket shooter of the tournament. With 37 points, he nearly tied Jack Mann's record of 39 points for individual tournament scoring honors. Hickman, of the champions, was a shade steadier than Osborne, the flashy little Bosse forward. White of Newcastle, played brilliantly but his playing was overshadowed by his

Interior Decoration

The Centennial in Philadelphia in 1876 brought an awakening to the possibilities of beauty in the home through harmonious combination of artistic draperies and furniture. Homes of the Colonial period and early American houses were artistically furnished because the furniture in those days was well designed and well made.
