The Republican cry now is, "Mr. Hoover is coming back?" And a lot of folks would like to know where he has been since 1929.

If Jimmy Walker saved the profits his friends made for him in 1929, we can understand how he can run around all over the world. The last figures showed the total to be up around a million, with pin money occasionally.

The city swimming pool will open June 6th, much to the delight of the boys and girls who patronize that place. W. Guy Brown will be in charge, assisted by Miss Geraldine Hower, assuring the very best supervision possible.

There is an advantage for many in the fact that Decoration Day comes on Monday this year, permitting a double holiday season. However this is not so acceptable this year when holidays are the things too many folks have too much of.

It snowed in the Dakotas this week and they are happy over it. Their jubilation comes because they believe the cold weather has killed off the grasshoppers, which in recent years has been the worst enemy the crops have had in the northwest.

Speaker Garner has launched his two billion dollar unemployment relief measure and it looks now as though it would receive rather general support from the members of congress. We doubt the prediction that it will bring the desired relief, but perhaps its worth giving a whirl.

Through these times, we can all feel better by keeping as even tempered as possible. Of course that's hard to do some time but what's the use of bicker and quarrel and find fault? Smile and try a little harder and you will come through in a much better way than otherwise. Most of your troubles never really happen.

There are 48,000 less cars licensed in Indiana this year than last, indicating that there are some folks who are out because of the depression. As a result the states income is effected about $300,000 and Secretary of State Frank Mayr, Jr., believes the state should take advantage of it.

DO YOU OWE MONEY TO DIFFERENT PEOPLE

Bills—bills—bills! How they do accumulate! Wouldn't you like to clean the slate of all your outstanding bills—pay them all off at once—and have but one place to pay and one small payment to make each month?
Our personal financing plan makes it possible for you to do that very thing. We will lend you up to $300 on your household goods, auto, etc. You pay us back in small monthly payments. We charge only the lawful interest rate, and require no endorsements except husband and wife. Every transaction strictly confidential.

age of the law and collect the driver's license fee. Under the law this can be done each three years.

You need not be surprised if one of these days congress cleans up the tax problem by adopting a general sales tax. After all if we have to raise billions that's about the only way left and if they leave out the necessities of life, it might be the easier method. There is an under-current which seems to be pulling that way right now and a number of leaders have come out in the open.

Do you favor a street fair this year? The American Legion which has sponsored this event the past several years would appreciate your honest opinion. Some argue it would be a good thing to pep us all up while others consider it a waste of money. The Legion will, we are sure, be glad to follow the desires of the majority. There is a movement to unite an agricultural fair with the annual club exhibit, thus making an event of great good to the farmer. And that's a worth while thought to consider.

Just when the country needs something to relax its taut nerves, the baseball industry delivers the right medicine. The great national game is under way for 1932. Home runs make better talk than falling prices. Let's lambaste the umpire and not the politician. Let's get out in the fresh air whenever we can instead of sitting around a stuffy office where unfortunately there is too little business to be done. A little recreation—and fortunately this is cheap recreation—is just what the weary business man needs. Here is the opportunity. Let's enjoy it!—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The popular wail that "we have no true leadership," with its implied disparagement of those in authority, is often but a subtle admission of a gnawing inadequacy on the part of the complainer and his fellows. Great men are not born great; rather, the strong qualities for which they are respected and revered are those which the loyal confidence of their fellows have brought to the surface. Few leaders fail because too much trust was placed in them; many fail because their followers wavered. It is the way of human nature that seldom do men willfully betray trusts, even small ones. Someone has said that "to have a noble poet, there must be a noble audience." That aphorism should be reworded to fit our day: To have a great leader, there must be great followers.—Rotarian.

Cleaning the Sink
If the porcelain sink is very dirty try using the following cleansing method: Sprinkle cleansing powder scrub thoroughly with a steel wool pad. Rinse with hot water.
Hemstitching
When drawing threads for hemstitching, wet a small brush, rub it across a cake of soap and then over the threads to be drawn. The threads will come out easily and without breaking.
String Beans
If a pinch of baking soda is added to string beans while they are cooking, it will soften them and keep them a bright green.

FEDERAL AGENTS BEGIN RAIDS

One of the places entered in the latest series of raids was the Wabash Grill, reputed rendezvous of Capone gangsters and known in the underworld as operated by Denny Cooney, notorious south side vice manager.

Two of the raids occurred at Calumet City, Ill., and most of them were on the far south side of Chicago. None of the places entered was in the immediate vicinity of the Chicago stadium, the political convention site.

A quantity of liquor was seized in nearly every place raided.

GARNER MEASURE BRINGS REBUKE FROM HOOVER

It would have been statesmanlike.

"I don't see how it is possible for my bill to unbalance the budget when the bill carries with it a gasoline tax raising $42,000,000 a year, more than sufficient to take care of interest and sinking fund requirements of bonds issued for construction."

The speaker said 50 Republicans had come to him and promised to support his bill, which was approved by the Democratic majority of the House. As soon as the ways and means committee completes hearings on the measure next week, the House will lay all other work aside and take it up.

Mr. Hoover approved the Garner bill provision increasing the reconstruction corporation's borrowing power by $1,000,000,000 (B) to finance "self-liquidating" projects. But the public works bond issue plan he denounced as an "unexampled raid on the public treasury."

"The urgent question today is the prompt balancing of the budget," the President said. "When that is accomplished, I propose to support adequate measures for relief of distress and unemployment."

Mr. Hoover said the proposed expenditures on public works would make "balancing of the budget hopeless."

"The country also understands," he continued, "that an unbalanced budget means the loss of confidence of our people and of other nations in the credit and stability of the government and that the consequences are national demoralization and the loss of ten times as many jobs as would be created by this program even if it could be physically put into action. XXXX

"Our nation was not founded on the pork barrel and it has not become great by political log-rolling."

"I hope that those many members of congress of both parties who I know will oppose this bill will receive the definite support of the people of their districts in resisting it."

It was on the last named charge that the verdict today was returned.

Broderick first was brought to trial last winter, but a mistrial was declared on Feb. 25 when it was discovered that two jurors did not make proper answers to questions when they were accepted.

The second trial was started on April 4, with an imposing array of character witnesses for the defendant, led by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt (Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and Alfred E. Smith.

DANCE TONIGHT SUN

Aristophanes

Stands Bewildered

Aristophanes remarked of women, 2300 years ago, "They dip their wool into hot water, according to the ancient plan, all of them without exception, and never make the slightest innovation. They sit and cook as of old. They carry upon their heads as of old." Could you summon Aristophanes into our today—he would stand appalled at the speed of women's present innovations.

Just about everything you are accustomed to becomes outmoded, discarded, in an incredibly brief time. Ways of cooking, serving, traveling; of keeping clean, healthy, beautiful, young—these are the modern tasks, "as of old." But science in alliance with factories and kitchens keeps new ways coming along so fast that poor old Aristophanes and those soft-sandaled women would be breathless with keeping up. Yet you are used to swift change... used to comforts that a short while ago were luxuries... that a little day from now will seem Grecian-quaint themselves. From advertisements in your daily newspaper you reap news of these ways to live healthfully, richly, advantageously—young!

Sit and cook as of old? Carry upon your head as of old? No, you carry in your head knowledge of the best that is buyable. Advertisements give you easy, happy surveys of new ways. Glance over all the advertisements you can, every chance you have.
