LEGION CONFERENCE:

An exhilarating and delightful occasion was the gathering of the veterans here Sunday. It was a conference of the new fourth district Legionnaires and a reunion of the boys who served in the World War.

The boys with their wives and sweethearts came early and remained for the entire day, parading, listening to the orations and visiting over the dinner hour and evening at Sunset Park.

The parade participated in by the drum corps, bands, Legion posts, auxiliaries, state police, firemen and others was inspiring and the crowds which lined the streets enjoyed it.

First prize went to Fort Wayne, second to Bluffton and third to Van Wert, but scored by the judges on points, all were about even.

Addresses by Mayor Krick, Col. Ralph Cole, of Findlay, Ohio, State Commander Gates of Columbia City and others were appreciated by the many who listened attentively to the program and it is needless to say that the visitors thoroughly enjoyed the program at Sunset, where a chicken dinner was served and a varied program of entertainment provided.

Congratulations are extended to N. R. Holthouse, general chairman, and to all who assisted in making the event one of the best of its kind ever put on in this vicinity. We love the colors, the drums, the bugles and the general patriotic air which accompanies these occasions and we are sure such events make the blood tingle for each and every one who attends the gatherings of the soldier boys.

We hope every one had a genuinely good time and that our guests will want to return frequently.

This is convention week for the Republicans and already the leaders and those who wish to be are gathering in Indianapolis where the big show will be on Thursday. With some eight or nine candidates for the governorship and more willing to be drafted, it looks like an old fashioned struggle. Senator Watson is in the nine-hole because he is a candidate for re-election himself and the battle has warmed up to a degree where he feels he should keep hands off. Governor Leslie has suddenly leaped to the front and is credited with a lot of hidden power. Senator Robinson is in the background and George Ball, newly chosen committeeman, is quietly wielding some influence. Just how it will come out is difficult to guess. Some think Bert Thurman has the nomination sewed up, others believe that Landis or Bush will show greatest strength while some of the wisest are looking for Arthur Sapp to be the lucky boy. Any way it is an important and interesting week for those who care for the great American sport-politics. The Democrats will convene soon with another chapter and then both parties move on to Chicago for the national conventions.

All government employees, except those who draw less than $1,000 per year, will receive a ten per cent cut, under a bill which passed the United States senate Saturday. Looks hard and is for those who have to take it but of course when these things start they go all the way through and few people, farmer, laborer, business man or employee in private organizations but have taken a greater reduction. It can scarcely be avoided and probably should not be for the sooner we get down to the correct plane, the sooner we can begin to crawl out of the hole.

This community, like all others, is going through some trying ordeals as a result of the depression, one of the worst ever suffered in this nation. If we will be as fair and lenient and helpful as we can, we are sure it will be best for every one. Getting mad at some one, gossiping or otherwise rocking the boat will make getting to shore just so much more difficult.

Looks as though the Republicans of Indiana will favor a referendum on the liquor question when they meet in convention this week to adopt a platform. That means of course that the leaders feel that this question, long a campaign nuisance, will have to be definitely settled by the people.

Efforts to get the special session of the legislature to consider a lot of measures of one kind and another have begun. That's silly and we don't believe it will be long permitted by those who caused the session to be called for the express purpose of correcting and equalizing taxes. That and that alone should be the work.

June and the good old summer time, the season when we all relax and quit worrying about the furnace and the snow paths and the rough winds. Forget your troubles and have a good time. You will be the better for it.

We are a queer lot. We declare congress or the legislature ought to do certain things and then as soon as they have done so, we find fault and criticize.

Feather Pillows
When washing a feather pillow, dissolve 1 lb. sal-soda and ½ lb. soap in ½ gallon boiling water. Put about 5 buckets of tepid water in a tub and pour in the above solution. Then dissolve ½ lb. chloride of lime in 1 qt. boiling water, let it settle, then stir in tub. Beat pillows well and then put in tub, pressing down. Let soak for an hour, stirring and pressing constantly with a stick. Rinse in several changes of water, wring, press out all water possible and hang on line to dry, turning and shaking them often. Choose a windy day for quick drying.

Curtains
White curtains that have become yellowed from the sun can be made a pretty color by dipping them in diluted coffee. The darker you desire the curtains the stronger the coffee should be.

Ice Cream
To keep ice cream hard for about 24 hours, place in a paper cooking bag, the ends of the bag folded over very tightly to keep out the air, and then place in the refrigerator directly on the ice.

HUNDREDS HEAR COL. COLE; SEE LEGION PARADE

en's Auxiliary of Fort Wayne marched in the big parade. The Fort Wayne outfit, winner of first prize in the drum corps contest is a combination of band and drum corps. It is composed of about 75 pieces and is one of the largest Legion organizations in the middle-west. Paul Sauer, Decatur Legionnaire, was marshal of the parade. The parade, headed by the Decatur fire truck, the famous Kokomo Red Jacket color guard carrying the American flag and three automobile with State Commander Gates, Colonel Cole, Commander Ritter, N. R. Holthouse, general chairman of the event, Ernest Stengel, Berne, commander of Post 43, and others preceded on Fourth street north to Marshall street, then south on Second street to Winchester street and to the park.

Seven state-motorcycle policemen escorted the parade through town.

The Winners

As the parade passed the reviewing stand at the corner of Madison and Second streets, the judges passed on the merits of each organization. First prize of $100 was awarded to the Fort Wayne unit; second prize of $75 to the Bluffton drum corps and third prize of $25 to the Van Wert, Ohio, drum corps. Scoring was made as follows: Alignment, 25 points; cadence, 15 points; playing ability, 50 points; appearance, 10 points.

It was the first time that Decatur had the privilege of witnessing a uniformed military parade and also the first time that a woman's auxiliary organization marched here.

Program at Park
Mayor George Krick extended words of greeting to the Legionnaires and visitors from the platform erected in Legion Memorial Park. C. O. Porter acted as chairman of the meeting.

A short response was made by Commander Gates in which he expressed his appreciation for the welcome extended to the veterans and remarked: "This organization is not engaged in any bonus drives or hikes. This is the time we should keep our feet on the ground and try to do the sensible and best thing for the country."

Colonel Cole, eloquent in his praise for the fine spirit demonstrated by Decatur citizens in entertaining the Legionnaires, told of the first organization meeting held in Paris in 1919 at which time steps were taken to organize the American Legion. The meeting was called by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and at this meeting the present Legion organization had its birth.

The Legion is a peace-time organization and the slogan "serve our nation in peace as well as in war" explains its purpose, stated the Colonel. The whole thing can be summed in one word, "Duty," emphasized the speaker.

He called on Americans to renew their faith in God, stating that no nation ever lived that forgot there was a God. "It's time we renew our faith in ourselves and place a greater faith in the Almighty," the fighting colonel stated.

"Any man who has seen war, men injured and killed, does not want war. America's position is law with order and force sufficient to enforce that law if necessary," Col. Cole stated.

While making his address Colonel Cole noticed Abe Minister of Fort Wayne in the crowd and called him to the platform. Mr. Minister was an orderly to the Colonel in France and an affectionate old-time acquaintance was renewed by the comrades before the crowd. Miss Jeanette Flick, also of Fort Wayne, was escorted by Mr. Minister also appeared on the platform.

ANARCHIST IS TAKEN IN ROME

Faces Execution In Conspiracy To Kill Premier At Celebration

Rome, June 6.—(U.P.)—A young anarchist who carried on his chest a thin rubber pad filled with enough nitroglycerine to blow a dozen men to pieces if he had been thrown down by police or soldiers, faced execution today for a plot against the life of Premier Benito Mussolini.

The anarchist also carried a revolver and two flat shaped bombs hung from his belt.

Police revealed that Angelo Bardellotto, planned and assassination at the ceremony on Janiculum Hill Saturday. It was attended by Mussolini and members of the royal family. Queen Helene unveiled a monument to Anita Garibaldi.

Police quoted Bardellotto as saying he would have committed suicide whether or not his attempt against Mussolini had been successful. He was picked up by one of the detectives of the presidential squad. The would-be assassin was stationed at a spot where Mussolini would have passed within half an hour.

The anarchist was quoted as saying that he hoped to obtain a pass to admit him to the Garibaldi ceremony but that he did not get the pass and could not pass through the cordons of troops which guarded the premier and the king and queen.

Bardellotto will be tried by the special tribunal for the defense of the state which sentenced another anarchist, Michael Schirru, to death for a similar plot in 1931.

Bardellotto's execution was considered certain. His arrest followed an attempt by a young French woman dressed in male attire to enter the Vatican gardens. The woman had no weapon. She was turned over to the French embassy.

Police said Bardellotto admitted he entered Italy from Switzerland with a forced passport made out to Angelo Galdini.
