Discoverer of North Pole to be Honored in Arctic

"Snow-Baby" Daughter of Admiral Peary With Expedition That Will Erect Memorial to Famous Father in White Wilderness Where She Was Born.

When the schooner Effie M. Morrissey recently sailed from New York for the bleak coast of Greenland, she carried, in addition to a number of scientists and masons, Mrs. Marie Ahnighito Peary Stafford, daughter of the late Admiral Robert Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, and her two sons, Peary, 14, and Edward, 12. The object of the expedition is the erection of a memorial to the great explorer at Cape York, 600 miles within the Arctic Circle. It will consist of a stone shaft 60 feet in height, surmounted by a rust-proof metal cap which will reflect the brilliance of the Arctic sun. On its base will be an engraved memorial tablet. When completed the monument will be unveiled by Mrs. Stafford. To the daughter of the famous Admiral the trip is also in the nature of a visit to her birthplace, for she was born during one of Peary's expeditions to the north and for that reason was known as the "Snow-Baby." Captain Robert Bartlett, who accompanied Peary on many of his ventures as skipper of the expedition. When the Admiral planted the Stars and Stripes at the top of the world in 1909 it was Captain Bob who sailed his north. Among those who waved a bon voyage to the Effie M. Morrissey was Mrs. Robert Peary, widow of the explorer, and many of Peary's old comrades. According to Captain Bartlett, the monument will take about two months to build and he expects to be back in New York in October.

New York.—One of the strangest expeditions ever to leave these shores sailed recently aboard the schooner Effie M. Morrissey, headed for bleak Cape York, 600 miles within the Arctic Circle, under the command of Captain Bob Bartlett, veteran of the ice floes.

Besides a crew of twenty-seven the ship carries a number of scientists, a gang of masons, who will erect a 60-foot memorial to Admiral Robert Peary, discoverer of the North Pole at Cape York, and last but not least, Mrs. Marie Ahnighito Stafford, of Washington, D. C. daughter of the Admiral.

To Mrs. Stafford the expedition is not only a tribute to her distinguished father, but is also a visit to the land of her birth, for she was born in the Arctic during one of Admiral Peary's many expeditions to the vicinity of the pole. And by reason of her first seeing the light of day in the great white wilderness, was picturesquely called the "Snow-Baby."

Accompanying their mother to the land of her birth are Mrs. Stafford's two sons, Peary, 14, and Edward, 12. The latter will have the distinction of being the youngest white boy to penetrate 600 miles within the Circle.

The memorial monument to Admiral Peary will be erected on a high plateau overlooking Cape York from an eminence of 1,600 feet and will be visible in clear weather from all seaward points. At the summit of the stone shaft will be a rust-proof metal cap that will reflect the brilliance of the Arctic sun and on the base will be an engraved memorial tablet. It will be unveiled by Mrs. Stafford.

Captain Bartlett estimated that the monument will take about two months to build—with the anticipated assistance of about 400 Eskimos—which means that the expedition ought to be back in New York next October. However, a lot depends on ice conditions.

Other nominees picked by the convention were: for lieutenant governor, Clifford Townsend, Marion; judge of the supreme court, third district, Judge James P.

Hughes, Greencastle; judge of the supreme court, fifth district, Michael F. Fansler, Logansport; judge of the appellate court, first division, William F. Dudine, Jasper; judge of the appellate court, second division, Ralph N. The Democrats' "temperance" plank urged that the 18th amendment and the Wright "bone dry" law be repealed, and that the issue be submitted to vote at conventions called in respective states under article five of the constitution, for this purpose. The plank is almost identical with that adopted at the Republican state convention.

less since Indiana mine owners were not participating.

A sub-committee of Indiana miners and owners agreed on the basic $4 scale last week. A reconvened session of the district No. 11 convention, U. M. W. of A., was summoned to consider the scale.

Springfield, Ill., June 22.—(U.P.)—Two members of the Illinois district mine union will be representatives at the bi-state wage scale conference of operators and mine leaders of Illinois and Indiana, Indianapolis today.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, called the conference and members of the executive board of the Illinois union decided here yesterday to send representatives.

A sub-committee of the district's wage scale group was delegated to go to Indianapolis. The group is composed of five members, but only two will be chosen to attend the conference.

Members of the group and John Moulton, Zeigler, chairman of the wage scale committee; John Reed, Springfield, John Sampson, Hillsboro, John H. Walker, president of the district; and Fox Hughes, Herrin, vice president. Those attending the conference will be without authority to take any action relative to approving a new wage scale, but have been instructed to report back to the scale committee.

Other miners attending yesterday's meeting of the district executive board who accompanied the sub-committee to Indianapolis include Zack Glasgow, John Demmoncourt, Thomas Cameron, Ray Edmundson and John Kenna.

The wage scale group met at the request of Governor L. Emmerson to seek an agreement on a new scale, but adjourned when no progress was made.

Now You Can Buy On Faith

"I talked with grandma the other day," said the young housewife. "I told her I dreaded this daily shopping—that I hardly knew where to begin. And she made me feel ashamed; she actually did!"

We know just about what her grandma told her. "In my day you would have dreaded shopping much more. It was a real chore then. From place to place you went, looking, looking, tasting this, sniffing at that, buying on suspicion and not on faith. You didn't know who made the things you bought; they didn't have labels; most of them weren't in packages.

"Now you know by name most of the things you buy. You buy a can of So-and-so's Beans today, and you know they'll be just the same when you buy them again. You read the advertisements in your paper, see where the best values are offered, make up your list, and out you go and get it over with in a jiffy! Count your blessings, my dear—they are many."

Trust the products advertised in this newspaper. Read the advertisements and simplify your shopping.
