statute and of course, the ruling of the federal or internal revenue department will control as to its application.

"It is our understanding of this statute that this tax is to be charged to the consumers."

"We do not know of any way in which the officials can avoid rendering statement of current used plus the 3 per cent federal tax."

The question will be determined at the meeting of the council next Tuesday. The three per cent tax is figured on the consumer's total bill. For an example, if the light bill is $3.00 for the month the tax will be nine cents.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COWLEY-FRIEDLE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at three o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went riding, alone, on the Motor Parkway.

Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edgar, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths. A strap picked up in Lola's room evidently caused the bruise on Christine's neck—after death. Everett confesses he lied about riding on the Motor Parkway. He states Christine told him she had discovered a plot to murder Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge, adding that Dr. Baldwin was involved. The picture of the young man found in the room is identified by the Paris Prefect of Police as that of Basil Boucher, a young bank clerk who met a dancer named Lola in Paris, robbed a bank to buy her a ruby, and then disappeared. Basil's parents sold medical laboratory specimens. Professor Luckner, a scientist, finds a scorpion's antenna—the instrument of death—among the particles of dust garnered from Lola's room. Colt is puzzled as there were no punctures visible on the bodies. Then Luckner calls Colt's attention to a neck of blood on the sleeve of Lola's robe which leads the Commissioner to surmise that Dr. Baldwin, when summoned to treat Lola, inserted his hypodermic needle into the puncture made in her arm by the scorpion. This belief is strengthened by the knowledge that Baldwin bought scorpions.

CHAPTER THIRTY

"LUCKNER is a queer old bird," the chief remarked. "Once he was offered a chair as professor of pathological anatomy at the University of Berlin. He turned it down because he did not like Berlin, and took a lesser job in Heidelberg. I think he is at heart a great detective but he will devote himself to criminal research only as a special favor to me. He has the gift of investigation and with all of the resources of science at his disposal, he could become one of our most valuable agents. Of course, he's old, but he could train his successor so that the work could go on when he grew too old or tired. But he will not hear of it. He regards detective work as degrading to a scientist. He says he is not interested in catching the criminal but he wants to understand the crime. But this time he has made, in an amazingly short period, a truly extraordinary discovery. Whoever is guilty must certainly consider himself beyond detection."

Again he relaxed into silence, as the car sped on through Central Park in a weaving diagonal route—a speedy one-way passage since Colt had put into effect the new traffic regulations. And then a vicious warning through the tangled traffic across Fifth Avenue and into the park of the far East Side where, on the water-front, majestic modern apartment houses flourished today in uneasy democracy with slaughter-houses and tenements.

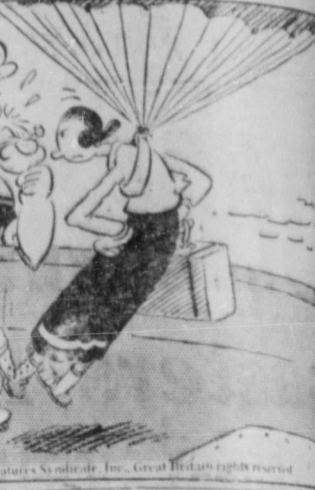

Montevideo said that the Uruguayan government had made no formal protest regarding the alleged unfriendly Argentine attitude.

"Biddy" Overambitious Delta Col.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Ralph Johnson's prize biddy evidently doesn't read the market reports and get the latest information on the low price of eggs. Biddy conscientiously lays an egg a day, even though the price now for such delicacies is one cent each. One day, overambitious, "Biddy" laid two eggs. Needless to say, her egg-laying record is near perfect.

Joties Pick Peas The Dallas, Ore.—(U.P.)—Some 500 unemployed went to work here as picking started of a $70,000 pea

SHOOTING CASE SIMMERS DOWN

Action In Reynolds Shooting Case Depends On Evidence Gathered

Winston Salem, N. C., July 14—(U.P.)—The Smith Reynolds shooting case was believed to have drifted today into a long investigation which may or may not reveal how the 20-year-old heir to the R. J. Reynolds millions was shot to death last Wednesday.

The grand jury was discharged late yesterday without acting on the case. It will be several weeks before a new grand jury is convened. The jury discharged yesterday gave the matter no consideration.

It was considered certain that unless more evidence is developed, authorities will not ask the next grand jury to act. It can act of its own accord, however, or there may be developments which will change the situation.

Albert Walker is the only major character in the drama which has centered around the mysterious shooting of Libby Holman's husband who remains in Winston-Salem. He is at the home of his parents here, in seclusion. No one except members of the family and intimate friends see him. He is reported to be badly shaken by the death of Reynolds who was his close friend, and by the ordeal through which he himself has gone.

Through his attorney, Walker has made it known that he has said in his evidence all that he has to say on the case and that he cannot add more.

Fire apparatus from Long Island, companies from Manhattan, and two fire boats from Coney Island crowded the local force.

A dozen airplanes zoomed overhead and a blimp loomed among them during the fire.

The flames cut through cables and isolated Coney from New York City.

Police bundled many frightened women into patrol wagons hurried them to station houses safety pending communication relatives.

More than 300 children were stored to their homes in the morning, unless in the company of a parent or guardian.

So far as could be learned today, the rubbish bounties of greatest Coney Island fire 1911. It left this toll.

Damage, $2,000,000, according to Fire Marshall Thomas P. B. About 200 persons received injuries.

Boardwalk burned along a foot front, with all adjacent buildings.

At least 50 dwelling two apartment houses, and several amusement buildings destroyed.

Nearly 200 automobiles on along streets bridged by the consumed or damaged buildings.

Among the better known places in ruins today were the Plaza, the Streets of the Plaza, the Premier Bath, the Bath, Shumer's Bath, the Bath Pavilion, and the Bath Annex.

In 1911 Coney Island suffered $5,000,000 fire, a blaze that ended all of dreamland.

Mrs. Vincent Bendix To Sue For Divorce

Chicago, July 14—(U.P.)—Vincent Bendix, wife of the airplane manufacturer, announced she would file suit for divorce today.

She said the action which he on grounds of desertion was uncontested. A property settlement of $2,000,000 has been arranged of court Mrs. Bendix said.
