Paris Styles

By Mary Knight
Press Staff Correspondent
(UP)—For right now, Paris styles are resting on their laurels. They are not yet ready to show their full glory, but they are beginning to show their heads. They are coming in all shapes and sizes, and they are all very different from the styles of last year. They are all very new, and they are all very interesting. They are all very different from the styles of last year. They are all very new, and they are all very interesting. They are all very different from the styles of last year. Proud to show visitors our

potless factories

Like to know that the food you eat are made under sanitary conditions. That's why we are always delighted to show people see "where Kellogg's Corn Flakes are made." We have thousands of visitors every year, who take home with them a picture of sunlit fields, gleaming machinery, employees in fresh white uniforms, of cleanliness and quality. If you ever want to see Kellogg's we hope you will stop and see us.

was held, over which Miss Hazel Yake presided. A demonstration "How to Fold a Pillow Case Exhibit" was given by Pollyanna Lehman.
Rachel Helmrich and Aldine Bultemeier gave a few recitations which were followed by a song by Hazel Yake. The leader announced the county exhibit and Mothers Day, and also told about a demonstration team. The Misses Alice Reichard and Pollyanna Lehman were chosen the contestants.
Miss Phyllis Dilling was a guest at the meeting. Refreshments were served by the Misses Miriam Hoffman, Marjorie Dilling and Aldine Bultemeier.

The annual Fruechte reunion will be held at the Mart Fruechte farm home, one mile north of Magley, Sunday, August 14.

CLUB GIRLS ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

The members of the Jefferson Township 4-H Club were hostesses Tuesday evening to their mothers and leaders at a party held in the Jefferson township school building.

A short program consisting of songs, readings and a playlet entitled, "The Naughty Mouse" was enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and lemonade were served by the members.

Those present were the Mesdames Gilbert Hirsch, Frank Heistand, Paul Butcher, Joe Robin, James Kenney, Albert Inelchen, Daniel Baker, Herbert Daily, Jacob Reef, Leslie Sprunger, and the Misses Madeline and Marcella Robin, Helen Kenney and LaVon Massen.

SOCIETY INTERESTING MEETING OF PHOEBE BIBLE CLASS

Twenty-one members of the Phoebe Bible class of the Zion Reformed Sunday School and six guests attended the meeting of the organization which was held at the home of Mrs. Erwin Miller, Wednesday evening.

The Miller home was decorated with bouquets of pretty summer garden flowers. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Ralph Yager, and a short business session was held.

Mrs. A. R. Fiedlerjohann who will leave Decatur soon for New Knoxville, O., gave a farewell talk. Games were enjoyed during the social hour and prize winners were the Mesdames Peter Vitz, Carl Baumgartner, and David Adams.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, the Mesdames Erwin Miller, Floyd Hunter, Charles Belneke, and Miss Matilda Sellemeyer.

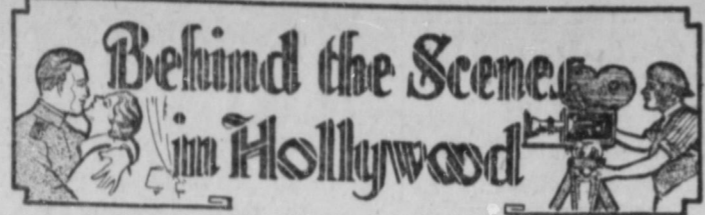

The Urick reunion which was scheduled to have been held at Sun Set Park near Decatur, Sunday, August 28, has been postponed until a later date. An announcement of the definite date of the reunion will be announced soon.

MISS NAOMI BUTLER HONORED WITH PARTY

Honoring Miss Naomi Butler of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is spending her vacation with relatives and friends in this city, Mrs. Brie Butler entertained with a party of pretty appointments Wednesday evening. A color note of yellow and green was attractively carried out, and low bowls of zinnias were an added decoration.

Five games of bridge were played and at the conclusion of each game prizes were awarded to the two ladies having high scores. The grand prize was awarded to Mrs. T. C. Smith, and Miss Helen Walters received the consolation prize. The honor guest, Miss Butler, was presented with a lovely gift.

At the close of the games a delicious two course luncheon, effectively carrying out the evening's

If your chin looks too square, if your face shows up too plump in that recent portrait, then your photographer isn't up on the tricks of his trade.

Marlene Dietrich

Bert Longworth, Paramount still-man and a veteran of 14 years' experience, tells some of the ways in which the camera can be made to correct a y desired irregularity of feature.

You may not know it, but Richard Barthelmess also has a square chin. But the cameramen take care of this by the simple trick of shooting high on his face.

When a star has a prominent nose, the cameraman highlights nose and chin, so the eye will not be attracted to any one feature.

For the last week all of the studio commissaries have been crowded with Olympic games athletes. Two cameramen were discussing it the other noon.

BOULEVARD TALK.

Will Rogers got his wish. His picture won't start for a week, giving the comedian time to see some of the Olympic games. . . . Nearly all of the stars turned out for the opening day ceremonies. In some cases schedules were re-arranged to allow this. . . . Lita Grey Chaplin returned here yesterday and will go into conference with Fox officials about the picture in which her two sons make their film debut. . . . Instead of the usual studio luncheon, Elissa Landi had the Italian Olympic team up to her home. . . . A new pair of ball-room dancers, Enrico and Novello, are attracting attention at the Frolies here. Saw Harry Langdon dancing with Marjorie Ainsley at this bright-light spot.

And Monroe Owsley seems to be interested in Milla Sonda, the blues singer. . . . Out at Fox a couple of German Olympic officials asked Will Rogers if it were true that he will sing in his new picture. The comedian grinned sheepishly. "Well," he replied, "you'd do a lot during depression that you wouldn't do in good times."

Lowell Sherman

How would you like to see Clara Bow play "Zaza"? Lowell Sherman is trying to persuade Sam Rork to allow the red-headed star to play this colorful role as her next picture.
