

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS, BUSINESS CARDS, AND NOTICES

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Virgin wool comfort hats plain and cheese cloth covered. J. G. Niblick, Phone 191 225-47

FOR SALE—Let us sell or trade your farm in 60 days. Kissling Realty Company 536 Kinsmore, Fort Wayne. g252-151

FOR SALE—Full blooded Shropshire ewe lambs, 6c a pound. J. D. Stoutenberry, route 5. 254a31x

FOR SALE—Northern Spy apples, picked or fallen. None better for cooking or eating. Vinegar and apple butter, delivered. Mrs. Dale D. Moses, phone 6782. g254-31

FOR SALE—New and used Fordson tractors, 1 used Hart Parr. See us for used tractor parts and plow points. Craigville Garage. Oct 17-25-28

HAT SALE
My stock of hats will be closed out regardless of cost. Nothing higher than $2.00. Some hats as low as 50 cents.
Maud A. Merriman
222 S. 4th st. F-5

FOR SALE—Alfalfa seed. Samuel L. Schwartz, Monroe route 2 or 2 miles south of Monroe. 255a21x

FOR SALE—1 pure bred Shropshire Ram; Wm. Miller phone 8643 255-34

FOR SALE—2-day-old Durham calf. John Selking, Hoagland phone. Two miles east of Hoagland on the Hoagland road. g255-31x

FOR SALE—Sand grown potatoes, 45c per bushel. Helmrich store at Magley. 255-31x

WANTED

WANTED—Watches and clocks to repair. Work guaranteed, prices reasonable. Shop located at Green Walters. Phone 248 residences 122 North 15th. St. Roy Lehman. a 255-31x

WANTED—RADIO AND ELECTRIC AL WORK. Tubes tested free. Phone 625 MILLER RADIO SERVICE. a 225-301

WANTED—Young ewes. Willing to pay Roosevelt prices. L. E. Snyder, Wren, Ohio. a255-31x

WANTED TO BUY—Canners, Cutters and fat cows. Call William Butler, phone 274. a255-41x

Liquor Concoctions Cause Many Deaths

Indianapolis, Oct. 28—(UP)—Liquor concoctions prepared from "pure grain alcohol" caused the second greatest number of annual deaths in the nation, according to charts exhibited by the International Medical assembly in session here this week.

Carbon monoxide poisoning takes the greatest toll, the charts showed, in one year, this form of poisoning claimed 4,920 lives, grain alcohol caused 4,627 deaths, wood alcohol 398, carbolic acid, 761, strychnine 461, and morphine 56.

Biblical Note

The word reversed occurs only once in the Bible. "Holy and reverend is his name."

APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTORS
Notice is hereby given, That the undersigned has been appointed Executor of the Estate of Ellen E. Colter late of Adams County, deceased. The Estate is probably solvent.
Ben S. Colter and Earl D. Colter
Oct. 13 1932 Oct. 14-21-28

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS
Notice is hereby given that Monday, November 1, 1932 will be the last day to pay your Fall installment of taxes. The county treasurer's office will be open from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. during the tax paying season. All taxes not paid by that time will become delinquent and a 2% penalty will be added. Also interest at the rate of 8% will be charged from the date of delinquency until paid. Those who have bought or sold property and wish a division of taxes are asked to come in at once. Call on the Auditor for errors and any reductions. The Treasurer can make no corrections.

The Treasurer will not be responsible for the penalty of delinquent taxes resulting from the omission of tax-payer to state definitely on what property, they desire to pay, in whose name it may be found, in what township or corporation it is situated.

Persons owing delinquent taxes should pay them at once, the law is such that there is no option left for the Treasurer but enforce the collection of delinquent taxes.

The annual sale of delinquent lands and lots will take place on the second Monday in February 1933 at 10:00 A. M.

County orders will not be paid to anyone owing delinquent taxes. All persons are warned against them. No receipts or checks will be held after expiration of time as the new depository law requires the Treasurer to make such deposit.

Particular attention, if you pay taxes in more than one township mention the fact to the Treasurer also see that your receipts call for all your real estate and personal property.

In making inquiries of the Treasurer regarding taxes to insure rapidly do not fail to include return postage.

JOHN WECHTER
Treasurer Adams County, Indiana
Oct. 13 to Nov. 7

DR. C. V. CONNELL
VETERINARIAN

Special attention given to diseases of cattle and poultry.
Office and Res. 508 No. 3rd St.
PHONE 102.

MARKET REPORTS

DAILY REPORT OF LOCAL AND FOREIGN MARKETS

BERNE MARKET
Corrected Oct. 28

No commission and no yardage

Pigs	$2.90
140 to 220 pounds	$3.00
220 to 250 pounds	$2.80
250 to 350 pounds	$2.90
Roughs	$2.25
Roughs	$2.40
Stags	$1.25
Veals	$5.25
Lambs	$4.75

INDIANAPOLIS LIVESTOCK

Indianapolis, Oct. 28. — (UP) —

Livestock:

Hogs, 8,000; holdovers, 323; mostly 10c off; 100-200 lbs., $3.15-$3.25; latter for most 120-150 lbs.; 200-325 lbs., $3.05-$3.15; packing sows, $2.25-$2.85.

Cattle, 500; calves, 500; little changed; several loads light steers valued around $8; other supplies mostly odd head and she stock; some heifers, $3-$5.50; most cows, $2.40-$3.25; practical top, $3.50; low cutters and cutters, $1-$2.25; veals, steady, $5.50 down.

Sheep: 1,200; lambs, steady; bulk good and choice, $5-$5.50; some bucks, $4.25-$4.50; throwouts down to $2.50.

East Buffalo Livestock

Hogs on sale, 4,300; general trade 15-20c below Thursday's average; fairly active at decline; Bulk desirable 120-250 $3.65; few outstanding kinds held about $3.70; odd lots, plainer kinds and weights butchers $3.35-$3.60.

Cattle receipts 50; cows unchanged; cutter grades $1.2.

Calf receipts 400; vealers active, 50c higher; good to choice largely $6.50; common and medium $4.5-5.0.

Sheep receipts 1,300; lambs strong to 15c higher; good and choice $5.75-6; common and medium $4.50-$5.25; mostly $5.00 and down; fat ewes $2 and $2.50.

FORT WAYNE LIVESTOCK
Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 28. — (UP) —

Livestock. Hogs market 20 cents lower; 140 lbs. down $2.85; 140 to 175 lbs. $2.95; 170 to 200, $3.10; 200 to 250 lbs. $3.00; 250 to 300 lbs. $3.00 roughs $1 to $2.50; stags $1 to $1.50; Calves $5.50; Ewes and wethers, $4.75, bucks $3.75.

CHICAGO GRAIN CLOSE

Wheat	Dec.	May	July
	45%	50%	52%
Corn	24%	29%	31%
Oats	15%	17%	18%

LOCAL GRAIN MARKET
Corrected Oct. 28

No. 1 New Wheat, 60 lbs. or better 38c

No. 2 New Wheat, 28 lbs. 37c

Old or New Oats 11c

Soy Beans 30c

No. 3 White Corn 20c

No. 3 Yellow Corn 25c

LOCAL GROCERS EGG MARKET
Eggs 24c

Antarctic Lights

The Antarctic region has its counterpart of the famous northern lights—the Aurora Australis.

Roy H. Andress

LICENSED
CHIROPRACTOR
North 2nd St.

Above Schmitt Meat Market.
Phone 1193

G. J. KOHNE, MD.
Physician-Surgeon

Announcing the opening of an office at the corner of Third and Jefferson sts.

Phones, 445 office-Residence 359
Office Hours 10 to 11:30 a.m.
1 to 4 p.m. 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

N. A. BIXLER
OPTOMETRIST

Eyes Examined, Glasses Fitted
HOURS:

8:30 to 11:30—12:30 to 5:00
Saturdays, 8:00 p. m.
Telephone 136

For Better Health See

Dr. H. Frohnapfel
Licensed

Chiropractor and Naturopath

Office Hours: 10 to 12 a. m.
1 to 5 p. m., 6 to 8 p. m.
Phone 314 191 So. 3rd st.

S. E. BLACK
Funeral Director

When you are troubled by grief it is a comfort to know your cares will be fittingly taken care of.

500 — Phone — 747
Lady Assistant
Ambulance Service.

THIMBLE THEATER

WHUDDLE!
By FRANCIS WALLACE
A GREAT FOOTBALL ROMANCE
COPYRIGHT 1930, BY FRANCIS WALLACE — DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Ted Wynne left his position in the Bellport steel mill to work his way through Old Dominion College so he might be the equal of the wealthy Barb Roth. He succeeds creditably. Coach Barney Mack makes him a quarterback on his nationally known Blue Comets. The first year they lose one game only, for which Tom Stone, Ted's rival in love and football, blames Ted. Barb breaks an appointment with Ted in favor of Tom. Hurt, Ted decides to teach her a lesson and ignores her. In the company of beautiful Rosalie Downs, Ted forgets Barb for a while, but back at school she holds his thoughts. Softened by a summer of forced leisure and after-effects of a hand infection, Ted is not in his usual form. The team is also handicapped by the absence of Captain Jim Davis due to an injury. Having lost twice, with four more games to go, the Blue Comets are "blue." Never before had Old Dominion made such a poor showing. Then comes the Army game. The boys are on edge, and with an encouraging word from Barney prepare to battle for the restoration of their reputation.

CHAPTER XXVII

The press box, built in for the football season in Section 22 of the mezzanine where it would be protected from the weather, was the serious, laboring hive of the buzzing throng. Typewriters clicked in staccato, stopping only when their operators looked against the horizon, seeking to snare an elusive thought, or blew upon their fingers to warm them. Telegraph operators maintained a steady drone upon their instruments.

Spike Parker, stationed there to identify the New Dominion players, looked over the big shot writers and was not edified; if these guys could crash New York he could—all of them came from little towns anyhow. Knowing them by their work he was frequently surprised, sometimes shocked, at seeing them in the flesh.

Rice, Pegler, Vidmer, Runyan, Kelly—those looked like Spike's idea of a romantic sport writer; but a lot of these other mugs might be driving ice wagons or keeping books. Fat ones, thin ones, gray-beards, baldheads, guys in rain coats and fur coats—and one big guy with a vacuum bottle, a camel coat and a windbreaker to cover his legs.

Bill McGeehan and his iron-gray head, rolling his own cigarettes, spilling the tobacco all over; Bill Hanna, the best football reporter of them all, a little crusty chap; Damon Runyan, a swell writer, looking cynical and dressed fancy; John Kieran, pulling on a pipe; George Daley, academic as a prof; Dan Parker, big as Carnegie, Bill Corum, a stout young cupid; Joe Williams, cynical as Runyan but not so fancy. Walter Trumbull smiling at everybody. Paul Gallico, with the displacement of a traffic cop.

Spike, knowing his business as a publicity man, had parked himself among the press service men who served the entire country—Alan Gould, young-looking for his big job with the A. P.; Frank Getty and his trick mustache, covering the U. P. and Dave Walsh, cryptically serving the L.N.S.

Spike listened carefully for their comments; caught their dictation as some of them talked their running stories to the operators—Spike was interested on his own account, and Barney was always asking him what the reporters thought about this and that.

"Who has the New Dominion lineup?"

"I've got one but what's the use

marketed—where there was a market—for $1.50 a ton. Coal sold in the same towns at $4 a ton and consequently huge quantities of corn are expected to be burned in winter stores of farm homes.

In the northwest states many farmers were unable to find anyone who would even bid on their wheat despite prices so low they faced ruin.

Causes underlying the present

precipitate break in world wheat prices are explained as largely due to Canada's fierce desire to rid herself of an enormous surplus by selling wheat in the world market cheaper than any other nation.

ANOTHER TRUCK LOAD OF APPLES
Baldwins, per basket . . . 69c
Jonathans, per basket . . . 69c
Grimes Golden, basket . . . 79c
BELL'S CASH GROCERY

SHOWING—"ONE BELL (dumb) AND ALL'S WELL"

WHUDDLE!
By FRANCIS WALLACE
A GREAT FOOTBALL ROMANCE
COPYRIGHT 1930, BY FRANCIS WALLACE — DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Ted Wynne left his position in the Bellport steel mill to work his way through Old Dominion College so he might be the equal of the wealthy Barb Roth. He succeeds creditably. Coach Barney Mack makes him a quarterback on his nationally known Blue Comets. The first year they lose one game only, for which Tom Stone, Ted's rival in love and football, blames Ted. Barb breaks an appointment with Ted in favor of Tom. Hurt, Ted decides to teach her a lesson and ignores her. In the company of beautiful Rosalie Downs, Ted forgets Barb for a while, but back at school she holds his thoughts. Softened by a summer of forced leisure and after-effects of a hand infection, Ted is not in his usual form. The team is also handicapped by the absence of Captain Jim Davis due to an injury. Having lost twice, with four more games to go, the Blue Comets are "blue." Never before had Old Dominion made such a poor showing. Then comes the Army game. The boys are on edge, and with an encouraging word from Barney prepare to battle for the restoration of their reputation.

CHAPTER XXVII

The press box, built in for the football season in Section 22 of the mezzanine where it would be protected from the weather, was the serious, laboring hive of the buzzing throng. Typewriters clicked in staccato, stopping only when their operators looked against the horizon, seeking to snare an elusive thought, or blew upon their fingers to warm them. Telegraph operators maintained a steady drone upon their instruments.

Spike Parker, stationed there to identify the New Dominion players, looked over the big shot writers and was not edified; if these guys could crash New York he could—all of them came from little towns anyhow. Knowing them by their work he was frequently surprised, sometimes shocked, at seeing them in the flesh.

Rice, Pegler, Vidmer, Runyan, Kelly—those looked like Spike's idea of a romantic sport writer; but a lot of these other mugs might be driving ice wagons or keeping books. Fat ones, thin ones, gray-beards, baldheads, guys in rain coats and fur coats—and one big guy with a vacuum bottle, a camel coat and a windbreaker to cover his legs.

Bill McGeehan and his iron-gray head, rolling his own cigarettes, spilling the tobacco all over; Bill Hanna, the best football reporter of them all, a little crusty chap; Damon Runyan, a swell writer, looking cynical and dressed fancy; John Kieran, pulling on a pipe; George Daley, academic as a prof; Dan Parker, big as Carnegie, Bill Corum, a stout young cupid; Joe Williams, cynical as Runyan but not so fancy. Walter Trumbull smiling at everybody. Paul Gallico, with the displacement of a traffic cop.

Spike, knowing his business as a publicity man, had parked himself among the press service men who served the entire country—Alan Gould, young-looking for his big job with the A. P.; Frank Getty and his trick mustache, covering the U. P. and Dave Walsh, cryptically serving the L.N.S.

Spike listened carefully for their comments; caught their dictation as some of them talked their running stories to the operators—Spike was interested on his own account, and Barney was always asking him what the reporters thought about this and that.

"Who has the New Dominion lineup?"

"I've got one but what's the use

marketed—where there was a market—for $1.50 a ton. Coal sold in the same towns at $4 a ton and consequently huge quantities of corn are expected to be burned in winter stores of farm homes.

In the northwest states many farmers were unable to find anyone who would even bid on their wheat despite prices so low they faced ruin.

Causes underlying the present

precipitate break in world wheat prices are explained as largely due to Canada's fierce desire to rid herself of an enormous surplus by selling wheat in the world market cheaper than any other nation.

ANOTHER TRUCK LOAD OF APPLES
Baldwins, per basket . . . 69c
Jonathans, per basket . . . 69c
Grimes Golden, basket . . . 79c
BELL'S CASH GROCERY

SHOWING—"ONE BELL (dumb) AND ALL'S WELL"

WHUDDLE!
By FRANCIS WALLACE
A GREAT FOOTBALL ROMANCE
COPYRIGHT 1930, BY FRANCIS WALLACE — DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Ted Wynne left his position in the Bellport steel mill to work his way through Old Dominion College so he might be the equal of the wealthy Barb Roth. He succeeds creditably. Coach Barney Mack makes him a quarterback on his nationally known Blue Comets. The first year they lose one game only, for which Tom Stone, Ted's rival in love and football, blames Ted. Barb breaks an appointment with Ted in favor of Tom. Hurt, Ted decides to teach her a lesson and ignores her. In the company of beautiful Rosalie Downs, Ted forgets Barb for a while, but back at school she holds his thoughts. Softened by a summer of forced leisure and after-effects of a hand infection, Ted is not in his usual form. The team is also handicapped by the absence of Captain Jim Davis due to an injury. Having lost twice, with four more games to go, the Blue Comets are "blue." Never before had Old Dominion made such a poor showing. Then comes the Army game. The boys are on edge, and with an encouraging word from Barney prepare to battle for the restoration of their reputation.

CHAPTER XXVII

The press box, built in for the football season in Section 22 of the mezzanine where it would be protected from the weather, was the serious, laboring hive of the buzzing throng. Typewriters clicked in staccato, stopping only when their operators looked against the horizon, seeking to snare an elusive thought, or blew upon their fingers to warm them. Telegraph operators maintained a steady drone upon their instruments.

Spike Parker, stationed there to identify the New Dominion players, looked over the big shot writers and was not edified; if these guys could crash New York he could—all of them came from little towns anyhow. Knowing them by their work he was frequently surprised, sometimes shocked, at seeing them in the flesh.

Rice, Pegler, Vidmer, Runyan, Kelly—those looked like Spike's idea of a romantic sport writer; but a lot of these other mugs might be driving ice wagons or keeping books. Fat ones, thin ones, gray-beards, baldheads, guys in rain coats and fur coats—and one big guy with a vacuum bottle, a camel coat and a windbreaker to cover his legs.

Bill McGeehan and his iron-gray head, rolling his own cigarettes, spilling the tobacco all over; Bill Hanna, the best football reporter of them all, a little crusty chap; Damon Runyan, a swell writer, looking cynical and dressed fancy; John Kieran, pulling on a pipe; George Daley, academic as a prof; Dan Parker, big as Carnegie, Bill Corum, a stout young cupid; Joe Williams, cynical as Runyan but not so fancy. Walter Trumbull smiling at everybody. Paul Gallico, with the displacement of a traffic cop.

Spike, knowing his business as a publicity man, had parked himself among the press service men who served the entire country—Alan Gould, young-looking for his big job with the A. P.; Frank Getty and his trick mustache, covering the U. P. and Dave Walsh, cryptically serving the L.N.S.

Spike listened carefully for their comments; caught their dictation as some of them talked their running stories to the operators—Spike was interested on his own account, and Barney was always asking him what the reporters thought about this and that.

"Who has the New Dominion lineup?"

"I've got one but what's the use

marketed—where there was a market—for $1.50 a ton. Coal sold in the same towns at $4 a ton and consequently huge quantities of corn are expected to be burned in winter stores of farm homes.

In the northwest states many farmers were unable to find anyone who would even bid on their wheat despite prices so low they faced ruin.

Causes underlying the present

precipitate break in world wheat prices are explained as largely due to Canada's fierce desire to rid herself of an enormous surplus by selling wheat in the world market cheaper than any other nation.

ANOTHER TRUCK LOAD OF APPLES
Baldwins, per basket . . . 69c
Jonathans, per basket . . . 69c
Grimes Golden, basket . . . 79c
BELL'S CASH GROCERY

SHOWING—"ONE BELL (dumb) AND ALL'S WELL"

WHUDDLE!
By FRANCIS WALLACE
A GREAT FOOTBALL ROMANCE
COPYRIGHT 1930, BY FRANCIS WALLACE — DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Ted Wynne left his position in the Bellport steel mill to work his way through Old Dominion College so he might be the equal of the wealthy Barb Roth. He succeeds creditably. Coach Barney Mack makes him a quarterback on his nationally known Blue Comets. The first year they lose one game only, for which Tom Stone, Ted's rival in love and football, blames Ted. Barb breaks an appointment with Ted in favor of Tom. Hurt, Ted decides to teach her a lesson and ignores her. In the company of beautiful Rosalie Downs, Ted forgets Barb for a while, but back at school she holds his thoughts. Softened by a summer of forced leisure and after-effects of a hand infection, Ted is not in his usual form. The team is also handicapped by the absence of Captain Jim Davis due to an injury. Having lost twice, with four more games to go, the Blue Comets are "blue." Never before had Old Dominion made such a poor showing. Then comes the Army game. The boys are on edge, and with an encouraging word from Barney prepare to battle for the restoration of their reputation.

CHAPTER XXVII

The press box, built in for the football season in Section 22 of the mezzanine where it would be protected from the weather, was the serious, laboring hive of the buzzing throng. Typewriters clicked in staccato, stopping only when their operators looked against the horizon, seeking to snare an elusive thought, or blew upon their fingers to warm them. Telegraph operators maintained a steady drone upon their instruments.

Spike Parker, stationed there to identify the New Dominion players, looked over the big shot writers and was not edified; if these guys could crash New York he could—all of them came from little towns anyhow. Knowing them by their work he was frequently surprised, sometimes shocked, at seeing them in the flesh.

Rice, Pegler, Vidmer, Runyan, Kelly—those looked like Spike's idea of a romantic sport writer; but a lot of these other mugs might be driving ice wagons or keeping books. Fat ones, thin ones, gray-beards, baldheads, guys in rain coats and fur coats—and one big guy with a vacuum bottle, a camel coat and a windbreaker to cover his legs.

Bill McGeehan and his iron-gray head, rolling his own cigarettes, spilling the tobacco all over; Bill Hanna, the best football reporter of them all, a little crusty chap; Damon Runyan, a swell writer, looking cynical and dressed fancy; John Kieran, pulling on a pipe; George Daley, academic as a prof; Dan Parker, big as Carnegie, Bill Corum, a stout young cupid; Joe Williams, cynical as Runyan but not so fancy. Walter Trumbull smiling at everybody. Paul Gallico, with the displacement of a traffic cop.

Spike, knowing his business as a publicity man, had parked himself among the press service men who served the entire country—Alan Gould, young-looking for his big job with the A. P.; Frank Getty and his trick mustache, covering the U. P. and Dave Walsh, cryptically serving the L.N.S.

Spike listened carefully for their comments; caught their dictation as some of them talked their running stories to the operators—Spike was interested on his own account, and Barney was always asking him what the reporters thought about this and that.

"Who has the New Dominion lineup?"

"I've got one but what's the use

marketed—where there was a market—for $1.50 a ton. Coal sold in the same towns at $4 a ton and consequently huge quantities of corn are expected to be burned in winter stores of farm homes.