The distribution of the gasoline taxes will help considerably, the amount for Adams county being more than $36,000 and for the city of Decatur $2,162.

Business at the county clerk's office seems to be keeping up to that of normal times with 373 cases filed during last year and 217 marriage licenses issued.

Two hundred people met tragic deaths over New Years. Only ten of them, however, were charged to poison liquor, indicating that the bootleggers must be getting a safer brand of stuff.

The bandits are at it again and bank hold-ups, club robberies and similar crimes are being reported. Its queer how these things seem to go in cycles. Just when we think its all over and people have settled down to be decent, here comes another outbreak of about every thing ever heard of.

James W. Clark of Chicago is the head of the "Made in America" club and is getting some where with his campaign to secure the support of manufacturers, jobbers and every one else to put over the buy American made goods movement. Of course its sound and eventually we will be forced to do so. Why not start before we have to and save that much time?

The receipt of checks from the receivers of the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company is a welcome incident and comes at a time when every one fortunate enough to have a balance due from the 1930 crop, will appreciate it. Those in charge of the work declare they will secure the balance in a comparative short time, which is further good news that should encourage many folks.

Farm Bureau began this morning with H. R. Moltz as manager and Miss Fanny Hammel as assistant. The company is owned by an association of Farm Bureaus in eight counties in this part of the state and it is expected the business will be doubled during the next year. Mr. Moltz is enthusiastically hopeful of the future and anticipates an excellent showing the first year and the growth of the institution each year thereafter.

The 1933 session of the Indiana legislature starts off tomorrow and within another week will be going at full tilt. It is the expressed desire of Governor McNutt and other leaders that the work progress with speed. A program has been laid out and it will be the desire of those in charge to put this through as quickly as possible, one of the promises to the voters. Of course we usually start off with enthusiasm but soon get into a jam. Somehow or other we feel that this one is to be different and that there will be some real results for the people.

Twenty per cent of the vehicles which travel on United States highway No. 40 in Richmond are classed as of the commercial type in a survey which the state highway department made here. The local data with that collected at more than eight hundred points in the state was submitted to Prof. W. G. Starr of Indiana university for analysis. He came to the conclusion that the increase of commercial type vehicles on United States 40 and other important arterial highways would continue. The increase in the use of the highway by the commercial type of car indicates that the highway department will be compelled to consider this factor in any future policy it may establish for those thoroughfares which are direct routes for trucks and busses. An increase rather than a decrease in the use of the highways by this type naturally involves wider thoroughfares and also the establishment of regulations which are not applicable to those roads which are principally used by passenger cars. On the section of United States 40 surveyed near Richmond, 20 per cent of the cars were using it for commercial purposes, as compared with 7 per cent in 1925.—Richmond Palladium.

Woolen Trousers

After woolen trousers are laundered do not wring them nor sprinkle them. Take off the line when nearly dry and fold as when purchased. Then wring out a towel wet in clear water, cover the trousers with it and iron until the towel is perfectly dry.

Preventing Fires

Do not save cotton waste that has been used for polishing furniture. This waste may cause a fire by spontaneous combustion.

Glass and China

Glassware and china dishes will be bright and shiny if they are washed in borax water, without soap, then rinsed and dried.

chine gun. Sheriff Charles Wienecke ordered a hunt for the weapon.

Men fell rapidly as the bullets sung through the crowd. One bullet, apparently a stray, struck Mrs. Comulatio as she stood at the doorway of her home watching the conflict. Bodens, one of the first men to leave the mine, went down with the first outburst.

The battle was fierce but brief. Almost as soon as the first burst of firing was over, many stopped fighting to care for the wounded. The hospital here was crowded. Some victims were taken to Springfield and a number were cared for in their homes.

The 32 men rounded up by Sheriff Wienecke were to be questioned concerning their part in the fray. Murder charges will be filed against some, he declared.

Wienecke said the pickets had come to the mine prepared for a battle. He said they were armed with guns, baseball bats, hickory clubs and knives.

Major Omer Davenport, Decatur, Ill., of the Illinois National guard, was sent here to observe the situation and to report to Adjutant General Carlos Black if the militia was needed to preserve order.

Fatal conflicts between the mine factions, police, deputies and guardsmen have occurred at intervals for months. The mines communities have been in a state of tension since a group of miners split with the long-organized United Mine Workers over questions of policy. The new union has sought to halt operation of mines by members of the opposing union.
