(UP)—The Countess Potoczek has selected from Schiaparelli the number 422 hat collection which is made of smart shade of dark blue jersey with a seam of the front and the material of the bias. The fulness in the front starts well below the crown and a very high waisted crown is secured by the contrast of the snowy ermine. The crown is broadened by two bands of fur on each side, like tiny puff sleeves. Countess Potoczek also ordered a hat of shirred velvet ribbon that new pale straw color. Of the most popular costumes of the season, the Countess Potoczek's recent showings to her customers is made of heavy crepe. It has an asymmetrical yoke with a V decolleté and sleeves that are intricately draped between shoulder and where they finish in a narrow cuff.

I. U. CONDUCTS STATE CONTEST

State School Will Conduct Four Contests Again This Year

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 26. (Special)—Adams county high school teachers have been notified by the Indiana university extension division of four contests which the university will conduct this year for high school students of Indiana. Contests will be held in Latin, public speaking, mathematics, and music, with Mrs. Adela Bittner in direct charge. Approximately 19,000 Indiana students participated in the I. U. contests last year.

This will be the 10th consecutive year for the Latin contest, which is divided into four divisions covering the various stages in the study of Latin. Enrollments for this contest must be filed by Feb. 15. Local meets will be conducted as soon after that as possible, with the county meets scheduled for March 25. District meets will be held April 8 and the state meet April 21 at Indiana university. First place winners in each congressional district will be entered in the state meet.

The mathematics contest, which is being conducted for the third year, will cover first year algebra and plane geometry. Enrollments for this contest also must be filed by Feb. 15. Sectional meets will be held in about 20 different centers on April 1 and the 50 contestants in each of these meets who make the highest grades will compete in the finals. The representatives for the sectional meets will be determined by local authorities on the basis of two from each school with an enrollment of 500 or less and one additional contestant for each additional 1,000 or major fraction thereof. The state meet will be held April 14 at the university.

The question for the discussion league contest, which will be conducted for the 20th consecutive year, is "Resolved, that at least one-half of all state and local revenues should be derived from sources other than tangible property." The dates for the contest are as follows: local, on or before March 17; county, on or before March 24; district, on or before April 14; and the state meet April 28 at Indiana university. The first place winners in each district meet will be entered in the state meet. Local, sectional, and state solo contests in piano, violin, and cello will be conducted in April and May, according to Mrs. Bittner. The exact dates for these meets will be announced within a few weeks.

The Tormohlen automobile was enroute eastward on state road 67, near Redkey, at the time of the accident and the Lindley car was being driven westward, when the two cars collided. All occupants of the Tormohlen machine were badly injured and Lindley was severely hurt.

Must Have License

Mayor George Krick was standing at the counter in the Democrat office last evening looking over the day's news when a young man approached him and tried to sell him some razor blades. "Do you have a license to peddle?" asked the mayor. "Nope," said the stranger. The mayor called Chief Melchior and the blade agent explained that he was an ex-soldier and didn't know he was supposed to call at the auditor's office and establish that fact. He was so informed and ordered to cease selling his goods until he had conformed to the law, which he readily agreed to do.
