Anyway we can refer to the hot spell as being last month.

Look out for the other driver is as good advice as drive carefully.

Your income tax is due today, but you can wait until July 15 to pay it.

Since this is the beginning of a new month the weather man may give us a new deal.

The old year is half gone. If the business revival continues for the next six months, 1933 will be rounded out in pretty good shape.

These big New York bankers would be out of luck if they didn't have obedient children and agreeable wives to transfer their stock holdings to.

Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis will be named state administrator of public works in Indiana. Tobin is an able executive and will handle the job in a way commendable to him and satisfactory to the public.

If you need information about filling out your gross or personal income tax blanks, a representative of the state department will be in Decatur, July 14, to serve you. He will make headquarters at the local auto license bureau and will be glad to assist you in this detail.

Adams county is rightfully proud of the honor given Mrs. J. A. Long of Geneva, who was appointed a member of the board of trustees of Central State Hospital, Indianapolis. Mrs. Long is deserving of the recognition, will serve well and give splendid service to the institution of which she will assist in supervising.

Collections of state gas tax amounted to $1,621,826.91 during May, an increase of $154,359.30, over the same month a year ago. The consumption of gasoline increased more than three and one-half million gallons last month, at least an indication that people are driving automobiles more and that truck lines are operating on a heavier schedule.

The Federal treasury made a wise selection in naming Frank H. Cutshall, conservator of the Old First National Bank and Trust Company in Fort Wayne. The appointment is the first step in the rebuilding of this well known financial institution and Mr. Cutshall who has served as president Offices in the court house will be closed next Monday and Tuesday and the county commissioners will not convene until next Wednesday, giving public officials and their assistants the advantage of a double holiday. Court is not in session and, in cases where the legal services of the officials are required a telephone call will reach them. Other counties are closing Monday and also on Tuesday, the Fourth of July.

Newspaper writers have punned the great Primo Carnera as the King Kong of the fight ring. He struts his stuff like a savage victor and probably has visions of how easy it's going to be to make a half million in the next few years. He may not be wrong, because 45,000 paid to see him knock the crown off Jack Sharkey. He put the former champion to sleep in the sixth round and was looking around for mors. Better page Pop Eye.

In our opinion we don't see any reason why sugar beet acreage should be reduced next year or any other year. The United States produces only 20 percent of the amount of sugar consumed in the country and it's certainly a crop that is not over produced. The raising of beets and domestic manufacture of sugar gives employment to thousands of people and takes part of the land which would otherwise be planted in corn or other crops.

It's sad to record that no longer will the public hear the silver-tongued and fine words of the Rev. Arthur J. Folsom, for 23 years pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, Fort Wayne. His sudden death Thursday was a shock to those who knew and admired him. He was a kind, sincere and zealous worker and gave much of his time and talents to civic endeavors and the doing of good. His congregation will miss him and so will the community in which he worked and lived life with a zest and as a Christian gentleman.

The United States government closed its books yesterday for the fiscal year, showing a deficit of a billion and three-quarters. That was running behind at the rate of $4,800,000 every day, making total expenditures, $3,950,000,000. In view of all the relief legislation a big deficit was expected. With a reduced budget beginning July 1, and with new and additional taxes collectable the coming year, the treasury hopes to balance the books at the next period. That's why President Roosevelt demanded the budget be cut.

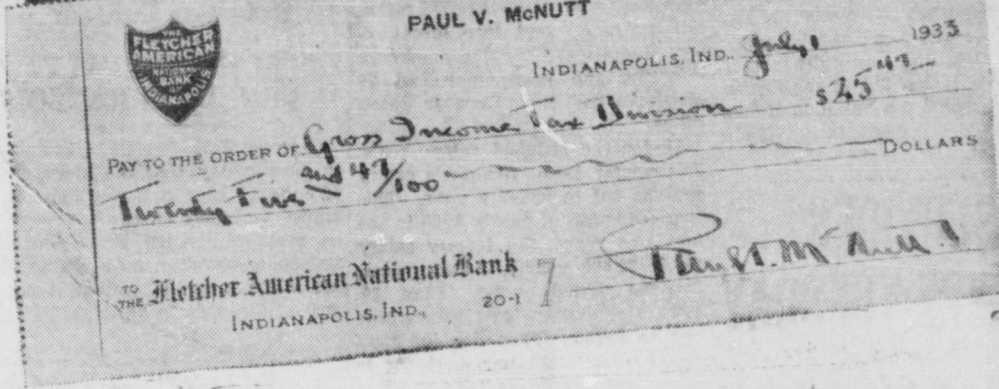

Eighteen pupils were graduated from the Daily Vacation Bible School Thursday evening. Diplomas were presented to the graduates by Rev. M. W. Sunderman, pastor of the First Evangelical church and dean of the school. Despite the extreme heat during June, class attendance was better than expected, proof that the boys and girls are interested in the subject taught and that they desired to take advantage of the teachings offered them. The school is a splendid adjunct to the regular school curriculum and it is encouraging to know that the youth of Decatur is interested and wishes to learn the lessons of the Bible.

Grain Market Prices Again Roar Upward

Chicago July 1 —(UP)—Rising temperatures in the grain belt and indications of another dry period ahead sent bulls back into the grain pits on the board of trade today causing a roaring advance of nearly four cents in wheat with the other grains up almost as sharply. News was ignored as the bullish fever mounted. Recent rains were judged inadequate and the prospects of sensationally bullish crop reports on Monday turned everybody to the buying side.

Governor Pays Gross Income Tax

Indianapolis, July 1—(Special)—While other members of the treasury board looked on, Gov. Paul V. McNutt today became the first citizen of Indiana to pay his gross income tax in compliance with the state's new statute designed to spread the tax burden. Gov. McNutt handed an individual gross income tax blank to Clarence A. Jackson, director of the gross income tax division, while William Storen, state treasurer, and Floyd Williamson, auditor of state, watched. The governor's check for $25.47 became the first official payment as the taxpaying period opened. Several checks and returns had been received but they were not entered on the records until today. "I am glad to make my payment in compliance with a law that I believe will result in a fairer distribution of the cost of government and which will bring on the tax rolls to help share the cost of government, thousands of persons who heretofore have paid no taxes," Gov. McNutt told Jackson. The governor's return blank showed his income for salary and maintenance as chief executive of the state in addition to a small sum received as part owner of some property. Although the law requires that all returns must be kept secret, the governor gave permission to reveal the amount of his tax and to use his check as an example of how checks must be made out to facilitate collection of the tax. Thousands of other residents of Indiana as well as Hoosier business institutions will make returns and pay the new taxes before July 15. Blanks for making the returns as well as information needed in making out the returns and forwarding payment, are available in automobile license bureau branches throughout Indiana. Not all the blanks are being distributed by license bureaus, however. In many counties, other distribution points have been arranged through the desire of the license bureau managers to be of greatest service to the public. "The license bureaus are handling the returns, merely for the convenience of the public," Jackson said. "The services of the license bureaus either in notarization or in any other way are available but they will not be pressed upon the taxpayers." First payments cover receipts for May and June of this year. Every person taking in more than $166.67 in May and June has been asked to file a return.

If borax is added to the water it will bleach clothes and also prevent them from turning yellow.

Squeaky Shoes
The shoes will not squeak if a small hole is bored in the sole up under the arch and oil poured into it. Let the shoes stand upside down as long as possible after filling the hole, to allow the oil to get into the space between the soles.

Dutch Sandwiches
Boil some large frankfurters for ten minutes, then skin and chop the meat. Add one finely chopped onion and enough tomato catsup to moisten. Spread between buttered slices of brown bread.

captive, was assigned to the case.

As related by Epstein, the party left the night club in three cars. In the first were two friends of Jerome. A short distance from the night club, they were halted for speeding. A moment later the second automobile containing Mrs. Epstein, Mrs. Factor and her chauffeur, drove up. Mrs. Factor, hysterical, told the officer who halted the first car that her husband had been kidnaped.

The officer set out in pursuit of the abductors' car but failed to find a trace of it.
