Columbus Needs One More Victory

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 3.—(UP)—The Columbus Red Birds, American Association champions, needed but one more victory today to win the 1933 little world series baseball title.

Behind the four-hit pitching of Paul Dean, younger brother of Dizzy Dean, the Red Birds gained a 4 to 3 edge in the series last night, pounding three Buffalo pitchers for a 7 to 2 triumph.

Dean was master of the International League standard bearers throughout, striking out 11 men in winning his third game of the series. His own error accounted for one of the Buffalo runs while the other came in the ninth inning after Columbus had the game on ice.

FIGHTER DIES THIS MORNING

Young Stribling Dies At 6 A. M. Of Injuries Suffered Sunday

Macon, Ga., Oct. 3.—(UP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, colorful heavyweight boxer, who at one time was near the top of his class, died today. He succumbed to injuries received in a motor accident Sunday after a courageous fight to live.

Death came at 6 a. m. (E. S. T.). He had been at the point of death all night.

Stribling was 28 years old, but had engaged in more than 300 ring battles. He reached his peak in 1931 when he fought Max Schmeling, then heavyweight champion, for the title. He lost on a technical knockout.

The fighter's parents, "Pa" and "Ma" Stribling, were at the bedside. "Pa" was his trainer and manager; "Ma," a Georgia farm woman, supervised the cooking in her son's many training camps, and was known to the readers of all sports pages.

Stribling was returning to Macon from the Idle Hour Golf Club on his motorcycle Sunday. R. V. Johnson, a motorist, swerved his car to avoid a collision with another machine, just as Stribling was attempting to pass. Stribling was side-swiped and the fender of Johnson's car almost severed his left foot at the ankle.

At Macon Hospital the foot was amputated. His left leg was found to be mangled and his pelvis broken. At first physicians thought he had an even chance to survive, but last night he began sinking rapidly.

His wife, Clara, still confined in the same hospital where she gave birth to a son less than two weeks ago, was taken to her husband's room and stayed until the end. They have two other children.

Clara left the room about 5 a. m. to tend to their baby, and Stribling raised his arms above his head, his last movement, as she walked out the door. She returned to his bedside soon.

The hospital corridors were padded with friends and thousands of telegrams and floral offerings had come from all parts of the country as his admirers sent him greetings in his last fight.

McManus Fired

New York, Oct. 3.—(UP)—Marty McManus, player-manager of the Boston Red Sox, has been given his unconditional release, Eddie Collins, General manager, announced last night.

Collins is in New York for the World Series.

McManus was appointed manager of the Red Sox in the middle of the 1932 season by Bob Quinn, then owner, as successor to John (Shano) Collins. He played second and third base during his managerial regime.

Collins said no one has been selected to succeed McManus.

Distance-Flight Takeoff Is Failure

Wasega Beach, Ont., Oct. 3.—(UP)—The attempt of Capt. and Mrs. James A. Mollison, England's famous flying couple, to take off for Bagdad in an attempt on the long distance record, failed today when the left under carriage of their plane, seafarer II, cracked.

WORLD SERIES STARTS TODAY

Giants and Senators Clash In Opening Game Of Series Today

New York, Oct. 3.—(UP)—Some 45,000 citizens of New York and environs threw aside ordinary business grounds and moved on the polo grounds to watch the opening game of the 1933 World Series.

It was the most potentially exciting series in recent years, involves a club—the Giants—which, judged by ordinary standards, has no earthly business world title play. Weak on attack, never brilliant on defense, and composed largely of young players, the Giants, before the National League season ended last spring, were consigned to a lower division berth. But let Memphis Bill Terry, they displayed so much fight and zip, they captured the pennant.

The Senators, too, were not generally figured to reach championship flight. They were the worst choice club, and when the almost universally favored New York Yankees faltered, the Senators, headed by Joe Cronin, young manager in the majors, rode to the top.

Interest in the series, first manifested when the conquering Giants came home to a rousing civic welcome, reached a fever point today. Scores of baseball nuts who find it pleasant to stand in line all night rushed through the gates when they were swung open at 9 o'clock.

Discovers Booze Among Prisoners

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 3.—(UP)—Warden Frank D. Wipp of the Illinois State penitentiary ordered an extensive search of all cells today, expecting to find—not bombs but booze.

The astonishing revelation that convicts in the prison, including the notorious Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, are drinking the long hours away with intoxicants came late yesterday. Captain Thomas Nelson was making the rounds of the cell houses when from section "C" there floated down the somewhat discordant strains of "over there."
