Pronovost, who holds a record of shoeing 33 mules in one day, uses planes frequently to reach isolated posts. Recently he flew from Missoula to Big Prairie, reaching there in little more than one hour. If he had gone to the station by road or trail the trip would have required at least four days.

of our land, and a true and abiding faith in the divine guidance of God."

The President recalled that just seven months ago to the day he took the oath of office at Washington.

"I believed then, and I know now that our people would support definite action that sought the goal of giving every man his due," he said.

Cheering which greeted Mr. Roosevelt's arrival in the hall room of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel was redoubled when he paused on his way to the platform to chat with former Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Mr. Roosevelt warned his listeners that the federal government, while aiding materially in welfare relief, does not intend to assume the entire job.

"Many times," he said, "I have insisted that every community and every state must first do their share."

BEET GROWERS BEGIN HAULING TO LOCAL PLANT

over the east scales.

The conveyor system then takes the beets for distribution through the yards. The beets travel on a large rubber belt to the crane which distributes them any place in the yards. The space along the east wall of the flume enclosure was being filled today. The yards will hold 10,000 tons of beets.

The belt which travels the entire length of the yard is about 1,400 feet long and weighs altogether 14,000 pounds.

Everything is in readiness in the mill and throughout the yards for the opening of the factory next week. When a sufficient supply of beets are stored the mill will begin operations. The tentative date set is next Tuesday.

After the beets find their way into the flumes they are washed down to the sluices. A 14 inch line of water is used in the 10 flumes. Before getting to the mill the beets go through a weed cleaner and then through a stone remover, entering the mill without any foreign substance, stones or other matter embedded in the beet.

Tests have been made throughout the yards and not a hitch has occurred anywhere.

All electric power used in the yards, including the automatic hoists, conveyor and distribution system, is furnished by the City Light and Power plant. The city plant has installed the transformers and several large motors are used. The motor which operates the crane is a seven and one-half h.p. motor.

Famed Negro Star Sends Son to Brown

Providence, R. I.—(U.P.)—After a lapse of 17 years the name of Fritz Pollard soon will be gracing the posters of Brown University football teams again.

The new Fritz Pollard, son of the famous negro halfback, who almost single-handed gave Brown victories over Harvard and Yale, has just entered the Brown freshman class.

He's sturdier than his father was, standing 6 feet and weighing 175 pounds, against the senior's 5 feet, 7 inches and 155 pounds.

Young Fritz Pollard, whose full name is Frederick D. Pollard, Jr., was captain of a Chicago school eleven last fall. He also is a track man, as was his father.
