

SPORTS

BLUFFTON AND DECATUR WILL BATTLE FRIDAY

Old Rivals To Meet Here Friday; Tigers Hold 6-4 Game Edge

Decatur's oldest rival, Bluffton will invade the Yellow Jacket camp Friday afternoon, intent on gaining the first victory of the season for the Tigers.

It will be the final battle of the year for the Yellow Jackets and the locals are expected to open up with everything in the book—maybe a few things not in the book—in an effort to close the season in a blaze of glory.

As to comparative scores, reverse of the two elevens offer some startling contrasts. Figure one way and Decatur should win by a wide margin. Take another set of scores, and the dope leans just as heavily toward the Tigers.

Bluffton has shown to much better advantage against Central and North Side as far as comparative scores show. However, Garrett defeated the Tigers by a 20 margin while Decatur and Garrett battled to a 6-6 tie. Then again, Columbia City walloped the Yellow Jackets, while the Tigers held the Eagles to a scoreless tie.

Yet, Decatur downed Portland, 12-7, and the next week Portland trounced Bluffton, 6-2. Take your pick and lay your bets accordingly. One thing, it quite likely will be a great battle, as these games usually are.

In games played between these two elevens since 1920, Bluffton has won six times, Decatur four, and one game resulted in a tie. The teams did not play in 1923 and 1924.

The opening kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Friday at the new high school athletic field on West Adams street.

The record of competition between Decatur and Bluffton since 1920 follows:

	Decatur	Bluffton
1920	6	13
1921	7	7
1922	32	0
1923-24	No Games
1925	12	0
1926	0	3
1927	6	14
1928	0	13
1929	7	8
1930	13	7
1931	0	8
1932	6	0
1933	?	?

LABOR SUPPORT IS SOUGHT BY FARM LEADERS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) isies of "moral support" and "sympathetic cooperation" of the strike from A. F. Whitney and other officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

He also enlisted support of two other labor organizations, the Continental Congress of Workers and Farmers and the Technocrats of the World, the latter claiming a membership of 5,000,000.

State organizations of the association in Iowa, North Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota, and Oklahoma have pledged active support of the strike. Reno announced. Colorado and Michigan have voted disapproval.

Bullet Watch Charm Shattered Two Fingers

San Francisco, Cal.—(U.P.)—John Lynch, jeweler, today was one up in that fast-stepping league of rascals who like to tell of "my operation."

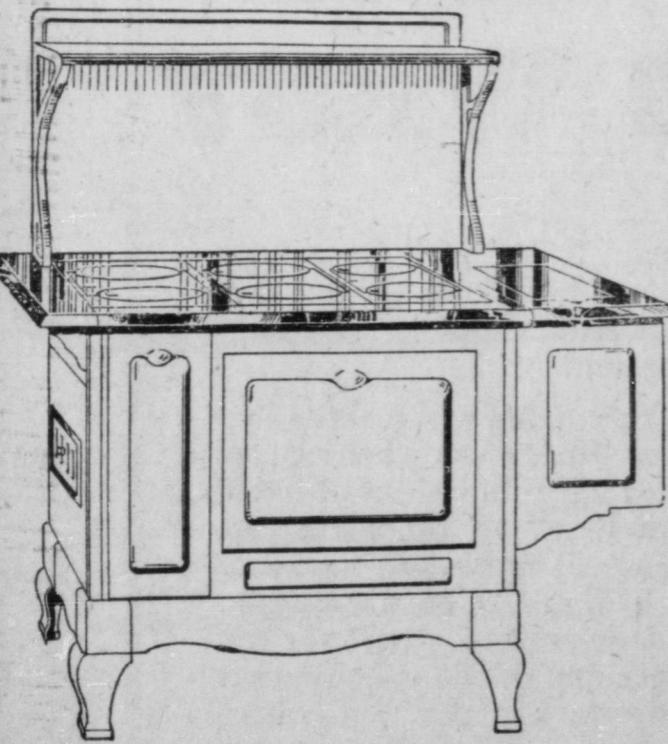

Lynch shot himself with a watch charm.

The jeweler was treated for two shattered fingers when an explosion interrupted his attempts to convert bullet into the charm.

Get the Habit—Trade at Home

Masquerade Dance Wednesday. Sunset.

The Lowest Prices Offered In Years On Steel Ranges

This stove is similar to one shown in illustration.

A Green and Ivory Semi-Porcelain Enamored Range, with reservoir and latest style flush panels and double door front that makes it easy to keep clean.

This Range has a six lid cooking top and porcelain splashback and high shelf that extends full length of top which makes a convenient place to set coffee pot and utensils used in cooking.

SPECIALLY PRICED

$33.50

The SCHAFFER Store

HARDWARE AND HOME FURNISHINGS

MINNESOTA AND IOWA SATURDAY

Big Ten Spotlight Shifts To Minneapolis This Week-end

Chicago, Oct. 24—(U.P.)—The Big Ten spotlight shifts this week from Ann Arbor, where it shined on Michigan and Ohio State in their battle before 93,508 spectators last week, to Minneapolis, where Iowa and Minnesota stage Saturday's most important western conference battle.

Minnesota's championship aspirations are slim. Indeed as a result of ties with Indiana, 6-6, and Purdue, 7-7, but the Gophers are likely to play an important role in deciding the ultimate titleholder.

Iowa is leading the Big Ten race with two victories and no defeats and it is asking too much of the Hawkeyes to win the title after three disastrous years in which they didn't win a conference game.

Coach Ossie Solem has developed a good, game football team in his second year at Iowa, but the Hawkeyes have about shot their bolt. If Minnesota doesn't stop them this week, Michigan will Nov. 11. And if the upset of upsets should happen and Iowa gets by both Minnesota and Michigan, then the Hawkeyes will find Purdue barring their path Nov. 18. It's 100 or more to 1 that Iowa can't get by Minnesota, Michigan and Purdue without losing and if the Hawkeyes win one of these games it will be surprise.

But watch Iowa next year. They have come a long way in one season under Solem, and are going places in 1934. As it is, Minnesota, Michigan and Purdue will find the Hawkeyes tough, and will have to turn on all their power to beat this young, hustling bunch of huskies from out where the tall corn grows.

With Iowa likely to be toppled by Minnesota, gaining strength with each game, Michigan has an opportunity to forge into the leadership this week by brushing aside the young Chicago Maroons.

Michigan is likely to have a let-down after its important game with Ohio State, but the Wolverines with their rock of gibraltar defense and John Regeczi's punting, should win under wraps from Chicago by a close margin.

Chicago might even score on Michigan if it can get its passing game working, but the Wolverines seem capable to getting a touchdown any time they want one against teams like Chicago.

Purdue hopes to improve its position in the championship race by adding a victory over Wisconsin, already beaten by Illinois and Iowa. The Boilermakers have beaten Chicago, 14-0, and tied Minnesota, 7-7. In the light of Minnesota's triumph over Pittsburgh, 7-3, Purdue's tie with the Gophers doesn't look near as "disgraceful" as it did a week ago.

Before the season is over the Minnesota tie may turn out to be a moral victory for Purdue instead of a rude shock as it was first termed.

Northwestern, having found it has an offense, is an even choice against Ohio State, which found it had little offense against Michigan. The Wildcats have learned a lot about handling the ball since they lost to Iowa, and their running attack has improved 100 per cent since the Iowa disaster.

Northwestern, having found it has an offense, is an even choice against Ohio State, which found it had little offense against Michigan. The Wildcats have learned a lot about handling the ball since they lost to Iowa, and their running attack has improved 100 per cent since the Iowa disaster.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

County courts claim it will be impossible to pay the pensions without exceeding the six per cent limit on increased expenses, set by law. A special session of the Oregon legislature this fall is expected to take up the matter.

</div