DECATUR GIRL ATTENDS FRIEND AT WEDDING
An interesting event to their friends in this city was the wedding of Miss Alice Gladieu of Fort Wayne and Lloyd Painin of Toledo Ohio, formerly of Monroeville. The marriage took place Tuesday morning at nine o'clock in the St. Peter's

The women will conduct a food sale at that time and will sell brown bread, cakes, cookies, doughnuts, pumpkin pies, mince meat, salads and much for frying. They will also open the apron that the November section passed among the members to be filled with coins.

A cordial invitation is extended to the women of the church and their friends to attend.

PHOEBE BIBLE CLASS HOLDS SOCIAL MEETING
The Phoebe Bible class of the Zion Reformed Sunday School met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Tillman Gerber on Tenth street. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. A. R. Ashbacher and Mrs. Albert Miller for high scores and Mrs. Francis Borders for consolation.

The election of officers was held and Miss Matilda Sellemeyer was selected president; Mrs. Fred Fruchte, vice-president; Mrs. Carl Baumgartner, secretary; and Mrs. Cletus Miller, treasurer.

The hostesses, the Mesdames Harry Miller, David Adams and Tillman Gerber and Miss Lulu Gerber, served a one course luncheon.

BETTER HOMES ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS
The Better Homes Economics Club met Wednesday afternoon at the Monroe Hatchery with Mrs. Henry Neireiter, Mrs. J. E. Anderson and Miss Ina Anderson hostesses.

The meeting was opened with the club song and creed. The members responded to the roll call with Bible verses of Thanksgiving after which Mrs. Anderson led in prayer.

The regular business meeting followed, during which time final plans were made for the stand the club will have at Anderson's sale on November 15.

A sewing craft was demonstrated by Ruth Schwartz. Several contests were enjoyed, one of which was "A Cheese Romance." This was a contest in which the names of various kinds of Kraft Phoenix products were used. Mrs. Harmon Kraft and Mrs. L. E. Archbold were the winners and each was presented with a jar of Miracle Whip salad dressing.

Several women of the Decatur club were guests. A delicious luncheon of fruit salad, wafers, candy and coffee was served by the hostesses to the following members and guests: the Mesdames L. E. Archbold, William Kohls, Robert Garard, Harmon Kraft, and William Affolder of Decatur; John Crist, Martin Stucky, Everett Rice, Ralph Blum, E. M. Dunbar, E. W. Busche, John Floyd, D. J. Schwartz, J. A. Hendricks, John Hecker, J. E. Anderson and the Mesdames Ina Anderson and Ruth Schwartz.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

By ELLEN WORTH

Every Line of This Frock—Style News

A butterfly-wing jabot flutters at the throat furnishing that all-important neckline interest—and accented even more because of the color contrast. Shoulders are smooth, and sleeve detail drops to the elbows, below which the graceful width is confined in deep, close-fitting cuffs. The front panel, with its beltless line heightens and slenderizes the figure, making this smart sheath silhouette easy to wear.

Crepe marocain in copper brown with beige jabot was used in the original of this frock. Taupe or blackberry are the smartest of the dark colors, while zinnia red, dragon green and Schiaparelli blue would be charming for a bright frock under a black winter coat. Any of the lighter ribbed silks might also be chosen. The beginner can make this design—it's an easy one. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch dark material, 1 1/2 yard 39-inch light. Width about 1 3/4 yard.

Pattern No. 5392 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 bust.

EULOGY PAID TO HERO DEAD IN ADDRESS TODAY

racy safe, yet half of Europe is under dictators.

"It was a 'war to end war,' yet today Europe stands, waiting for the bugle!"

The great tragedy is the crushing of all hope for world peace, the failure of the sacrifice to advance mankind one inch, the sense of utter helplessness, the thought that armies are not torchbearers, but only raw meat, to be tossed to the dogs of war, and that battles are not the surgery of progress, but only the red games of ambitious butchers, the brooding fear that mankind is locked in a slaughter-house from which it cannot flee, that Mars is god of earth!

"In this revelry of utter futility, a sick and despondent world hears, blended, the mocking laughter of a leering fate and the groans of those who died in vain!"

"And if a Hitler be the appointed one to launch the red deluge again, let us profit by our recent past; admonished by the ingratitude of those we saved, let us stay Tere on Our Own Ground, to the end that when the storm has passed there may be one place on earth where the fragments of white civilization may rally and find refuge!"

"Let us make sure that those men who gave their last measure of devotion, may not have died in vain. Let us re-dedicate ourselves to the things for which they died."

"It is for the American Legion to carry on and each Armistice Day should see us renew our pledge to those boys who were our comrades, that our country shall not perish."

alone. Valor may be bought and sold. It is a monument to patriotism, that willingness to give all that one has to his country without hope of any reward save the joy of accomplishing a high purpose."

make us go on," the speaker said.

"All our heritage is wrapped up in the one word, Freedom. Today, it is proper that we give serious meditation on renewing our obligation to our country and work just as valiantly for the preservation of community, state and nation as we did 15 years ago to win the cause of peace. We live in the most blessed country in the world. We must renew our faith in ourselves and show those who died for their country that they did not die in vain," concluded the speaker.

WHEN DEATH ENTERS THE HOME

—one of the acute questions that arise is, "where shall the funeral be held?" Often the home is too small and for reasons best known to the bereaved, a church funeral is not desirable. This often vexing problem is amply provided for in the service the BLACK FUNERAL HOME offers the community.

The use of our large funeral chapel is offered freely to all those who desire to use it at no extra cost. Our long experience has taught us the need of such accommodations, and we have spared no expense to provide them.

BEHIND the SCENES in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL.

Copyright 1933 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Newlyweds Adrienne Ames and Bruce Cabot simply can't understand why Frances Dee and Joel McCrea don't want to appear in a picture together.

For a long time, in their Beverly Hills home, Adrienne and Bruce not only are willing to make screen love to each other but they have gone to Pandro Berman at RKO and asked that the studio find a vehicle for the two of them.

"It would be a great inspiration to me to play opposite Adrienne," says the young actor. "I could put sincerity into my work that audiences would be bound to feel."

In the flush of their happiness, both the players take issue with Frances Dee that two married people should not spend 24 hours of the day together.

"What could be more ideal!" they chorus.

Since it takes time to find a story, Adrienne and Bruce plan to sail for Honolulu, where they'll remain until their studios cable for them.

The pair announce plans for a honeymoon every six months. And they've already chosen the spot for the second. It will be the Phantom Valley Ranch about 120 miles north of Denver.

Out at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, they introduced Larry Fine to a Texas visitor as one of Ted Healy's stooges.

"What is a stooge?" asked the Texan.

Larry hemmed, hawed and finally blurted out:

"If I could tell you what a stooge was, I wouldn't be one!"

As this is written, Gary Cooper and Sandra Shaw are on their way to Phoenix, Arizona, with the Jack Gilberts. Will it be a marriage trip?

The wires may bring the answer by the time this column is printed. You can take one thing for sure, however. The engagement of the lanky Cooper and the statuesque Sandra is absolutely definite.

To close friends, Gary denied just before he left here that he has any immediate marriage plans. He said the trip was to be a deer hunt.

Won't Charlie Chaplin be surprised to learn that the Romanian beauty, Florizel Constantnesco, whose name was constantly linked with his in Europe a few years ago, is right here in Hollywood? She was at the fashionable Colony Club the other evening and has been seeing the other sights of Hollywood.

Reached at her apartment, she told me: "I've been to New York and I'll stay in Hollywood for several more days. Then I may go to Honolulu."

The beauty, who speaks perfect English but with an accent, says she is not interested in picture work. She shies at discussing Charlie, who, of course, is quite occupied these days with Paulette Goddard.

The Fox Studio was thrown into a furore when telephone calls began to come in from numerous and excited citizens of Glendale. Each had come home and found a card on the door:

"Sorry to have missed you—Janet Gaynor."

You have to know just how important a person Janet is at Fox to realize the extent of the studio's excitement. Two detectives were dispatched to the neighboring city. They went into a fury of investigation. Finally, they found a clew. The person who had left the cards was a tall, dark woman.

Then they found the woman—and here's the laugh.

She was employed by a local theater to leave the cards as an exploitation stunt for the showing of Janet's picture, "Paddy's Next Best Thing."

QUICK GLIMPSES:
America's richest heiress, Doris Duke, saw some film colony night life after all. She was in a party at the Beverly Wilshire with Harry Croker, Eddie Kane and several others. . . . Two couples who drew many stares at the same spot a night later were Christine Lee and Ricardo Cortez, whom the gossips are marrying off, and Loretta Young and her constant companion, Spencer Tracy.

Who says the writer's life is not a dangerous one! Joseph Mankiewicz, Paramount scenarist, reached to his pocket for a pencil and ruptured a muscle in his shoulder. He has to wear his arm in a sling. . . . Tom Geraghty writes that he and Douglas Fairbanks have been in Algiers seeking locations for "Adios, Don Juan."

Monroe Owsley
Claire Windsor's escort to a football game and to the smart new Clover Club later on.

Bridge was her MAGIC KEY

A month before she had been penniless, looking for a job... Now high society opened its doors to her... declared her the Hit of the Season...

"HERE'S to Patricia Warren," was the toast of all the young men who had been fortunate enough to meet her. Every pretty debutante of the season, or of the seasons before, would gladly have changed places with her. Her appearance on the dance floor caused a riot in the stag line. And yet a month before she had been walking down mean streets looking for a job, typing, a file clerk—anything! How had it happened!

Bridge was her sesame. Her skill at the game she played as a pastime had made her the partner of the world's greatest bridge player—and society was bridge mad. Life had become a round of fashionable bridge-clubs, championship tournaments, hundred dollar lessons, thousand dollar losses! But although Patricia was in the midst of this hectic craze, she kept herself true. Two continents knew her as the most dangerous opponent at a bridge table, yet she was ready and waiting for a real love. Read how it came to her in the strangest and most exciting romance of the day.
