United Press Writer Names Selections For Big Ten Star Team

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(U.P.)—Seven of the ten western conference schools are represented on the United Press All-Big Ten team announced today. Michigan placed three men on the first team, Minnesota and Iowa two each, and Purdue, Ohio State, Northwestern and Indiana one each.

The backfield of Laws, Lund, Eberhardus and Purvis ranks with any all-star combination in the Big Ten in recent years. Lund and Purvis, versatile all-around backs who can run, kick, pass, block and tackle, are bonafide All-American candidates.

Laws led the Big Ten in scoring and was one of the most dangerous runners in the conference. Coach Ossie Solem, Iowa, rated him as one of the best defensive backs of the year, and he was the best blocker in the Iowa backfield.

Lund played almost every minute of every important game and was the main factor in staving off defeat for a young Minnesota team which gained power until in November it was able to outplay Michigan in a scoreless tie. In the Michigan game Lund gained 102 yards, more than the entire Michigan team.

Purvis gained 527 yards in the 95 times he carried the ball, and his passing and pass-catching furnished some of the most spectacular aerial work in the conference. His catch of a 40-yard pass with one hand against Wisconsin was rated by many as the greatest single play of the year.

Everhardus was Michigan's foremost back, with his running and stellar defensive work. He kicked three field goals in crucial games and won the Illinois game with his extra point after touchdown, 7-6.

In the line the Big Ten developed one of the greatest crops of ends and centers in recent years, but was notably weak at tackles, where there was not a really great player. There was little to choose between the first four ranking ends, Larson, Manske, Petoskey and Schuster.

Wistert was the Big Ten's best tackle, and Schammel, the Big Ten's best guard, was shifted to Long, Geneva.

tackle, a position he could easily play because of his speed and weight (215 pounds). Gallus and Jones, a star on a weak team, were named guards.

Bernard, Michigan's 215-pound center, nosed out Roy Oen, Minnesota's 165-pounder, for center, with Tom Moore, Iowa, only a jump behind both of them.

The hardest player to keep off the first team was Jack Beynon, Illinois quarterback, who was the best passer in the conference and perhaps the best field general. Laws' all-around ability won the quarterback berth for him over Beynon.

Geneva held a 17-10 lead at the end of the first half and at the end of the third quarter the Cardinals were out in front by three points. Geneva maintained this margin until near the close of the game when Kirkland hit long shots to provide a winning margin.

C. Augsburger was high scorer for Kirkland with 11 points, while E. Buckingham of Geneva led his teammates with an even dozen points.

The Kirkland seconds defeated the Geneva reserves in the preliminary, 28 to 21, after leading at the half, 18-14.

SCHOOL UNITS HERE ELIGIBLE FOR STATE AID

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) rates and no maximum is fixed by the state in levying for school purposes. The 50-cent levy must be made before a school unit is eligible to state aid and if this rate does not produce sufficient revenue to guarantee an eight month's term and pay the minimum wages and services allowed by the state, the unit then becomes an applicant for funds from the equalization aid fund.

The trustees were greatly impressed with Mr. Cole's instructive explanation of the system whereby a local unit could avail itself of state aid and everyone expressed his hearty approval of the plan.

The law providing for state aid was passed in 1925. This is the first time any school unit in Adams county has applied or become eligible to participate in the distribution of the state fund.

BASKETBALL
by PETE

The G. E. club, Decatur's independent basketball team, will open the home season at the public high school gymnasium tonight.

Opposition for the first game will be furnished by the Roanoke Independents. The G. E. club has played two road games, losing to Markle and defeating Ossian. The team is composed of former Yellow Jacket and commodore stars of recent years and should furnish some good basketball for local fans if the proper support is given.

Friday night's games marked the second straight victory for the Commodores and the second consecutive defeat for the Yellow Jackets.

The Commodores pulled through with a close victory over the Cubs at Monroeville. Failure to connect on foul shots prevented the Commodores from winning by a comfortable margin. Co-captain Braden failed to set the proper example for his teammates by making only one out of ten chances from the charity stripe.

In suffering their second defeat of the season, the Yellow Jackets failed to show much improvement over their exhibition of the preceding week, although their handling of the ball was a little better.

Jefferson compiled their third victory without a defeat by downing the Yellow Jackets. The Warriors well deserved the victory they scored Friday night. Jefferson has a team well balanced for size and are good shots from any place on the floor.

Another heavy schedule confronts Adams county teams and fans this week. Festivities will start Tuesday night. When the Berne Bears entertain the New Haven Bull Dogs

Bears Score Fourth Victory of Season Saturday, 26 To 10

The Berne Bears scored fourth consecutive triumph at the season Saturday night, defeating the Hartford township Gorillas at Berne, 26 to 10. It was the second time this season the Bears have defeated Hartford.

Berne jumped into the lead shortly after the opening whistle and was never in danger of being headed. The Bears led at the half, 12 to 2.

Steiner, diminutive forward, was the star of the contest with six field goals and two free throws for a total of 14 points. Tallman was the only other Bear to score more than one field goal. Hartford's scoring was well divided.

In the preliminary game, the Berne seconds easily defeated the Hartford reserves, 26 to 16.

She Doesn't Know How You Do It!

YOU feel a little embarrassed and sorry for her. She looks so admiring and helpless, so envious, and so—so—ineffective!

Her clothes are always so bad, poor little thing. And she pays too much for them. Her home is furnished with all the wrong things. She seems to have a genius for wasting money. When she goes out to buy anything, soap or silverware, or lingerie or lamps, she's sure to turn up with something nobody ever heard of before and doesn't want to hear of again.

She is that eager, but not very bright, little woman who, "my dear, doesn't ever read advertisements." Who doesn't know what to buy, or where to find it, or what to pay for it. Who doesn't know values and can't compare them. Who doesn't know that when a new style, or a new convenience, or a new anything arrives, one sees it first in the advertisements.

One really gets a little vexed with her—

But let's not waste too much time on her. It's about time for you, dear lady, to have your daily look through the advertisements.

To stand the test of advertising merchandise must be good.
