

STITUTION AIDS YOUTHS

St. Louis, Mo.—(U.P.)—A system of "rehabilitation" training adopted by the Missouri Training School for boys is attracting much attention in the Midwest.

Colonel Gray, superintendent of the penal institution, is responsible for the new system which is unique in the history of the state.

Colonel Gray decided that the term "Boonville Reformatory" was obsolete and the legislature of the state changed the name to the Missouri Training School.

The 450 boys enrolled now are known as "students" instead of "inmates." Colonel Gray also increased his officers to conduct the school similar to any training school.

A baseball team was organized, games scheduled with teams from Central Missouri towns. The arrival of football season brought a "fresh" squad established.

Plans now are being made for the activities of a physical or athletic nature. Colonel Gray believes his "humanized" theory is a step in rehabilitating youths who have made mistakes.

Days at the school were sent for numerous crimes, including burglary, larceny, and black-mail.

Coal Stove Heats Buckeye's Automobile

Franklin, Ohio.—(U.P.)—Anyone who thinks Frank Allen's automobile is propelled by a steam engine is mistaken, despite the fact that a stove pipe emerges from the front of the vehicle.

Allen has mounted a small soft coal stove partly inside and partly outside the body of his car. It's a heater, he explains.

"It works pretty well," Allen said. "The stove doesn't draw very well when we're standing still, but when we get moving along that little old smokestack really creates a swell draft."

Reinhardt Plans German Play For French Capital

Paris.—(U.P.)—Max Reinhardt, German theatrical director, has decided to present "Die Fledermaus" here at the Theater Pigalle.

"I hope to interest Paris in this piece," he said. "I have given it a complete musical atmosphere and I hope not only to charm the eye but to subordinate all the effects to the music, for the substratum of the entire play will be Strauss' waltzes."

The cast is a Franco-German-Austrian one, the lead to be taken by Lotte Schoene, of the Berlin Grand Opera Company.

Court Upholds Back Sweaters

Lincoln, Neb.—(U.P.)—All women "backseat drivers" find Nebraska a haven for their practice, and the Supreme Court says its all right to do so. In a recent decision, the high tribunal made back seat driving by wives obligatory and held that "she may be responsible for the consequences of her own negligence in failing to warn her husband of an approaching danger."

Swedish Stock Values Up
Stockholm.—(U.P.)—The stock exchange values of leading Swedish shares increased in October 32,000,000 kronor, according to an estimate by the Svensk Finansstatistik. Since the beginning of 1933 there has been a total increase of 200,000,000 kronor. Practically the entire increase in October was due to the rise of the shares of Skandinaviska Kreditaktiebolaget Bank and of the mechanical industries.

PAUL IN ROME

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR DEC. 17, 1933.
Acts—Chapters 27-28.

By HARLOWE R. HOYT
WALTER SCOTT

Following his appeal to King Herod Agrippa II and his release from prison in 59 A.D., Paul set out from Jerusalem on his way to Rome. He traveled to Myra, where he found a clipper ship which he boarded. After many days, the vessel reached Crete, where Paul advised that they remain for the winter, the typhoon season. But the owners desired to make Phenice, not far away, so the suggestion of the evangelist went unheeded.

They weighed anchor with a favoring wind, but a short distance off shore they were struck by the typhoon. The boat was driven far from its course and finally found a harbor at the small island of Cauda. For three days the storm continued and the sailors were obliged to throw overboard the cargo and all portions of the ship that could be spared in order not to go to the bottom of the ocean. For two weeks they were tossed about.

At last one night shoaling water proved that they were nearing land. The sailors would have deserted in small boats, but Paul induced his companions to cut the ropes and let the boats drift away. When morning came, they found themselves not far from the Isle of Malta. Seizing planks and boards, they cast themselves into the sea and gained land in safety, while the doomed vessel went to pieces on the rocks. When winter ended, they went to Rome.

In Rome, Paul lived for two years in his own dwelling, accompanied by the guard which had been assigned to watch him. Finally, he was cast into prison following the burning of Rome, as were other Christians whom Nero accused of the crime. He was confined in a damp cell underground. His only companion was the faithful Luke. Finally, he was condemned to death, and Paul of Tarsus was taken without the gates of the city and beheaded.

SOCIETY LOVES OLD MUSIC

Philadelphia.—(U.P.)—Existing in Philadelphia, virtually unknown to the general public, is a small and exclusive group banded together solely for the purpose of perpetuating the music of the 17th and 18th centuries.

It is named the "American Society of the Ancient Instruments," and is the only organization of its kind in the country. Ben Stad, its founder, has patterned it after "La Societe des Instruments Anciens," a government-supported Paris organization, which was founded by M. Casadesus. There is a similar group in London.

Purpose of the organization, according to Stad, is to preserve the charming music that lies historically between the late Renaissance and the early symphonists, and to recreate it by performances upon the old instruments for which it was written.

The society gives a few public concerts each year and plays frequently at private musicales. Appropriate backgrounds are selected for its public appearances—the dim, religious light of the chapel of the Graphic Sketch Club, the Memorial Chapel of Valley Forge, and local churches.

Irate Pack Rat Treed Ranger

Bend, Ore.—(U.P.)—Being treed by an irate pack rat was the recent experience of John Clark, forest lookout. Clark set a trap for what he thought was a mouse. He was awakened at night by a great commotion.

Investigating, he found an unusually large pack rat in the trap. He hurled a boot, then another, missed both times. The rat then took the offensive, pursued Clark across the cabin and treed him on top of the fire finding equipment. The battle ended when Clark recovered a boot and was accurate in his aim.

Sunday School ? QUESTIONS ?

Paul in Rome

QUESTIONS
1.—When was Paul released by Herod Agrippa and what order was given at that time?
2.—Where did he go?
3.—What happened on the sailing?
4.—Describe the ship in which Paul sailed.
5.—Tell about the storm.
6.—How was the rescue effected?
7.—Why did the guard wish to kill Paul?
8.—When did Paul reach Rome and what happened on his arrival?
10.—Tell about his death.

ANSWERS
1.—Paul was released by Herod Agrippa in 59 A. D. It was decided that there was no reason for holding him, but since he had appealed to Caesar, it was only right that he should go to Rome and complete the appeal.

2.—Paul with other prisoners and their guards went to Myra where they took ship which finally brought them to Crete.

3.—Arrived at Crete, Paul counseled that they remain there during the winter. It was the season of hurricanes and Paul, a seasoned traveler, knew their danger. But they would not listen to him since they wished to reach Phenice, a harbor about twenty miles distant.

4.—The vessel in which Paul sailed was a wooden boat of the clipper variety. A wooden hull, pointed at either end, was surmounted amidship by a mast 150 feet high made from two tree trunks lashed together. The mainsail was of coarse cloth with no boom. Small masts at either end were surmounted with square sails. Posts rose high at either end, surmounted with the head of the sacred ship, or some other bird.

5.—Scarcely had the ship put out from Crete before the hurricane struck it. Driven twenty-three miles from its course, it took shelter behind the island of Cauda, where for two weeks it was tossed about in the storm. Finally, in the night, they came to shoal water, which proved to be the Isle of Malta.

6.—The sailors prepared to desert the ship, but Paul urged the soldiers to cut the ropes and set the lifeboats adrift. Daylight dawned. The ship started to beat to pieces. The soldiers suggested that they kill their prisoners. Paul dissuaded them from this. Finally, seizing boards and planks, the crew and passengers leaped into the ocean and made their way to land.

7.—A Roman soldier was responsible for his prisoner. If that prisoner escaped, the soldier was punished with death. So, in times of great stress, when escape seemed probable, the soldier killed his prisoner to protect his own life.

8.—The shipwrecked travelers remained on the island until spring, which came in about three months. Then they found a ship and went to Rome, where Paul went on trial.

9.—Paul was arraigned, but no charge was brought against him. He was given his own home and for a time a guard watched over him. Finally, he was allowed to go about as he pleased. This continued for about two years, when he was arrested a second time.

10.—Paul was cast into prison following the burning of Rome. He was condemned to death, taken without the walls of the city and beheaded.

LABORATORY TESTS CHECK EFFICACY OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Show Why This Delicious
Cereal Overcomes Common
Constipation

There are scientific reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN in preventing and relieving common constipation. Laboratory investigations show that it supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines; and vitamin B to promote appetite, and help tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements aid regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
