BEAT SHERLOCK HOLMES' RECORD

London.—(U.P.)—Scotland Yard missed only one murderer during 1933. The famous British police force dealt with 21 capital crimes during the year.
The one murderer who managed to escape London's detectives was responsible for the death of a Cypriot language master named Dr. Angelos Zemenides. A 20-year-old pastry cook, also from Cyprus, was tried for the shooting of Zemenides, but was acquitted on the evidence of ballistic experts.
The crime which temporarily baffled the police and attracted the most attention was known as the "blazing shed murder." A builder named Samuel Furness murdered a rent collector, Walter Patchett, and after placing his own ring and other identifying articles on the dead man, set fire to the shed which contained the body. The murderer was caught, but committed suicide in his cell.
Closer international police cooperation kept London practically free from spectacular coups by international jewel thieves. Only one large haul was made.

Gave Name to Tree

The magnolia tree was named for Pierre Magnol, a French botanist of the early Seventeenth century.

Juniors Are Picking Gay Plaid Cottons

Once more, classrooms begin to look like the land o' cotton, for juniors are ready to start the new semester in stylish gay plaids, checks, stripes and bright plain colors in piques, seersuckers, shirts, chambrays and dozens of other practical cotton fabrics are appearing in simple little frocks that are all the smarter for their simplicity.
Because of its tricky, broad-shoulder yoke that buttons, its slim panel lines and side-pleats from yoke to hem, this new model for the junior is one of the smartest. It's sleeveless, which makes it easy to make—the junior herself will have no difficulty in either the cutting or sewing. You might choose plaid pique in red, white and blue and trim it with a plain red pique or leather belt. Size 12 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material, 1/4 yard plain for belt.

Pattern No. 5442 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 years.

FORMER FAMOUS AVIATOR DEAD

Walter Wellman First To Try Trans-Atlantic Flight

New York, Feb. 1.—(U.P.)—Walter Wellman, first man to attempt a trans-Atlantic dirigible flight and the Lindbergh of his decade, is dead.
The 75 year old explorer retired a number of years ago and the retirement was so complete that his death was not generally known until today, although he died yesterday.
Wellman first won fame as an Arctic explorer but it was his unsuccessful attempt to cross the Atlantic in the dirigible America in 1910 that gripped the imagination of the nation as widely as when Lindbergh flew alone from New York to Paris.
The America was crude in extreme compared to the latter day zeppelin type dirigibles. It was 228 feet long. Two motors of 80 horsepower each propelled it and one of 10 horsepower served as a donkey engine. The most startling feature of the America was her equilibrium which trailed in the water and was designed to keep the ship at an average height of 200 feet.
This device succeeded only in wrecking the America when she was 72 hours at sea. She had traveled north, then doubled back hoping to reach Bermuda, but ended her voyage when she sighted the S. S. Trent 400 miles off Matanzas. She had traveled 1,003 miles.
From 1884 to 1911, he was Washington correspondent for the Chicago Herald and the Chicago Record-Herald. He eventually gave up journalism to devote all his time to exploration. He was an intimate friend of President

BLIND STUDENT AT RADCLIFFE

Cambridge, Mass.—(U.P.)—Dorothy Daniels, first blind girl to enter Radcliffe College since Helen Keller, thinks people either admire or pity blind people, and is determined never to be pitied.
A freshman, Miss Daniels has already passed the proficiency test in swimming, necessary for a degree. She wasn't satisfied with just learning to swim, and is perfecting the crawl.
She wants to be a lawyer, and will try to enter either Harvard or Yale law school after getting her college degree. At present she is concentrating on English, French, Latin, history and English literature.
Miss Daniels takes her school notes in braille. Volunteer readers help her in her studies. She types her own school papers. She takes her examinations privately.
The blind student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Daniels of Auburn. She attended Perkins Institute and Worcester North high school. Slim and active, she is fond of the theater and concerts.

Couple Found Dead In Hotel Room Today

Austin, Texas, Feb. 1.—(U.P.)—The bodies of Mrs. A. C. Perrin, wife of a University of Texas professor and Dr. Claude Mattingly, young married physician, were found in a hotel room here today. A doctor who examined the bodies said both died from overdoses of morphine.

Snared in Dillinger Round-Up

Betraying an unusual coyness when faced with the camera, Opal Lana (left) and Mary Kinder, two women captured in the round-up of the Dillinger gang in Tucson, Ariz., are pictured as they were arraigned in the Arizona city and ordered held for extradition in $100,000 bail.

LOCALS.

Among those from out of the city who attended the funeral of I. W. Macy, held here yesterday, were Messrs. and Mesdames James Beatty, Eddie Legges, Wayne Coy, T. M. Peterson, J. R. Smith of Preble.

Cal Peterson and his crew of painters returned from Columbus, Miss., last evening. Cal says the temperature down there was four above and the paint refused to spread.
Frank Thompson, Mrs. Roger Swain, Mrs. Naomi Frisbee, Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. Justice Weber of Bluffton were guests of the J. H. Heller family yesterday.

Republican State Committee Meets

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—Reorganization of the Republican state committee was among subjects informally discussed at a meeting of the committee here today.
Under the election laws the regular reorganization will take place May 16 following the primaries and the local reorganization programs. The meeting was called by Don Irwin, Frankfort, chairman, and Ora Baker, road superintendent for the Bluffton district of the state highway commission, visited here today.

Harry Harlan of Indianapolis was a caller in Decatur this morning.

M. Beavers of Route 2 was a business visitor in this city today.

Albert Hesser of route 2, Berne, one of our subscribers for the past twenty-five years was in and renewed his paper today.

Fire Destroys Two Homes Near Bluffton

Bluffton, Feb. 1.—Two fine farm homes near Bluffton were totally destroyed by fire Wednesday. The Charles McKinney two-story residence southwest of Bluffton was razed by fire shortly before noon at an estimated loss of $4,000.
Shortly after noon, the Simon Beckel farm home, two miles east of this city, tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Vince Pease and the Merle Cass family, was destroyed with an approximate loss of $3,000.

Predict 85,000 To Sign Contracts

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 1.—(U.P.)—More than 85,000 Hoosier farmers are expected to sign the corn-hog contracts and take advantage of the government's corn-hog reduction plan, it was estimated today by L. E. Hoffman, assistant county agent leader at Purdue university.
"Interest among farmers is increasing daily," he said, "and in some townships the farmers will sign up almost 100 per cent."

"I keep fit"

"...in these days of recovery...if I don't, someone else will have my job." How? "Well, I learned years ago that work...wear and tear...takes something out of men and women—particularly those who work indoors."

"I tore down those precious red-blood-cells faster than my good body could rebuild. A friend told me the story of that grand medicine S.S.S. Now at 4 P. M. I am fit to still carry on."

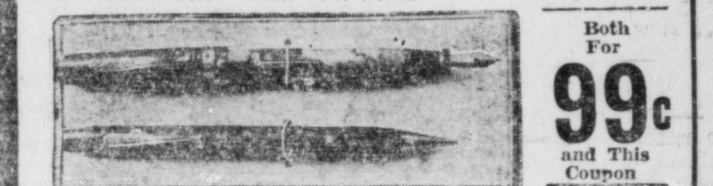

If you feel weak...lack a keen appetite...or if your skin is pale...try S.S.S. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick up in your appetite...your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

S.S.S. is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-globin of the blood to enable you to "carry on" without exhaustion as you should naturally.
