The war against depression may be tough, but at least there is not very much poison gas around and no heavy artillery or bullets.—Boston Globe.

Jimmy Walker must feel highly honored to again make the first page and in company with such distinguished citizens as Mellon, Lamont and Sidlo.

Mr. Mellon says the investigation regarding his income tax affairs is crude and the public feels he ought to have been a little more crude in some of the transactions while he was treasurer of the United States.

A London baby was born with a curly tail and they are going to remove it. If that would happen in a Yankee family, the tail would be encouraged until the youngster was old enough to become the chief attraction of a side-show.

Threats of local option make us wonder if we are again to go through that experiment. When the liquor question is settled it will probably be by teaching the young people the harm it does instead of making it a game of hide and seek.

If John Dillinger gets a bunch of the bandits together and makes an attack on the Lima jail to free the man who shot his way in to take his pal, Pierpont out, they will be wiped out, which might be the best way to settle the whole affair.

Senator Jim Watson is willing to accept the national chairmanship if all factions of the party desire him to do so. If they agree on Jim, they are grasping and gasping, for the Lord knows there are many who would much prefer any one else in the world. He is the kind of a fighter who makes good friends and tough enemies.

The sheriff race continues to warm up and by the time the flag is dropped at six o'clock on the evening of primary election day, it ought to be about the most interesting contest ever held in the county. The boys are taking it in a good natured manner and each candidate should remember that it's that kind of a scrap, with honors going to the winner.

SUNDAY, MON. TUE. WED.—"DINNER AT EIGHT" with MARIE DRESSLER and All Star Cast.

There are two sides to the Star's demand that the governor offer a $5,000 reward to be paid from public funds. Such things soon become rackets and once started, would soon deplete any fund. It is the duty of police officials to render such assistance in a case of this kind as they can and those who fail should be removed from office.

The President has stopped army air mail service and it will not be started again until trained men in planes specially adapted are prepared to take up the jobs. The people say "hurrah for a man with the courage to do big things in a big way." He had been assured that the army fliers could do this job and perhaps with a little training and with the special planes, they could have done so without the loss of ten lives, but the President refused to further permit the sacrifice.

And now the boy from St. Marys, Ohio, Charles Makley, who held up the Linn Grove bank and took part in a number of raids in Indiana and Ohio is on trial for the murder of Sheriff Sarber of Lima, Ohio. With the echo of the Pierpont verdict ringing in his ears, he is probably not as "cocky" as he has been. Any one can be nervous when he holds a machine gun in his hand and the other fellow has no means of defense but we will see how he faces a real test. Sooner or later, those who lead the kind of lives these fellows have, must meet up with justice. It doesn't pay.

Threats of local option make us wonder if we are again to go through that experiment. When the liquor question is settled it will probably be by teaching the young people the harm it does instead of making it a game of hide and seek.

The Manicure
 An acid for the manicure can be made by putting one teaspoon of lemon juice into a cup of warm water. Stains will be removed from the fingers and nails, and it will loosen the cuticle.

Basting
 When basting a garment, place the knots of the thread on the right side of the material. They will be much easier to remove when the article is finished.

Egg Stains
 Before washing the article, always soak the egg spots in cold water, or sponge the spotted places. Part of the egg can often be scraped off with a knife.

Fourth Annual Conference Will Be Held At Purdue Mar. 20-21

INSIDE Lafayette, Mar. 13.—(Special)—Discussion of the business and professional problems of the retail druggist will be combined with a semi-centennial celebration of the founding of the Purdue University school of pharmacy at the fourth annual Druggists' Business Conference which will be held at Purdue, March 20-21. HOUSE FAVORS VET BENEFITS BY HUGE VOTE send the bill to the President. However, should the senate also pass the bonus, Mr. Roosevelt has announced flatly that he will veto it. The necessary votes to override the veto can not be obtained in the senate.

The house revolt on the bonus issue had been anticipated. It led to one of the most unruly sessions since the President took office. Speaker of the House Henry T. Rainey and other administration leaders conceded that it was useless to attempt to block the house. "The house will pass the bill," said Rainey ruefully, "it always does."

Angry debate preceded passage as administration leaders and strong Republican opponents of the bonus charged the bill's adherents with making a political gesture and bill for veterans' votes in the coming congressional elections. "This is nothing but a political swindle," charged Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y. "The veterans won't get a penny and you know it."

Such attacks, however, were few and were quickly beaten down by the bonus proponents. On the final vote, many staunch Democratic leaders voted with the bonus group. Favoring the bonus were 231 Democrats, 59 Republicans and five
