Fire Razed Frontier Cabin
Tiffin, O.—(U.P.)—One of the last vestiges of frontier Ohio, a 114-year-old log cabin, was consumed by fire here when a kerosene lantern exploded. The cabin, a Seneca county landmark, was built by Samuel Aiken, who received the land as a grant from President James Madison in 1820.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

By ELLEN WORTH

Every Line Is a Soft Flattery

This is a charming frock, with the soft flattery that only a feminine very sheer frock give. Its flared sleeves are capelets, diaphanously cool for a hot summer's afternoon. A hot contrast is buttoned at the waistline the tucked blouse, and the skirt has flared side panels. We suggest one of the new silk voiles as perfect fabric for this sort of dress. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards material, 3/4 yard 39-inch contrast. Width 3 1/2 yards.

Pattern No. 5487 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 bust.

CHRIST AND THE CHILDREN

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR APRIL 8, 1934
Matthew 8:1-14; 19:13-15.

By HARLOWE R. HOYT
WALTER SCOTT

In the summer of the third year of the ministry of Jesus, he came with his disciples to the village of Capernaum, where he had made his home after leaving Galilee. To Peter came the representatives of the temple to collect the tribute which was due them. When Peter had paid, they asked him: "Doth not your master pay tribute?" "Yes," said Peter; and went to Jesus.

When Peter came to Jesus, he asked him: "Of whom do earthly kings take tribute—their own children or strangers?" "Of strangers," answered Peter. "Then are the children free," Jesus returned. "However, lest we offend, go to the sea and cast the hook. In the mouth of the first fish, thou shalt find a piece of money. Give it to them, for me and for thee." This Peter did.

And shortly after, the disciples came to Jesus asking: "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" Jesus called a little child to him and said: "Verily, I say unto you, except ye be converted and become as little children, ye shall not enter the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven."

"And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name, receiveth me," Jesus continued. "But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. If a man have a hundred sheep and one go astray, shall he not leave the ninety and nine and seek it?"

The Ninety and Nine
by Harlowe R. Hoyt

Of all the homely hymns which have survived through the days, that of "The Ninety and Nine" is one of the most familiar.
"There are ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold"
Based on the parable of Jesus wherein the shepherd left the ninety-and-nine safe within their haven and went out to seek the one sheep, lost in the night and the storm, the hymn has been sung far and wide. For, the parable gave to it a heartfelt tenderness which assured its human quality.

Jesus knew that it was not those who were safe within the religious fold who needed care and watching. It was the one who had not seen the light that must be saved—or the one who had transgressed who must be won back. It was not the one who had riches that must be cared for—but the poor, and helpless, the friendless and forlorn, the widow and orphan, who must have protecting care.

In this parable, Jesus gave the essence of Christianity. Kindness and tenderness for the one in need was the creed. Not only did this apply to religion but to material things as well. The poor can realize much better the teachings of Christianity if it is backed by warm clothing and wholesome food. And Jesus knew full well that this must be taught to the bigots and self seeking who had no care for their neighbor.

How does this parable apply to us today? Draw your own lesson and let the words mean something more than the written accompaniment to a hymn tune.

Sunday School ? QUESTIONS ?

Christ and The Children

QUESTIONS
1. When and where did the incidents of today's lesson occur?
2. What was the temple tax?
3. What miracle did Christ perform in connection with it?
4. What question did the disciples ask of Jesus?
5. What gave rise to this?
6. How did Jesus answer them?
7. What was the parable which he spoke at this time to drive his point home?
8. What similar incident is given in regard to children?
9. What was the purpose of Jesus' teaching?
10. What did Christ say in regard to the treatment of children?

ANSWERS
1. The incidents of today's lesson occurred at Capernaum and in the temple. The first in the summer of 29 A.D., and the second in March, 30 A.D.
2. The temple tax was a tax imposed upon all good Jews which was collected by the priests of the temple and which was devoted to the maintenance of the building and its workers.
3. Peter came to Christ for money to pay the temple tax. Christ commanded him to catch a fish, in the mouth of which he would find the coin with which to pay the tax. This Peter did.
4. When the disciples came with Jesus back from the mount of the transfiguration, they were convinced that he was to set up a kingdom. They disputed among themselves as to which should be the greatest and so asked him.
5. There was a feeling among the twelve that each was closest to Jesus—Peter because of his recognition of the Christ; James and John because they were his cousins; Judas, the treasurer, because he was the only officer. Others put forth claims as well.
6. Jesus called a little child and told them that unless they became as this youth they could not enter the kingdom of heaven.
7. He preached the parable of the ninety-and-nine. If a man have a hundred sheep and one go astray, does he not leave the ninety and nine and seek it?
8. In the parable, Jesus brought their children to be blessed. The disciples, seeing him engaged in teaching and disputations, told the mothers to go away. But Jesus said: "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not. For of such is the kingdom of heaven."
9. Jesus taught, by these examples, the need of humility and the willingness to serve as an intrinsic part of Christianity.
10. "Whoso shall cause one of these little ones that believe in me to stumble, it is profitable for him that a great millstone be hanged about his neck and that he shall be sunk in the depth of the sea."

First Baptist Church
