GIANTS LOSING FIGHTING EDGE

World Champs Lose Fifth Game In Eight Starts On Tour

New York, May 11.—(UPI)—It seems somewhat premature to be writing about the world champion Giants' "crack-up," but there's no need of borrowing the Lick Observatory telescope to see they've lost their 1933 fighting edge.

Their performances while losing five out of eight games against western teams actually alarmed New York baseball writers traveling with the club. They lost one of three to Cincinnati, two of three to the Pirates and two straight to the Cardinals, dropping from first place to a third-place tie.

Writers with the Terrymen expressed their concern as follows: Red Rennie, Herald-Tribune: The entire team is out of tune. It has no life. The old zip is gone. Tom Meany, World-Telegram: The Giants are playing like a lot of old men. Gone is the fight, flash and fire which they showed in the early games at home. Will Wedge, Sun: The Giants somehow don't look right, here in the west. There is not the 1933 spirit and hustle in the club. Garry Schu-macher, Journal: They've bogged down in every department. They're listless and indifferent.

After playing the Cards today and tomorrow the Giants step into a three-game series with the formidable Cubs. Their outlook, for the nonce, is somewhat dreary.

Yesterday the Cards dragged into a third-place tie by winning, 5 to 4.

It was the Cards' fourth straight victory and their 11th triumph in 12 starts. St. Louis won in the seventh when the marginal tally came in after singles by Rothrock and Frisch and Medwick's long fly. Hal Schumacher allowed the Cards' 11 hits.

The Cubs strengthened their lead by trouncing the Dodgers, 12 to 8, in a game featured by six home runs. Chuck Klein recaptured the majors' home run leadership with his eighth. His mates, Hartnett and Bill Herman, also hit for the circuit. Frey, Leslie and Cuccinelli made Brooklyn homers. Cincinnati downed the Braves, 5 to 2, with Lombardi leading the Reds' nine-hit attack with a triple and single. Philadelphia at Pittsburgh was rained out.

In the American league, the Athletics rose into a tie with idle Washington for second place by beating Detroit, 5 to 3, for their fourth straight triumph. New York strengthened its lead by smashing the White Sox, 13 to 3, for Jimmy Dykes' first managerial defeat.

Lou Gehrig drove in seven Yankee runs with two homers and two doubles in four tries.

Cleveland rose to fourth place by shading the Red Sox, 11 to 10. This dropped Boston from a third-place tie with the Athletics to fifth position. The Indians won in the 8th when Joe Vosmik made a homer with two aboard. Averill had done likewise in the fifth. Boston got off to a six-run lead in the first, but four errors contributed to their down-fall.

St. Louis at Washington was washed out.

CHUCK KLEIN IS CUB SPARKPLUG

Star Outfielder Is Pacing Cubs In National League Lead

Chicago, May 11.—(UPI)—The Chicago Cubs are winging away in first place in the National league pennant race, and the big No. 1 reason why is Charles Herbert Klein.

The Cubs started at a dizzy pace behind Klein's power, went into a slump when he lost his batting eye for a few games, and then picked up their speed once more as soon as he found the range again with deadly mace.

Klein is easily the most valuable player on the Cubs team for the 22 games they have played, and the figures prove he's the most valuable man in the league up to now.

Although batting only .348—it's Klein's idea that .348 is a small batting average—Klein leads the league in hits and home runs, is tied for the lead in runs batted in, and is second in runs scored. No other player can boast of that kind of a batting record thus far.

He has been to bat 87 times, made 32 hits, scored 21 runs and driven in 23 runs. Bucky Medwick, Cardinals, is tied with him in runs batted in, and Arky Vaughn, Pirates, has scored four more runs than he has.

Klein has hammered out eight home runs, and as he keeps up his present pace the rest of the season he will exactly tie Hack Wilson's National league record of 56 homers.

In addition to leading the Cubs' offense, Klein is covering left field for them as it has never been covered in years. He is making circus catches, and holding doubles to singles with his fast play on balls hit in front of him.

Klein had a stony on his eye shortly after the season opened, but refused to allow Manager Charles Grimm to take him out of the lineup. The stony may have had something to do with his batting slump of last week when he went through eight games and 34 times at bat with only four hits, but he didn't complain. Klein is that kind of a ball player and he doesn't hurt the morale of a team any.

When Babe Herman was in a bad slump and having his bat at the air, Klein, hitting ahead of him, would say:

"Come on, Babe, let's hit one together."

ONE OF TWIN BOYS IS DEAD

Two Days Battle Fails To Save Life of 6-Months Old Boy

New York, May 11.—(UPI)—A two-days battle enlisting modern science, a police emergency squad and gas company experts failed today to save the life of Roy Barry, the weakest of six months old twins suffering from pneumonia.

Roy died this morning, but his brother, Ross, was believed out of danger.

The twins, sons of Peter and Rose Barry, were stricken Wednesday.

The doctor appealed to the gas company for oxygen and then sent a second and third appeal to police. An emergency squad sped the supplies to the Barry home and eventually an oxygen tent was fitted over the crib.

Neighbors kneeling on the sidewalk before the home prayed for the babies.

Exactly a year from the day Mr. and Mrs. Barry watched twin daughters, Vera and Eileen, die of pneumonia, the battle to save Roy failed.

Ross, larger of the six months old twins, breathed almost normally, and the oxygen tent was removed from his crib.

As the crisis approached many neighbors were seen to drop to their knees on the sidewalk outside. Others offered candles at nearby Holy Name Catholic church. Among the supplicants were three older Barry children, Ronald, 8; Marie, 7, and three-year-old Robert, kneeling in grave mimicry.

For a year until recently clerk and carpenter Barry was jobless. Then as he rejoiced at a new job pneumonia struck his family again.

"She was well-dressed and attractive," Mrs. Lutzi told officers. "She was watching the mansion and grounds, and when my husband asked what she wanted, she began questioning us about the Gettles. We told her the Gettles were at home and drove away. I
