It won't be long now until you can feel safe when you look at that half bushel of coal over in the corner of the furnace room.

The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Girl Scouts sold poppies so rapidly last Saturday that an additional five hundred had to be ordered before noon. It pays to advertise.

The boys who use air guns and targets should remember they violate the law when they shoot birds or destroy property. The truth is that the use of guns within the city limits is dangerous and should not be encouraged.

The speedway races are not only dangerous on Decoration Day but in the days when the boys are qualifying. The track is rough and the turns are dangerous and death and serious accidents lurk in every inch of the way around the two and a half mile lap.

The nudists are attracting considerable attention this spring as they prepare for the season. Opinion is divided as to whether they ought to be arrested for indecency or permitted to stroll around until they bump into a patch of Canada thistles.

We regret that the proximity of Decatur to Fort Wayne may prevent that excellent city from securing a homestead project from the Department of the Interior but we can't hold back during these days when every community must do its best to go places and do things.

The Literary Digest vote continues to show a strong tendency in favor of the Roosevelt policies. With ballots taken in nine eastern states, all of them vote favorably excepting Maine where it is very close. Even in Pennsylvania they have so far voted nearly two to one in support of the New Deal.

We appreciate the spirit of the local merchants in advertising this season. It's the best tonic any community can have and we hope they keep it up. After all the local newspaper speaks for you and anything that makes us lively, helps every one, whether they want it or not.

Congress will soon be over and it has been a strenuous and important session, regardless of the criticisms offered. More tense than during the war and with every department crowded constantly, it has required good judgment to direct the old Ship of State so as to avoid the dangerous reefs.

Congressman Farley is a fighter for the sugar industry as represented here and loses no opportunities to see that the interests of the Central Sugar Company are protected. He is likewise for the farmer, laboring man and every business in his district and has an excellent record.

The Republican state convention will be held next week to be followed a week later by the Democratic meeting. So far the greatest interest manifested is in who will win the Democratic nomination for United States senator. With a field of eight and more dark horses than stated entries, the outcome is mighty uncertain, regardless of claims.

The Chicago world's fair is on again and they claim it is bigger and in many ways better than last year. Of course they are going to talk so much about it that every one who saved up and went last year, will feel they are getting the worst of it unless they take another look at the midway and the tower and the features. And it will probably be worth the effort.

In the period during which Federal regulation of stock exchanges has been under consideration by Congress, or from Feb. 5 to May 14, the market value of 100 issues listed on the stock exchange here has declined $4,136,777.574, according to a computation by a broker. Not all of this depreciation in value is attributed, however, to the unsettledness caused by the prospect of strict regulation, but the broker gave some illustrations of the significance of the decline. The sum named, he estimated, would buy all of last year's wheat crop at $7.50 a bushel; or would build 1,000,000 homes at $4,000 each; would buy 4,136,777 $1,000 automobiles; would reemploy 10,000,000 idle persons ten weeks at $40 a week; would pay the Federal deficit for 1933 1.35 times, or would pay 15.9 per cent of the national debt. — New York Times.

MANY BILLS TO BE CONSIDERED

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson is also hopeful of passing the silver remonetization plan this week without lengthy debate.

The sailing is not so clear for other legislation. Both the administration housing plan and the labor disputes bill will meet opposition.

There have been reports that the housing program would be put aside due to criticism which has arisen in house and senate committee hearings. The labor bill is not yet on the calendar of must legislation although passage generally is expected. It is under fire both as too weak and as too strong.

Even the administration relief program has heavy going and the measure which appropriates $1,322,000,000 is in for revision. There is strong sentiment in the house for earmarking the funds for specific purposes.

A number of bills which have been slated for passage probably will be lost in the shuffle. One such measure was thought to be the bill broadening the powers of the AAA. The new powers have been asked by Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace but have been attacked in the senate agriculture committee. It seemed unlikely that the committee could agree on any bill which would substantially increase the secretary's authority.

The Gospel Temple meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lytle home, corner Eleventh and Nuttman avenue.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 27.—Silliest of the rumors to gain currency here was that Enrico Caruso, Jr., had a voice double for the arias in his Spanish version of "The Fortune Teller."

Enrico Caruso, Jr.

It is a true story that the son of the great tenor never sang until three years ago. He was born in Italy, but went to school at the very American Culver Military Academy where he played football and basketball.

During the war he enlisted in the Italian army and served three years. It was not until he was about 30 that De la Huerta, former president of Mexico and now a well known voice teacher, persuaded young Caruso to follow a singing career.

He is now described by those who know him as ambitious but modest. One of his most persistent pleas to the Warner Brothers studio is for his private life not to be publicized.

Following his recent auto accident, Sidney Blackmer ordered a new car in Detroit and persuaded a friend to drive it out for him. The actor received the following letter from Memphis:

"Dear Pal: Struck a tar road in Kentucky and three of the new white-walled tires peeled off so I am riding on the rims. Tried to pass a truck on a bridge and the top and rumble seat got ripped off. But you don't need a top in California. Was looking at the gas level with a match and the tank blew off. However, I've got a 5 gallon oil can for gas and machine will reach you 100 percent unless I trade her in for a mule and use two jackasses ride in together."

London friends of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., report the actor very much annoyed at stories that he refused to return to California without Gertrude Lawrence. Also at
