Winning Tri Kappa Section Honored With Dinner Party

Sections one and two of the Tri Kappa sorority, headed by Miss Isabel Hower and Mrs. William Bell entertained the members of section three of the organization, with Mrs. Paul Saurer, chairman, at a specially appointed dinner at the Rice hotel, Monday night.

Guests at the dinner, members of the winning section in a recent contest, included the Mesdames: Paul Saurer, Avon Burk, Dan Tyndall, Lois Black, Albert Gehrig, W. W. Calland and W. Guy Brown and Miss Florence Haney.

A three course dinner was served at six-thirty o'clock and the dining room of the hotel was transformed into a French cafe. The tables were covered with brightly checked luncheon cloths and centered with smoked bottles and tapers. The dinner was eaten by candle light.

Place cards and programs of black and white with silhouette designs marked the covers and the rooms were decorated with huge baskets of flowers and autumn leaves. Miss Ruth Engle, garbed in true French fashion, acted as cigarette girl.

Each of the honored guests, and Miss Isabel Hower, the president of the sorority, were presented with miniature corsages.

Between courses of the dinner a clever floor show was presented with Miss Alice Allwein acting as mistress of ceremony. A tap dance, "The Bowery" was presented by the Mesdames Kathryn Hower, Eileen Burk, Kathryn Engler, Mary Coverdale and Isabel Hower, with Miss Louise Hanbold, the accompanist. The members of the tap dance number were cleverly dressed in Bowery costumes.

Miss Helen Hanbold sang "Little Man, You've Had a Busy Day Today," and Miss Louise Hanbold played a medley of songs, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," "New Moon over My Shoulder," and "I Saw Stars." A song and make William I the conqueror. A slender graceful man bundled in furs rides a grey monoplane over the Antarctic mountains. Ten centuries lie between them, but the immortal blood line of the Byrds, fliers through uncharted skies, is the same, for Richard Evelyn Byrd is his descendant.

Mrs. Lewton stated that Byrds classics are used at the present time in the high schools. These classics were written by William Byrd II, who penned the famous Westover papers, classic documents of colonial times.

Subtopics were given by Mrs. D. Myers and Mrs. D. B. Erwin. Pictures of the ancestral home, members of the family, and a map of Little America were shown.

A business meeting was held. The next study meeting will be held Monday afternoon at the country home of Mrs. E. S. Moses.

INITIAL MEETING OF ART DEPARTMENT

The first meeting of the Art Department of the Woman's Club for the fall and winter season was held Monday night at the home of Mrs. Homer Lower on North Second street.

The meeting was in the form of a dinner at which the officers of the department, Misses Kathryn Kauffman, Fern Passwater and Mary Macy, Mesdames A. R. Ashbacher and R. A. Stuckey, were in charge.

The dinner was served at small tables laid with linens and centered with tall bud vases of flowers. A profusion of fall folwars was arranged about the entertaining rooms. Following the dinner games were enjoyed.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Baughman on Madison street Thursday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Mrs. C. Abney will be the hostess.

J. T. MERRYMAN HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

The birthday anniversary of former judge J. T. Merryman, well known local resident, was observed at a birthday dinner served at his home on North Second street Sunday.

The dining table was centered with a large decorated birthday cake bearing lighted tapers. Mr. Merryman received a number of birthday gifts.

Guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Quinn of Oak Park, Illinois; Frank Tilbury and Mr.

HOLLYWOOD. . . —Strange how the legend persists that Max Baer broke Benny Rubin's arm during their vaudeville tour, and that bad blood exists between the two. Both the champ and Benny deny the incident and insist they are the best of friends.

However, that may be, Paramount has signed Rubin to assist Adela Rogers St. Johns Hyland with the screen play of Max's picture, "Kids on the Cuff." And Max himself is responsible for the move.

Take it from Eddie Marin, a certain Hollywood producer had his whole company in stitches the other day. They were filming a swimming pool sequence in a musical, and a row of cuties were diving into the pool, swimming around, then running back around the set and diving in again.

This went on until one of the girls fainted in the water and had to be dragged out.

After emergency treatment had failed to revive her, the director shouted:

"Here, somebody, get an artificial respirator!"

The producer, who was dancing around with excitement, fairly belted: "What do you mean 'get an artificial respirator'? I got plenty of money. Get a real one!"

She's a courageous little trouser, this Cora Sue Collins, who must be all of seven years old. The youngster (remember her as the infant Garbo in "Queen Christina") adores her older sister, Madge, who goes to Hollywood high school. The other night Madge started out to the corner drug store and was struck down by an automobile. She was brought home with a trained nurse . . . seriously injured, too. But the next day Cora Sue showed up at the M. G. M. studio and, between tears, went through her scenes in "Evelyn Prentice."

An ardent amateur cameraman, Carl Brisson, the Danish star, plans to photograph a full-length blood-and-thunder western melodrama—a 16-millimeter film. Brisson and his wife will play the sympathetic leads and the actor's pal, Duke York, will be the heavy. The camera will be handled by the actor's brother, Fred Petersen.

What wealthy Hollywood playboy makes a nightly pilgrimage to the most expensive of the late spots and then spends three quarters of the evening in a telephone booth, calling up his friends all over the country?

Tracing the source of spring water seeping down the hillside of his ranch, Richard Dix has uncovered a cave supposed to have been used as a hiding place by the colorful California bandit, Joaquin Murietta. Rich describes the underground chamber as about the size of an ordinary living room. It contains a spring and its approach is covered by brush.

There are plentiful signs of previous occupation. Authenticity of the legend was attested by Refugio Espinosa, who told the film star of the cave when he sold the ranch, but was unable to give its location.

Dix, who has twice played Murietta in his motion picture career, will erect a monument above the cave. He also plans to convert it into a game room.

KNICK-KNACKS—
They're calling Fred Perry, English tennis ace, Hollywood's most important cavalier. For every evening he spent with Loretta Young, the next would find him with Bette Davis. Yes, Bette's husband knew all about it and gave his permission.

George Raft had a birthday the other day and Virginia Pine's present was a sterling silver dressing table set. . . . Charles Irwin and Helen Mack are still each other's favorite people. Saw them at Henri's 50-50 club. . . . Paramount wishes it knew what to do with Pauline Lord's railroad tickets. She went to Agua Caliente the other week-end and is still there. . . . The Vincent Lopez opening at the Beverly Wilshire Gold room was one of those occasions. So many band leaders turned up there was hardly room for the stars. Ted Fio-Rito, with Lois Wilson, Jimmie Grier, Bus Arnhem, all were on hand to applaud their rival. . . . And the music plenty hot, especially when Lopez hammered the piano. Interesting twosomes present included Nancy Carroll and Van Smith, Ann Southern and Roger Pryor, Lorena Layson and Danny Danker, Molly O'Day and Jack Duran, Hazel Forbes and her boy friend of the silk millions.

DID YOU KNOW—
That the English-born Frank Lawton, who'll play David Copperfield, is the son of an American actor who went to England in 1898 and never came back?

and Mrs. Ralph Tilbury of Toledo, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Bell and Mrs. Della Challenger of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Avon Burk and daughter Eileen.

A phone message was received from Mr. Merryman's son, Charles and wife of Des Arc, Arkansas, and messages were received from his granddaughter, Louise Quinn who has just returned from overseas, from his daughter-in-law Mrs. R. A. Merryman and son of Delhi, Louisiana, and from the three grandchildren in college.

The regular meeting of the V. I. S. Class of the United Brethren Sunday School has been postponed until further notice.

The Happy Home Club for Mothers will meet Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the United Brethren church. This will be a guest meeting and each mother is asked to bring a guest with her. Mrs. G. Light will be the leader and an interesting program is being arranged.

The regular routine of business was conducted. Mrs. Drum gave reports on the three women characters in the Bible, Dorcas, Anna and Michel. At the next meeting Mrs. Stanley Callow will give a report of Leah, and Mrs. Mayme Teeple of Lydia.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. A social hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Teeple played several piano selections. Delicious refreshments were served to the members and two guests, Rev. and Mrs. Dawson. Mrs. Oren Schultz will be hostess at the next meeting. The drum home was decorated for the meeting Monday with bouquets of fall flowers.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Evangelical Church will meet Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the church parlors. The October group with Mrs. Clarence Smith chairman will have charge of the meeting and an interesting program has been arranged. Guest and rally day will be observed and each member is requested to bring a guest to the meeting. Special music will be the feature of the program.

Entertain for anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weber entertained Sunday in honor of their first wedding anniversary. The entertaining rooms were prettily decorated with bitter sweet and fall flowers. Games and music were enjoyed.

At six o'clock a supper was served and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gladfelter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ehinger, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Kern and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roop, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, Misses Mary C. Lenwell and Mary Andrews, Elton Archer, Grant For and Kenneth Scott, and Mr. and Mrs. Weber.

The Women's Home Missionary Society will meet Thursday evening at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poling on West Madison street. Members are reminded to provide articles for the auction.

HOLLOWAY. The family name "Holloway" (also written "Hollway") is of English origin. It means "the way of path through the hollow", and points out the location of the place of residence of the persons who were first so called. A description of London mentions the district called Holloway which includes all the land lying in the hollow beyond Islington towards Highgate Hill.

KELSCH. The family name "Kelsch" (also spelled "Koelsch" and "Kolsch") is a variation of the German "Koellisch" which means "he who comes from Cologne" (German "Koeln") is derived from the Latin "colonia" meaning "colony."

Long Slenderizing Lines, Heavier Figure

And a Most Flattering Neckline You'll Adore

By ELLEN WORTH

The lovely model patterned for today, even the amateur sewer will find exceedingly simple to fashion. The skirt consists of four sections, joined center-front, center-back and at sides with the fitted hip area with bias seams to meet each join. It creates a suppleness and lengthened line much appreciated by fuller figure. The bodice has raglan shoulders. No sleeves to bother with to set into armholes. And note the pretty bodice trim in collarlike jabot effect.

Black crepe silk, as the original model, is especially charming with its white metal threaded crepe trim.

Wool crepes, novelty crepe silk, rayon novelties, velvet, etc., are other nice fabrics for this easily made model.

Style No. 956 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards 39-inch material with ¾ yard 35-inch contrasting.
