League Members Are Pledged To Penalize Italy

To Apply Economic And Financial Penalties Against Italy; Italian Troops Take Aduwa THOUSANDS DIE

Geneva, Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—The 13 members of the League of Nations council, Italy excluded, unanimously bound themselves to the covenant today to apply economic and financial sanctions against Italy. It was learned, intended that all Italian soldiers withdrawn from its soil before any peace negotiations. The Italian government have agreed to war contrary to the provisions of the covenant, the report of the committee of six said. Without prejudice to other limitations upon their right to resort to war, members of the league are not the right without having previously conformed to the provisions of articles XII, XIII and XIV to seek by means of war a remedy for grievances they believe they have against other members.

The adoption of measures of economic by a state upon its own territory within the limits of its international obligations does not authorize another state to free itself from the obligations of the covenant.

Capture Aduwa

Adawa, Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—Italy's northern army massed in force in Adawa today after averaging a battle 39 years ago in which an Ethiopian ruler slashed 4,000 Italian soldiers to ribbons. Gen. Emilio De Bono's troops, said to have wiped out the blot on their country's military escutcheon, turned their eyes eagerly toward Asmara, the holy city of Ethiopia, 13 miles to the westward, where the tombs of Ethiopia's ancient rulers lie basking under a torrid sun.

Troops under Gen. Maravigna's command expected to capture it any time. During the past 24 hours that have spent with those advance

TWELVE KILLED AS TRANSPORT PLANE CRASHES

Engine Trouble Apparent Cause Of Tragedy This Morning

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—Apparently suddenly disabled by engine trouble, a United Airlines transport plane crashed to earth in the hilly Crow Creek country west of here early today, carrying its crew of three and nine passengers to instant death.

Almost within view of the Cheyenne airport base of the company, where it was to land, the plane was reported by its pilot, H. A. Collison, to be cruising easily through the calm, clear night at 2:17 a. m., in a radio message received here. The big, twin-engine Boeing plane was coming in from Salt Lake City and the west. Simultaneously another plane, from the east, was approaching the Cheyenne airport for a landing.

"Please delay landing until further orders, while westbound plane comes in," the airport operator radioed Collison, after the pilot had advised he was within sight of the Cheyenne water plant at Silver Crown, twelve miles northwest of here.

He tried to obtain a confirmation, but only silence greeted his radio signals. The ill-fated plane was not heard from again.

Searchers who found the wreckage could see where the huge liner had bounced three or four times as it struck, strewn wreckage over a distance of some 400 yards.

Both motors apparently were torn loose the first time the plane hit. They lay almost a quarter of a mile from the wreckage of the fuselage.

The body of the plane was broken in two in the center, with the nose facing directly toward the tail.

The bodies were scattered over many yards, some of them still in

$75,000 SUIT RESUMED HERE THIS MORNING

Physicians Present Testimony For Defense In Damage Suit

The defendants rested at 3:50 o'clock this afternoon.

Dr. C. Payne Fay of Dayton, Ohio, was the first witness put on the stand by the defense today as the $75,000 damage suit brought by Cloyd Ratliff against Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Caylor and Dr. Truman Caylor began its fourth week of trial.

Ratliff is suing for the loss of his hands which he alleges is due to the careless operation of an X-ray machine at the Caylor clinic, where he was treated for eczema.

Dr. Fay testified that he made laboratory tests for the Dayton veterans' hospital where Ratliff's hands were amputated. He stated that although he had never seen the plaintiff personally he examined tissues from his hands through a microscope.

The plaintiff objected to his giving the results of the examinations on the grounds that it was violating the right to keep confidential the conversations between a physician and a patient. The defense argued that Ratliff had already testified as to part of the examinations at the hospital and had lost his right to keep the rest of the events at the hospital private.

Judge DeVoss ruled in favor of the plaintiff, upholding the objection. Dr. Fay was not permitted to give the result of his findings to the jury.

The second witness called to the stand by the defense was Dr. Albert Broders, head of the surgical pathology department of Mayo Brothers' clinic at Rochester.

ROOSEVELT IN ORDER AGAINST SHIPPING ARMS

President Takes Series Of Moves To Insure Neutrality

Washington, Oct. 7.—(U.P.)—Administration officials today believed President Roosevelt had put this governments house in order on the neutrality question, and awaited the next move from Europe in the Italo-Ethiopian war crisis.

It was assumed generally this next step would be the imposition of financial and economic sanctions against Italy for violation of the League of Nations covenant. But whatever it is, officials here felt, the United States is in the clear.

In a series of neutrality moves as swift as those of the Italian armies invading Ethiopia, President Roosevelt formally announced that a state of war exists between Italy and Ethiopia; proclaimed an embargo on the shipment from this country of all arms, ammunition and implements of war to either belligerent; admonished all American nationals to avoid traveling on the ships of either belligerent; and informed Americans that any and all trade they might seek to carry on with either Italy or Ethiopia must be conducted at their own risk and without this government's protection.

Officialdom's consensus was that the president's action had insulated

PREVENTION OF FIRES IS URGED

Decatur Department Joins In Fire Prevention Week Plans

Fire Chief Charles Robenold announced today that his department would assist in the national observance of fire prevention week which begins today.

Fire prevention week each year includes the anniversary of the famous event in Chicago, when on October 9, 1871, Mrs. Patrick O'Leary's cow is supposed to have kicked over a lantern in its stable, beginning the greatest fire in 2,000 years.

The property damage at this fire was over $200,000,000 and over 100,000 persons were rendered homeless. Only the historic fire in Rome which Nero is, by tradition, said to have begun, was larger than the Chicago fire.

The Illinois legislative manual says that "Chicago courted just such a disaster as befell it, for inside the fire limits half the buildings were of wood. Many had been put up without any regard to durability, health or safety. Factories, hotels, stores and other structures were built after this fashion as were churches and theaters. So, when on the night of October 9, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's barn started to burn, Chicago was food for flames."

To prevent such a disaster on a smaller scale fire prevention weeks are held in the smaller
