Special Meeting On Naval Armaments

London, Feb. 11 —(UP)—Naval conferees of the United States, the British Empire, France and Italy, making repairs on the line. Identification today for the most important problem of their meeting, the limitation of battleships. So divergent are views of the delegates and so real their anxiety as to what Japan and Germany may do that a special meeting is to be held to discuss the problem.

Japan left the conference because its demand for equality with the United States and Great Britain was not conceded. Germany, its fleet strength theoretically limited by the Versailles treaty, was not invited.

Going to town with Luckies A LIGHT SMOKE of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco

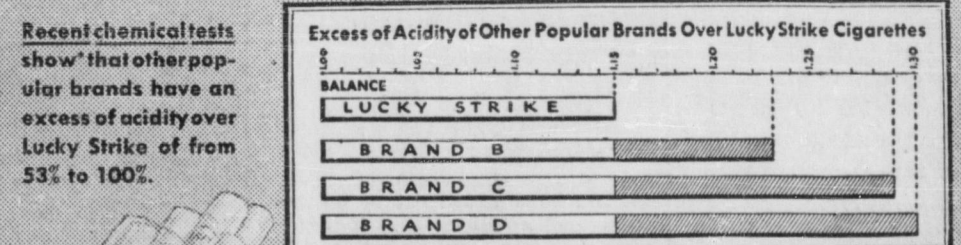

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product.

All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

BEHIND the SCENES in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

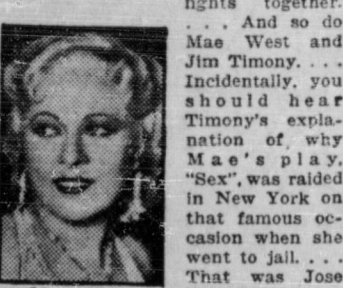

Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc. HOLLYWOOD—Was George Brent's face red? The actor got a strip of film in the mail the other day and asked Director Al Green to let him run it off with the day's rushes from his picture, "The Golden Arrow". A minute later he was sorry for a beautiful brunette appeared on the screen, announced she was Leona Andrews, 3600 Broadway, Cleveland, and asked George to marry her.

But what Brent doesn't know is that the thing was an elaborate rib from Green. After snubbing each other for months, Lupe Velez and the Countess of Prussia staged a spectacular reconciliation in the Vendome the other week. As everybody stared, they had several cocktails and then, woman proceeded to seal their new friendship by going to the beauty parlor together to get a haircut and a manicure.

You have to know Joan Muir to appreciate this fully. The star has been going around the Warner lot for days, borrowing a dollar here, another there. Knowing she is on the ninth week of a three months' layoff at the studio, some have thought she was broke. But they are wrong. Joan is just being true to her Scotch forbears. Ever since she came to Hollywood, the star has been earning one-half of her salary each week. She vowed, at the start, that she wouldn't touch this fund while she was in the city, and, rather than break her word, she is living on borrowed dollars—never more than one from a person—until her salary starts again.

Ask Me and I'm Telling You! Dorothy Hawks, Boston: What do you mean the movies still lack the courage to let the hero die at the end of the film? It's true that Ramsey Glasgow will live in the talkie version of Edna Ferber's "Come and Get It", but Leslie Howard dies, just like the stage play, in "Petrified Forest". James Cagney dies in the picture "Being Zero", and then there's always "Romance and Juliet". Fred Stone will never know that feeling of regret which comes to so many parents: "Why didn't I take more pictures of the kids when they were growing up?" Stone has 54,000 feet of full-size motion picture film covering the lives of his three daughters, Carol, Paula and Dorothy. Up until their eighteenth year. He just finished the one of Carol the other day and presented it to her on her eighteenth birthday.

Mae West

Very funny to hear some of the film colony matrons do a first degree burn over the "white" Mayfair party. It was all right for the slim girls to have to wear white dresses, they sizzled, but what about the perfect thirty-eights and forties?

What big-time divorce suit, soon to hit the front pages, will rock the film colony to its foundations if the husband uses the dictaphone records made right here in Hollywood? Plenty of familiar voices are heard saying the strangest things.

HOLLYWOOD TICKET-TAP—Alice Faye and Vic Orsatti still like each other enough to go to the fights together. And so do Mae West and Jim Timony. Incidentally, you should hear Timony's explanation of why Mae's play, "Sex", was raided in New York on that famous occasion when she went to jail. That was Jose Iturbi dining again with Ruth Chatterton at the Coconut Grove. Richard Boleslawski is going to visit the Mount Wilson observatory, to see Venus cross Mars... or double-cross him, Boleslawski suspects. Charlie Chaplin and Paulette Goddard are being seen around the night spots again. Most recently at the French bar in the Biltmore. Footballers Bobby Wilson and Bobby Grayson got radios from Bing Crosby for helping him in his broadcast. And it's no work and green pastures for Spencer Tracy's favorite pole mount, "White Socks". The eight-year-old animal is being aired.

DID YOU KNOW—That Rochelle Hudson once danced in a window to attract trade to a store in Claremore, Okla.?
