Memorial, Evansville 36, Lackawanna, N. Y. 30
Commodores 32, Walsenburg, Colo. 24
St. George, Evanston 36, Dubuque, Iowa 29
Prairie Du Chien, Wisc. 34, Huntington, W. Va. 33
St. Phillip, Chicago 43, Lacrosse, Wisc. 27
St. Mary's, Anderson 29, Baton Rouge, La. 23
St. Francis, S. D. 36, Elizabeth, N. J. 28

Three Indiana and three Illinois teams were among the eight remaining teams in the running for the championship of the annual national Catholic tourney at Loyola university at Chicago as quarter-final contests were to start early this afternoon.

The Decatur Commodores, one of the select eight, tackles one of the strongest teams in the tourney when they meet St. George of Evanston, Ill. The Evanston team was runner-up to De LaSalle for the Chicago city championship, losing out in the final game after a double overtime clash.

In the first game this afternoon, De LaSalle is to meet Memorial of Evansville, followed by the Decatur-St. George clash.

In the third game Campion academy of Prairie du Chien, Wis. will meet St. Phillip of Chicago, while the final clash will bring together St. Mary's of Anderson, Indiana state champions, and the Indian team from St. Francis, Mission, S. D.

The Commodores came through the second round Friday with a 32 to 24 triumph over St. Mary's of Walsenburg, Colo. After a close first half, the Commodores tallied 11 points to 2 in the third quarter to take a commanding lead. Braden was again high scorer for Decatur, as in the first round contest against Union City, N. J.

The most impressive victory scored Friday was De LaSalle's one-sided triumph over Xavier of Louisville, defending champions, 34 to 21. While the Chicago team was favored to win this contest, a close battle had been predicted.

Semi-final contests will be played tonight, with the championship tilt scheduled for Sunday night.

farther and got excited. Proofs of the final installments were dispatched airmail.

I wasn't able to find out whether Clark got them in time or not. His letter was dated Jan 8 and four days later he died in the electric chair for murder.

Special to E. L. Paul, of Rochester, N. Y.: Yes, actual bullets are used when you see vases and things shattered in screen gun fights. They are fired by expert marksmen standing out of range of the camera. So far, there have been no serious mishaps, though players are occasionally cut by flying glass. It happened to Ted Oliver, an actor in "Border Flight".

Interesting that the score for "Anthony Adverse" will be original music, a veritable symphony now being composed by Erich Wolfgang Korngold, who did such a fine job of arranging the Mendelssohn score for "A Midsummer Night's Dream". Dr. Korngold is studying the tones of the players' voices in "Anthony Adverse" and is composing a theme for each principal. His score sheet will be one of the most elaborate in Hollywood history.

Just saw Clark Gable's Valentine Ford and what a transformation! When Carole Lombard gave it to him, it was a pile of junk. To get the last laugh on her, he sent it to a garage to be re-built and, then he drove the rejuvenated flivver out to the studio to show it to his fellow workers at M. G. M.

It has a new coat of white paint, chromium cow's sides, extra-wide wheels, all sorts of fancy gadgets and a motor stepped up so much that the old 1928 model now fairly flies.

Luise Rainer is finding the Chinese shoes the toughest thing about her role in "Good Earth". She turned an ankle recently and was hobbling around for several days. Incidentally, Luise's brother, Hans, did not go back to Vienna after all. Instead, he got himself a job in a San Francisco bank.

Many of you have read "Hurricane", best-seller novel by the authors of "Mutiny on the Bounty" and soon to be made into a picture by Samuel Goldwyn.

When this exciting story was running as a serial in a national weekly the publishers received a letter from Miller F. Clark, a convict in the Charleston state prison.

He wrote: "I am going to leave next week and, where I am going, I can't get your magazine. I am very much interested in the story, 'Hurricane', and I will appreciate it very much if you could send me proofs, so I can finish it before I go."

The publishers read on a bit

Clarkias and Godetias Thrive in Poor Soil
Fine Coloring and Satiny Texture Make Them Excellent Cutting Material. There Are Large and Dwarf Forms.

Two brilliant annuals not so often grown but deserving of wide popularity in the garden are the clarkias and godetias. They are both members of the evening primrose family and have the satiny texture to their bloom that is so characteristic of the many plants of this tribe.

Unlike most other growing plants, they do their best on a poor soil, and if planted in rich loam, or a bed which has been recently fertilized they become lazy and fail to give their best bloom. If you have a patch of ground which other plants find too meager, plant one or both of these brilliant annuals.

The clarkias have been taken up by the greenhouse men and are now popular for winter cut flowers, but they are just as handsome in the garden and very easily grown there. The double varieties are best for cutting. They range in color from white through light and deep pink to orange scarlet.

Other annual flowers which grow well on poor soil are verbas, rudbeckias, portulacas, euphorbias.

Ohio River Flood Takes Heavy Toll of Damage

One of the hardest hit cities in the district flooded by the Ohio river was Bellaire, Ohio, immediately across the river from Wheeling, Va., a section where more than 20,000 were left homeless and at least 20 lost their lives. In the foreground is an enamel factory where workers had to flee for their lives when the flood waters swept the city.
