Fred Astaire is burning over what he thinks may be a new filmland. The R-K-O star went out the other day to see how the construction of his house was coming along and found a cameraman taking pictures of it. Under questioning, the star said he wasn't connected with any publication but recently had seen from Chicago and knew where could sell pictures of stars for $50 apiece. He ducked out information, but the star is watching his clippings and, if the picture the fellow took shows up, he is going to start an investigation.

Pope Pius Attacks Communism Today

Vatican City, May 11—(UP)—Pope Pius today attacked communism as a "common enemy" that "has already damaged family life."

Addressing Hungarian pilgrims escorted to the Vatican by Cardinal Seredi, primate of Hungary, the pontiff said:

"A common enemy threatens everyone and everything today. It has already damaged family life."

Churchmen considered the Pope's remarks as his strongest recent denunciation of communistic propaganda.

"By the common enemy we mean communism which is spreading through deceit and imposture," the pontiff said.

The seeds embedded in the adobe bricks furnish the necessary clue.
