

BORAH CHANCES HINGE ON OHIO

Today's Primary May Settle Chances For Nomination

Washington, May 11.—(U.P.)—Sen. E. Borah is fighting with his back to the wall today for a share of Ohio's delegates to the Republican national convention and the prestige Buckeye backing would give him when the GOP voters in four states are preparing to wind up the pre-convention primary phase of the national political campaign. Three of the states are important in the contest between Borah and the leading Republican contender, Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas.

Primaries will take place tomorrow in Ohio and West Virginia. Oregon, apparently safe for Borah, votes May 15. New Jersey ends the primary period on May 19. A fourth primary remains scheduled for Florida June 2, but it is limited to Democrats and will have no national significance.

Ohio offers another opportunity to measure the Democratic bolt from the new deal. Col. Henry C. Buckeye has entered the Democratic primaries will boost Landon's candidacy. It is Borah against the field in Ohio with the state Republican organization against him.

Robert A. Taft, son of the late president, was put up by Ohio regulars as a favorite son candidate in whose pocket the Buckeye delegation would remain until the leaders decide which presidential parade to join.

Supporters of Landon, Frank Knox of Illinois, former President Hoover, and a scattering of Ohio politicians who favor the candidacy of Sen. L. J. Dickinson of Iowa join in backing the Taft delegate state. Looking at Ohio from the outside, the Borah movement appears to be more an effort of one Republican group to seize control of the state organization from another Republican group than anything else. Borah's anti old guard rebellion gave the Ohio "outs" an opportunity to attack the "ins" and the "outs" are fighting under the Borah banner.

The veteran progressive senator has entered a slate of 35 delegate candidates. The Taft slate is entered for each of the 52 seats to which Ohio will be entitled at the Republican convention. Reports from the battlefield indicate Borah may come out tomorrow night with as many as ten delegates and some veteran observers believe election of as many as 15 would be a real Borah triumph. The Ohio primary is binding upon delegates. The senator must make an Ohio showing if he is to go into the New Jersey primary and the national convention with sufficient prestige to accomplish his avowed purpose—nomination of a liberal Republican candidate, preferably himself. He had a chance in Illinois April 14 but ran almost a dead heat with Frank Knox. Knox polled a majority, rolled up in Chicago, and Borah carried the Illinois farm lands.

In Committee

Washington, May 11.—(U.P.)—The senate finance committee got down to the job of revising the $803,000,000 tax bill today and summoned high new deal officials to confer on persistent demands for modification or abandonment of the proposed levy on undivided corporate earnings.

After a two hour executive session, in which the committee discussed with tax experts the effects of the president's proposal to force corporations to pay out income in taxable dividends, Chairman Pat Harrison, D. Miss., announced that the committee had summoned:

Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to reply to a request of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., regarding the number of large concerns which would escape with little or no taxes under the bill.

Herman Oliphant, general counsel for the treasury, to reply to charges that the bill would foster monopoly and would work hardships on small concerns. Oliphant's appearance was considered of special importance because he will discuss the issue which caused a strong bloc of Democratic members to demand substitution or drastic modification of the bill. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who presumably will tell the committee the reasons behind the president's suggestion that processing taxes be reinserted in the bill to raise some $337,000,000 annually over a two year period. Wallace also would be expected to discuss protests against the proposed "unjust enrichment" or windfall tax.

ment to change the state chairmanship has succeeded with many votes to spare," Gates said.

If Irwin does retain the chairmanship when all the reorganization is completed it will be the second time he and other state committee officers, supported by the general former senator, have withstood vigorous assaults on charges of "bipartisanship."

Likewise, it will show that Watson has retained control of the state organization even after losing his membership in the United States senate and virtually abandoning his home in Rushville.

Watson, beaten for re-election in the Democratic landslide four years ago, has remained in Washington most of the time anyhow and has announced his retirement from politics.

The Italians acted when it was made clear that Miriam would sit at the council table itself if the Italo-Ethiopian case were brought up for discussion.

Unemployed Mother Loses Baby

Mrs. Dorothy Giaruso

Another drama of the depression was recorded in Chicago courts when Mrs. Dorothy Giaruso, 19, unemployed mother, was forced to relinquish custody of her baby son to an orphanage. She told the court that she had been forced to leave the baby in a bureau drawer while she searched vainly for a job. The case came to light when it was reported that the child was being neglected.

panions sat down, Aloisi won recognition and read a short statement in which he said:

"No semblance of the Ethiopian state exists."

Aloisi expressed the Italian position briefly, saying:

"I have the honor to state that the Italian delegation cannot admit the presence at the council table of the so-called Ethiopian delegation. In effect, no semblance of the Ethiopian state exists. The only sovereign Ethiopian government is that of Italy."

"In consequence, all discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian difference is without meaning. I therefore find myself under obligation not to participate."

Suffers Collapse
Jerusalem, May 11.—(U.P.)—Emperor Haile Selassie is suffering a nervous collapse, it was disclosed today while he sought to win world aid to prevent the absorption of his country into an Italian empire.

Nevertheless the emperor continued at work and yesterday telephoned his minister at Paris, Wold Mariam, to attend the league council at Geneva and defend Ethiopia's interests.

In the afternoon he received a group of foreign newspaper correspondents at tea. His secretary read in French, in the emperor's name, a communique which said that Haile Selassie fled his country to save his people from extermination by Italian poison gas.

Everett Colson, American, long in Addis Ababa as the emperor's chief adviser, arrived yesterday from Cairo, Egypt. He told the United Press that the only course for the emperor to take was to retire from his country but to keep his claim to the throne by serving some other country, interested in Ethiopia, as a "nuisance value" and thus preventing recognition of Italy's conquest.

This Is Worth a Trial

Sentence for Jaywalkers— Instruction in a Baby-walker

If grownup jaywalkers could be sentenced to five days' instruction in a baby walker, in plain sight of everybody on the streets, no doubt it would change pedestrian habits ever night. Jaywalking is the lowest form of dangerous practice—one which causes many pedestrians to be killed each year and thousands injured. Last year there were 4,500 pedestrians who were killed while crossing the street in the middle of the block.

When pedestrians in cities cross against signals and in the middle of the block they indulge in practices that are extraordinarily dangerous. Just take the experience at intersections as an example. The rate of death per pedestrian accident involving crossing against signals, according to the Travelers Insurance Company, was 55 per cent worse last year than when crossing with signals. This single fact knocks into a cocked hat the theory that it is foolish for a pedestrian to wait at an intersection for the signal to flash "Go."

Jaywalkers are asked to pay heed to the fact that the chance of injuries proving fatal, when hit while crossing in the middle of the block, is twice as great as crossing against signals, and three times as great as when crossing at the intersection with the "GO" signal.
