Sports Draw Increasing Number of Women Fans

Active participation of women in amateur sports has been accelerated tremendously during the last few years and is expected to reach a new peak this summer. That's the prediction of manufacturers who anticipate a record sales year for wearing apparel and equipment for sports fans. Women from every walk of life will spend hours and days in the open this summer, playing tennis, golf, swimming, hiking, boating, horseback riding, etc. No one can accurately estimate the size of the vast army of feminine sports enthusiasts. You'll find them at play in every city, village and hamlet in the country this summer. You can take the word of any sporting goods manufacturer that they will be dressed properly. Whether she is a mother, an office or factory worker or a debutante, the feminine athlete will go forth attired in the proper costume—the latest bathing suit, shorts for golf and tennis, knickers for riding, and smart sports dresses.

off to the Phillies by winning 3 to 2 when Ripper Collins drove out his seventh home run of the season to break up a pitching duel in the eleventh inning.

Leroy Parmelee, who was knocked out by the Giants on his last trip to the hill, held the upper hand over Bucky Walter. He struck out six Philadelphia batters to Walter's two. Each gave four walks.

The Pirates chalked up their sixth straight victory, nosing out the New York Giants 3 to 2 in the last of the ninth inning.

The loss for the Giants was the fourth straight and snapped Carl Hubbell's winning streak of five. The win kept the Pirates within a few percentage points of the second place Chicago Cubs, who defeated the Boston Bees.

Every man in the lineup except Right Fielder George Stainback collected at least one hit in the slugging spree, as Tex Carleton limited the Bees to eight hits for his seventh victory against two defeats this season.

The league leading Cardinals gained back the game they lopped in their second straight battle of extra base blows, the Yankees clubbed the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 6, to stretch their American league lead to three games over the idle Boston Red Sox.

Charley Ruffing, chalked up his seventh win against five losses for the Yanks, gave out only six hits, but half of them were for extra bases, including homers by Al Simmons and Bill Rogell.

The Yanks, meantime, piled up a total of 16 safe blows off the aging Alvin Crowder and Chad Kimsey. Red Rolfe had a home run.

Buck Newsom gave the Chicago White Sox one five hits and shut them out, 6 to 0, to score his seventh pitching triumph of the season for Washington.

The victory sent the Senators into a virtual three-way tie with Cleveland and Detroit for third place in the American league standings.

Leaders in Building of Memorial

In the hands of these four men has rested the task of directing the building of America's shrine to Colonel George Rogers Clark, whose capture of Fort Sackville in 1779, resulted in England later ceding the Old Northwest Territory to the United States.

Congress in 1928 authorized construction of a National Memorial to Clark and his associates, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt will dedicate the beautiful Memorial on Sunday, June 14, at Vincennes, Ind.

Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, is chairman of the federal commission and chairman of its executive committee. Former Senator D. Frank Culbertson of Vincennes is vice chairman of the federal commission and chairman of its executive committee. Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio is executive secretary and former president of the commission, and Clem J. Richards of Terre Haute is president of the Clark Memorial Commission of Indiana.

Five Governors to Aid President at Clark Dedication

Governors of the five original states in the Old Northwest Territory have been invited as special guests at the dedication of the George Rogers Clark Memorial at Vincennes, Ind., by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, on Sunday, June 14.
